

TILLAMOOK JOTTINGS.

If you want a real fly spray use ours, costs 7 1/2 c. gallon ready to use. Sprayers from 40c up. C. I. Clough. You can buy wall paper at same price as other people. One price to all. We do not give paper hangers a commission on the paper you buy, they ought to be satisfied with the price they get for hanging it. We can give you names of paper hangers and painters who will do you a good job and be satisfied with wages. King & Smith Company.

The Farmer's Meetings commenced this (Thursday) morning at Nehalem and to-morrow (Friday) a meeting will be held in the Court House, and in the evening at the Tillamook Commercial Club. On Saturday meetings will be held at Cloverdale and Beaver. The lecturers are Prof. W. S. Brown, Prof. M. J. E. Dorman, Prof. W. A. Barr, and County Agriculturist R. C. Jones.

Amended complaints have been filed in the suit brought by three of the timber companies against Beall & Co., the Fort Dodge Machinery Co. and county officials. Judge Holmes set the cases for Wednesday morning but continued the same until the evening owing to some of the attorneys not being present.

The local "Loyal Order of Moose" will give a "High Jinks and Eats" at Commercial Club rooms, on Friday evening this week. Quite a number of invitations have been issued and a good time is promised all. Full particulars will be given in our next weeks issue.

Morrison Mills attended the auction sale of Jerseys at Dille, Ore., last week and bought a heifer, 9 months old, paying $165 for the animal. It was shipped in on Tuesday. He said that some of the buyers were a little too sporty for him in bidding for the Jerseys at the Forbe's sale. He attended the Grange meeting at Forest Grove also.

The Tillamook Headlight made its debut on June 8, 1888, and last Monday was its 25th anniversary. Quite a number of our citizens have never missed a copy of the county's pioneer newspaper, who are cognizant of the fact that the newspaper played an important part in the up-building and developing of the county. It enters upon another year with a bright future before the city and county, and it will take an active part, as usual, in the up-building of the whole of the county.

Why, of course, it was the proper thing to make arrangements to allow our visitors a little time on the beach. It seems to us that more you show visitors of different parts of the county, more delighted are they with it. When the Portland business men came to Tillamook a few years ago no one was foolish enough to suggest that they be cooped up in this city all the time.

Dundee Reid is dead, the man who several times caused considerable excitement in Tillamook because it was his ambition to build the first railroad into the county. We well remember the last time that his project had considerable newspaper boosting, but it was all "hot air". It was the snapshot man who punctured the boom that was being engineered on false railroad news.

For sale—1 Kenwood stump puller, 300 ft. 3/4-in. cable, 2 blocks, stump hook and swamp hook. Nearly new. Also 1 horse, sound and true, 7 years old, weight 1500 pounds, 1 light wagon and harness in good condition. Will sell cheap. Address P. J. Henige, Beaver, Ore.

Are you going to do any painting this spring or summer? This is ideal weather just now. Sherwin-Williams prepared paint costs a trifle more per gallon than other paint (because it's better), but a painter will not charge you any more for putting it on, nor will you have to paint so often. King & Smith Company.

A quiet wedding took place Monday evening at the Catholic parish house, Frank L. Nitsch of Portland and Miss Veronica Melchior were united in marriage in the presence of their nearest relatives, Rev. Francis Van Clarenbeck performing the ceremony. Mr. and Mrs. Nitsch have the best wishes of a large circle of friends. Ad multos annos.

The Moose Lodge of this city lately secured from Ontario, Canada, a fine large Moose head that cost them $85. One will seldom see a finer specimen of its kind. The lodge will have a banquet and general good time at the Commercial Club rooms on Friday evening.

SURPRISES MANY IN TILLAMOOK.

The QUICK action of simple buckthorn bark, glycerine, etc., as mixed in Adler-Ka, the remedy which became famous by curing appendicitis, is surprising Tillamook people. Many have found that this simple remedy drains so much foul matter from the system that a SINGLE DOSE relieves constipation, sour stomach and gas on the stomach almost IMMEDIATELY. Adler-Ka is the most effective bowel cleanser ever sold. Druggist.

G. A. R. Parade Tuesday.

Follow will be the route for the G. A. R. parade on Wednesday morning at 10:15: Form head of procession facing north on Stillwell Ave. and 3rd St.; going east on 3rd St. to 2nd Ave. east; turn south on 2nd Ave. to 4th St.; turn east on 4th St. to 4th Ave. east; north to 3rd St.; turn west to 3rd Ave. east; north to 2nd St.; west to 2nd Ave. east; north to 1st St.; west to 1st St. and Stillwell Ave.; turn south to 4th St.; east to school house. Di band.

