GRANGE PICNIC.

Large Crowd Had Delightful Time Near Beaver.

The members of the Nestucca Grange, No. 503, with their families and friends, held a social and picnic dinner in a beautiful grove adjacent to their hall on the ranch of R. C. Magarell, between Beaver and Blaine on last Saturday. A happy party of some 500 people with baskets well filled, enjoyed one of Oregon's most beautiful days. Mrs. C. Magarell, the Master, and Miss Fannie Smith, Secretary of the Grange, made all feel at home, ably assisted by a committee of Rev. R. V. Blaylock, Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Wood and Mrs. Jacob Nichols.

The grange was organized last February and has an actual membership of over 65 of the best citizens of that part of Tillamook County, and is growing rapidly.

Early in the morning the people, old and young, married couples with children, young men with sweethearts and future wives, began arriving in autos, buggies and wagons. The forenoon exercises were held in the grove. Rev. Blaylock was master of ceremonies, a large choir of ladies and men sang beautifully some of the old songs that touch the heart, and to us older ones, who have wandered far from the old home farm, brought back fond memories of the old home, old parents, old loves, old times:

And back to me comes the husking bee,
When I found the red ear,
And took my choice of the maids.
And the old brown fiddle,
Sang, "Down the middle,"
When I led Sally to dance,
But that time of hope and bliss,
That gave me Sally to kiss,
Alas, can never come back,
For Sally now sleeps,
Where the willow tree weeps,
And I husk the corn alone.

The words and melody of "I love the Farm" rang down through memories halls and lulled us to slumber that night, long after the stars shown forth and the birds had slept with heads beneath their wings.

The speakers were J. H. Dunstan and Mr. W. Maxwell, of Fairview Garage, and Mrs. Hattie Vail, deputy State Lecturer of the Grange, and others, all full of pure home thoughts and advice and counsel for the betterment of all.

Your scribe drove out from Tillamook with Mr. Roy Jones, county agriculturist, and his intelligent little daughter in his new Ford, Judge Cal Worrall, on arrival bought ice cream cones for several little girls and told them to bring all the pretty little girls up for him to treat and was soon surrounded by more than 50 of these beautiful flowers of earth. One sweet little girl whispered to her sister, "Harry up, or the man will be out of money," but he stood pat and all were happy, including some big girls and aged mothers, and the judge was soon a prime favorite with all the ladies.

At noon a long table was spread with those "good things," from chicken to cake, that only the country people know how to prepare, including watermelons presented by Roy Jones. Two halcyon matrons, living near Cloverdale were seen eating with a pickle and cake together, on the correct theory that each made the other taste better.

After dinner came the sports and races in charge of Mr. Wood; the horse race was won by Henry Farmer's black mare, with Virgil Kellow's bay, second; the free for all foot race was closely contested with Webb McGinnis, first, Roy Salling, second; one boys race was won by Bob Coulson, with Joe Huston second; another boy's race, the first and second prizes were won by twins so much alike they couldn't be told apart. The little girls race had to be run twice it was so close, Artice Collier won, with Emma Huston and Ruth Allison 2nd and 3rd, another little girls race was won by Jessie Jensen, with Charlotte Miser second. The race that caused the most excitement was between the handsome young ladies living near Beaver, Rubie Johnson and Carry Redaway, both as pretty and swift as young Gazelles, the first race was a tie, and but a few inches between them in the second. The fat man and ladies' race was postponed because they all said they had eaten too much dinner to run.

All in all the day was one long to be remembered, and, as the sun went low, all went homeward glad that they lived amid nature's beauties with pure air and water, and happy, pure, christian home lives.

Cates, of the Polk County Observer is probably both a good judge of butter and a judge of good butter. He is eminently right in the following observation: "The Standard Oil Company, it is announced, will manufacture butter as a by-product. The Standard a long time ago manufactured axel grease, and from axel grease to some kinds of butter is only a step."—Telephone Register.