G. A. R. PROGRAM.

Thirty-third Annual Encampment, Department of Oregon, Grand Army of the Republic.

The Encampment will hold all meetings in the skating rink. First session Tuesday 10 A. M. June 16, 1914.

Tuesday

The Department Convention of Woman's Relief Corps will meet in the I. O. O. F. Hall.

9 A. M. Committee on Credentials. 10 A. M. First Business Session. MEMORIAL SERVICE

1:30 P. M. Business Session. EVENING PROGRAM AT CHRISTIAN CHURCH

7:30 P. M. Opening—Band Concert 8 P. M. Soldiers' Chorus (Gounod) Mixed Chorus.

Address of Welcome, Mayor F. R. Beals.

Response, Department Commander, S. W. Taylor

Vocal, Veteran Quartette Address, Corinth Commander, C. E. Reynolds

Address, Corinth President, Berenice Lucas

Response, Dept. President, Rosina Fouts Evans.

Solo, Welcome to Tillamook (Marie Wade) Mrs. Page

Address of Welcome in behalf of Commercial Club, D. L. Shrode.

Address, Department Commander of Spanish-American War Veterans, Mr. Upton.

America, Audience

Wednesday

10 A. M. Parade consisting of G. A. R. and allied organizations, etc.

Presentation of Flag to School by Dept. Patriot Instructor, Lamonie Clark.

1:30 P. M. Business Session 7:30 P. M. Opening, Band Concert 8 P. M. The Distant Chimes (Glover)

Ladies Trio

Reading, Benedict Arnold, Florence Chapman

Song, Male Quartette

Recitation, Our Flag, Billie Stillwell

Whistling Solo, Lamonie Clark of Salam

Flower Drill, Resurrection of the Flowers, Little Flowers

Reading, Parody, "Betty and I Are Out", J. H. Johnson

Solo, Vocal, Mrs. Trombley

Reading, Reverie In Church, Rhea Anthis

Instrumental Solo, Leland Erwin

Recitation, Red, White, and Blue, Harry Young

Solo, Good Bye (Toast) Mrs. Mckenzie

Thursday

9:45 A. M. Installation of Officers Closing of Convention

2:30 P. M. Ball game, Stillwell Park 2:00 P. M. Trip to Barview Beach by special train for G. A. R. and Allied Organizations

3:00 P. M. Drill, Life Savers

Clam Bake, Bar View People

Lunch for G. A. R. organizations Tillamook

Campfire, Barview

9:15 P. M. Return Train

Fireworks at Tillamook City.

We ask you to perform this service for us as taxpayers, not as prosecutors. Our only purpose is to have you demand that the laws of the state made for our protection are properly enforced.

Respectfully, The Whitney Company Ltd., by Russell Hawkins, Attorney in fact. Hammond Lumber Company, by George B. McLeod, Vice-President.

Court Items.

In the application of minority stock holders vs P. J. Worrall for a receiver for Hotel Tillamook, the evidence is all in and Judge Holmes has the case under advisement, his decision had not been made as we go to press.

The cases of Hammond Lumber Co.; The Whitney Co. Limited and The Wilson River Lumber Co., as plaintiffs against Tillamook County, The Howard Cooper Co.; The Fort Dodge Culvert Co., and the Good Roads Machinery Co., for an injunction to stop the payments of some $6,000 county warrants for a rock crusher, a road grader, are on trial before Judge Holmes, with Hon. C. Fulton, of Portland, and S. S. Johnson as attorneys for Peffis, and Hon. J. N. Hart, of Portland, and local attorneys Botts and Gersoni for defendants. Russell Hawkins and Geo. B. McLeod, of Portland, are representing the lumber companies, with Hon. John T. Douglall, President of the Portland Press Club, and representing fifteen lumber companies acting as expert accountant; Messrs. D. J. Cooper and J. W. Howard of Howard, Cooper Co., defendants are here.

The cases against the Culvert and Flume Co., and M. J. Gersoni, as County attorney were dismissed by Peffis; and the case against Beal & Co., was continued because of absence of their attorney.

Judge Mason, of the County Court, was on the witness stand and stated that the contract with the Howard, Cooper Co., was signed up in the bar room of the hotel on the evening of Nov. 6th, 1913, etc.

The contention of the plaintiffs are that, the County's contracts with defendants were illegal as the County was then in debt more than the legal limit, and said contracts were not made during the open sessions of the County Board.

Another Costly Lesson. A grief-stricken world is demanding an investigation to fix the responsibility for the fatal disaster of the 'Empress of Ireland, with a vague hope that something may be learned which will avert such catastrophes in the future. But there has been little in the world's experience since the Titanic horror cast a pall on the civilized world to justify high hopes.

It is true that there has been precautions taken to avoid collisions with icebergs. An ice patrol is maintained and warnings are issued. The danger from this particular source has been reduced to the minimum. Steamship companies straightway provided their vessels with additional lifeboats, the lack of boats having added to the loss of drowned in the Titanic accident.

But the next accidents were of a different character, growing out of storms of collisions. Then came the burning of the Volturino in midocean in a sea so angry that lifeboats were useless. Now comes a wreck due to a collier ramming a passenger steamer during a fog. The steamer sank within a few minutes, hundreds of the sleeping passengers drowned in their berths.

The danger from fogs is omnipresent and has existed since the first seafarer pushed his dugout from shore. It seems that an unreasonable speed was being maintained during a fog in the St. Lawrence, and it seems strange that a collision of such character could have caused such damage to a well-built ship. Individuals who participated in the international conference to promote a safety at sea are quoted as declaring that the vessel did not measure up to the requirements fixed in the agreement reached at that conference. But it was a well-known vessel, belonging to one of the best known lines. Passengers had a right to suppose that it was in every way seafaring. It is too much to expect passengers to privately inspect steamships for their own safety. They have a right to demand that governments exercise this function and that steamship companies take every precaution essential or conducive to safety. There is little satisfaction in post-mortem inspections and investigations. But discouraging as the recurrence of such calamities is, the world will still hope that some lesson may be learned from their costly schooling.

One salient feature stands out in the St. Lawrence disaster, and that is the evil of the speed mania. Primarily the people are at fault as to this, though proper regulations by law might prevent steamship companies engaging in such dangerous rivalry to capture the patronage of passengers who have so little time that they can not bear the thought of spending a few extra hours crossing the Atlantic. It is this speed mania which causes a man to rush in front of a train, though he may then turn a corner and watch the train go by. It causes him to risk life and limb to catch a car instead of waiting two minutes for another. It lines an automobile speedway with 100,000 spectators of a race in which many may be killed or maimed for life. This human trait can not be immediately eradicated, but stringent laws may prevent railway and steamship companies from catering to it. It is one feature of the "safety first" movement to which legislators may well devote their attention.

Now a battle ship has saved the lives of ninety-eight passengers on a steamer. The army and navy are often conspicuous in the victories of peace.

The thief who returned a microscope he had stolen from the Washington University felt conscience-smitten after he got a larger view of his crime.

The New York commissioner of correction might give her theory as to the kind of mental disease poor Becker had when he directed Rosenthal's murder.

The colonel should hasten to Oregon, where the registration of Republicans is sixteen times that of the Progressives and more than double that of Democrats and Progressives combined.

William Rockefeller's present illness, at a time when his presence as a witness is wanted by the Interstate Commerce Commission, is naturally reviving recollection of a celebrated attack of aphonia. When Mr. Rockefeller was needed as a witness at the time the money trust was being investigated by a Democratic House, it

Weddings.

Married on June 9th, at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Noyes at Fairview. Bert Folks and Miss Mabel Noyes. Rev. W. J. Weber, of the M. E. Church performed the ceremony.

Married at the M. E. parsonage, by the Rev. W. J. Weber, the pastor, in this city on June 9, Gilbert Strachan and Miss Rose Cramer. The groom is a son of Mrs. Jack Oliver, of Bar View.

Married on June 4th, at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Lantz, of Bay City, H. E. Hoss and Miss Myrtle Lantz.

A quiet wedding took place Monday evening at the parish house, Frank L. Nitsch and Miss Veronica Melchior were made man and wife in the presence of their nearest relatives. The Rev. Francis Van Clarenbeck performing the ceremony. Mr and Mrs. Nitsch have the best wishes of a large circle of friends. Ad multos annos.

Another Costly Lesson.

A grief-stricken world is demanding an investigation to fix the responsibility for the fatal disaster of the 'Empress of Ireland, with a vague hope that something may be learned which will avert such catastrophes in the future. But there has been little in the world's experience since the Titanic horror cast a pall on the civilized world to justify high hopes.

It is true that there has been precautions taken to avoid collisions with icebergs. An ice patrol is maintained and warnings are issued. The danger from this particular source has been reduced to the minimum. Steamship companies straightway provided their vessels with additional lifeboats, the lack of boats having added to the loss of drowned in the Titanic accident.

But the next accidents were of a different character, growing out of storms of collisions. Then came the burning of the Volturino in midocean in a sea so angry that lifeboats were useless. Now comes a wreck due to a collier ramming a passenger steamer during a fog. The steamer sank within a few minutes, hundreds of the sleeping passengers drowned in their berths.

The danger from fogs is omnipresent and has existed since the first seafarer pushed his dugout from shore. It seems that an unreasonable speed was being maintained during a fog in the St. Lawrence, and it seems strange that a collision of such character could have caused such damage to a well-built ship. Individuals who participated in the international conference to promote a safety at sea are quoted as declaring that the vessel did not measure up to the requirements fixed in the agreement reached at that conference. But it was a well-known vessel, belonging to one of the best known lines. Passengers had a right to suppose that it was in every way seafaring. It is too much to expect passengers to privately inspect steamships for their own safety. They have a right to demand that governments exercise this function and that steamship companies take every precaution essential or conducive to safety. There is little satisfaction in post-mortem inspections and investigations. But discouraging as the recurrence of such calamities is, the world will still hope that some lesson may be learned from their costly schooling.

One salient feature stands out in the St. Lawrence disaster, and that is the evil of the speed mania. Primarily the people are at fault as to this, though proper regulations by law might prevent steamship companies engaging in such dangerous rivalry to capture the patronage of passengers who have so little time that they can not bear the thought of spending a few extra hours crossing the Atlantic. It is this speed mania which causes a man to rush in front of a train, though he may then turn a corner and watch the train go by. It causes him to risk life and limb to catch a car instead of waiting two minutes for another. It lines an automobile speedway with 100,000 spectators of a race in which many may be killed or maimed for life. This human trait can not be immediately eradicated, but stringent laws may prevent railway and steamship companies from catering to it. It is one feature of the "safety first" movement to which legislators may well devote their attention.

Now a battle ship has saved the lives of ninety-eight passengers on a steamer. The army and navy are often conspicuous in the victories of peace.

The thief who returned a microscope he had stolen from the Washington University felt conscience-smitten after he got a larger view of his crime.

The New York commissioner of correction might give her theory as to the kind of mental disease poor Becker had when he directed Rosenthal's murder.

The colonel should hasten to Oregon, where the registration of Republicans is sixteen times that of the Progressives and more than double that of Democrats and Progressives combined.

William Rockefeller's present illness, at a time when his presence as a witness is wanted by the Interstate Commerce Commission, is naturally reviving recollection of a celebrated attack of aphonia. When Mr. Rockefeller was needed as a witness at the time the money trust was being investigated by a Democratic House, it was impossible for a time to locate him. The deputy sergeants-at-arms reported him always absent from the place where his presence was last reported. The newspapers were filled with accounts of the manner in which he was alleged to be eluding service. Finally, it being told that Mr. Rockefeller was at his winter home on Jekyll Island, and incapable of speech without great danger to his life members of the House committee were appointed to visit him and take his testimony if it should be found possible to do so without endangering him.

ROYAL
Absolutely Pure BAKING POWDER
Makes Home-Baking Successful and Easy

Investigation shows that the Christian forces engaged in the several Balkan wars were just as ferocious and merciless as those commanded by pagan officers. From every standpoint war is a sinful occupation.

The mediators are astonished at the perseverance of the reporters, which they ascribe to impatience. But it is a way reporters have.

A confessed pyromaniac has been sentenced to the Penitentiary for three years. But was not the asylum the proper place for him?

Mayor Returns Franchise Ordinance Unsigned.

Tillamook Oregon, June 5, 1914. To the Common Council of Tillamook City, Oregon.

Gentlemen:— I return herewith, without approval, Ordinance No. 276 entitled "An ordinance giving and granting to F. D. Small and D. C. Urie, their successors and assigns, a franchise and rights to erect, maintain, use and remove poles, wires, cables, ducts, appliances and apparatus for conducting and using electricity in, under and upon all streets, alleys, roads and ways in Tillamook City, Tillamook County, Oregon, within the boundaries of said city now is or may hereafter be bounded and constituted and have its limits, and to supply electric energy to the people and inhabitants of Tillamook City, and to the public, and to charge and collect tolls therefor.

My reason for not approving said Ordinance are as follows:

First:—I deem it important that the city's interests be safeguarded by having incorporated in said franchise Section XIII of the franchise drafted by the State Railway Commission, and adopted by the city of Mt. Angel in its franchise granted the Portland Railway Light and Power Company. The Section referred to, to read as follows:

SECTION XIII.—Said F. D. Small and D. C. Urie, their successors or assigns, shall render the service as hereby authorized, to be supplied by the best apparatus known to the science of electricity, to secure the least danger of life or property compatible with the best obtainable service, and such service shall be supplied on equal terms under like conditions, and without unjust discrimination, or without undue preference to any commercial user within the City of Tillamook; and at all times the power and right to reasonably regulate and exercise the rights and privileges of the franchise hereby granted and determined, shall be vested in the Common Council of said city, subject to the general laws of the State of Oregon.

Second, Numerous erasures and interlineations appear, in this Ordinance, of no importance perhaps as affecting its validity, but an ordinance of this importance should be free from such defects.

Respectfully submitted, F. R. BEALS, Mayor.

The law of 1917 setting aside 5 per cent of the earnings of the convicts for their benefit should be enforced. The authorities should set a good example to the convicts in law observance.

EAT VIERECK'S BREAD,
TILLAMOOK BAKERY,
At All Grocers.

Bids Wanted for Hauling Gravel.

The Tillamook Creamery wishes to receive bids for hauling one hundred loads of gravel, more or less, from T. W. Lester's place to its factory, company to pay for gravel. Haulers to spread gravel. Company reserves the right to reject any and all bids. Leave bids at Carl Haberlach's office, Tillamook, Oregon, on or before June 15th, 1914.

40 acres for sale. 11 miles from Tillamook, on Wilson river. G. T. Kiehm.

Old Master
COFFEE

We invite you to call on our "booth" and get a cup of this famous Coffee Free during the G. A. R. Encampment. Tillamook Feed Co

Made My Life Worth Living

"I feel it my duty to tell others what Chamberlain's Tablets have done for me," writes Mrs. L. Dunlap, of Oak Grove, Mich. "I have suffered with pains in my back and under my shoulder blade for a number of years, also with a poor appetite and constipation. I tried all of the remedies that I heard of, and a number of doctors, but got no relief. Finally a friend told me to try Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets. I got a bottle of them and they soon helped my stomach; by their gentle action my bowels became more regular. Today I feel like praising them to all who suffer as I did, for they have cured me and made my life worth living."

Black and White Cigars
Once smoked will convince all. The only long filler PURE TOBACCO CIGAR to-day for 5c., 50 Box $2.00. At C. I. Clough Co. THE RELIABLE DRUGGIST.

Dr. Henry E. Morris, Eye Specialist of McMinnville, formerly in practice in Tillamook for over six years will be at the parlor of the Todd Hotel, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, June 16, 17 and 18. During the G. A. R. Reunion. He will appreciate meeting all former patients and friends during his three days stay in Tillamook.

To those not acquainted with Dr. Morris, he is pleased to refer you to over (3000) three thousand grateful patients in Tillamook County. He stands high in his profession and is indorsed and recommended by the medical profession. If you have periodical or continued headaches it is safe to assume that they are caused by eye strain which entails many serious and distressing symptoms which may be relieved by the wearing of his scientific ground glasses. The Doctor has one of the best equipped offices in the state, including an up-to-date grinding plant supervised by himself, so you may be sure of receiving not only superior examinations but properly ground lenses. So sure is he of his skill in both, that he (only) gives you a written guarantee of perfect satisfaction or your money will be refunded. You are invited to come early and bring your present glasses with you. To show his loyalty and his appreciation, the Doctor will upon this occasion make all consultations and examinations absolutely Free of Charge—Remember the Dates.

Notice to the Public:—
I am now located in the Mrs. Mills property between Stillwell Ave. and Second Ave. East, three blocks West of my old location, where I am better prepared to serve you than ever before. Thanking you for your liberal patronage in the past and soliciting a continuation of your valued orders, I am,
Yours for business,
Kasper Zweifel,
THE WATKINS MAN.