There is a good deal of hard everyday common sense in the following few lines: Someone who has been figuring on the hard times has come to the conclusion that they are caused by the fact that most people buy more than they produce. It says: "We let our lumber rot and buy fence; we throw away our ashes and buy rope; we raise dogs and buy hogs; we let our manure go to waste and buy fertilizer; we grow weeds and buy vegetables and brooms; we catch 5-cent fish with a $4 rod; we build school houses and send our children away to be educated; and lastly we send our boys to hunt to-cent $40 gun and a $20 dog to hunt to-cent birds."—News-Reporter.

The authorities of Jackson county have decided to prosecute with vigor all cases of accident resulting from carelessness during the hunting season, and have already taken the necessary steps by arresting the principal actor in the recent fatal accident in the woods near Medford. If it is born in mind by those who go into the mountains for sport, that any undue excitement and haste of lack of precaution resulting in the wounding or death of another will not be passed by as unavoidable accident, but that the party responsible will be subject to a heavy fine or imprisonment, it cannot help but have a beneficial effect. While sympathy is always given to those who are unwittingly the authors of these deplorable affairs, sympathy does not heal the wound or bring back to life the victims, nor does it assuage the grief of those left to mourn.—Umpqua Valley News.

The jobbers and manufacturers of Oregon must be playing the newspapers of the state for a bunch of suckers. Every time while this office and we presume, most every other office in the state, gets a request to do some favor or other for them in the way of giving free space boosting "Oregon made" (their) products, etc. All the while they have persistently and consistently failed to make good their promises of "greatly appreciating" any of the favors extended them, in the only way that they could show their appreciation, namely, by patronizing the advertising space of the state papers. If the Oregon papers have reason to boast any one's product, it is the product of the Eastern manufacturers, for the Eastern concerns are liberal patronizers of their space. If the Oregon manufacturers do not find the Oregon papers of value as advertising media, how can they find them of value when the space is given free?—Banks Herald.

The Appearance of Things.

Whatever the merits or demerits of Mr. Jones may be, there is a question of taste in his appointment on the Federal Reserve Board while a government suit is pending against him. It is true that he has not been indicted, but if the civil suit under the Sherman act should be successful the criminal clause of that law could be enforced. The chief delinquency of the Baltimore platform on the subject of trusts was a demand for more rigorous enforcement of the criminal clause of the Sherman act. The Springfield (Mass.) Republican which might be classed as a thick-and-thin friend of the administration in its general policies, feels that some other suitable person should have been found for this high position in the new financial system. In order to set out the nature of the government's objections to the practices of the International Harvester Company, the Republican reproduces from the news columns of April 30 and May 1, 1912 the following abstract of the attorney general's complaint:

The government charges that the defendants have absorbed competing companies, but concealed their ownership, permitting them to be advertised "as wholly independent and without connection with them, the 'trust' or any 'combination,' intending thereby to mislead, deceive and defraud the public and more effectually cripple existing competitors and keep out of business." The bill contains these charges: "Defendants have resorted to unfair trade methods; have made inaccurate and misleading statements concerning rival machines or concerning the credit of competitors; have by misrepresentations sought to induce competitors' agents and dealers to abandon them and in divers unfair ways have endeavored to destructive competition have reduced prices of their machines in some localities below cost of production and distribution while keeping prices up in other localities.

"Defendants have systematically bought up patents upon harvesting machinery, tools and implements and acquired all new inventions therein, in order thereby more effectually to perpetuate the combination and monopoly."
The Republican suggests that the president should either direct the attorney general to dismiss the suit or he should withdraw the appointment of one of the defendants, Mr. Jones, to the Federal Reserve Board. The synopsis of the testimony of Mr. Jones before the senate Committee on Banking and Currency shows that he was in accord with his associates on the board of the Harvester Company and that he defended the practices of the corporation. His testimony was frank and manly and that he did not try to occupy the pose of reformer the president was led, through some mysterious information, to assign him. But a decent regard for the appearance of things seems to urge the appointment of some person against whom the government is pressing no suit. While the currency measure was being fashioned its authors declared that the Federal Reserve Board should be as dignified a body as the Supreme Court of the United States. It was even intimated that party lines should be ignored in the selection of its personnel. They may have been, although it is worthy of note that all the appointees are Democrats. It is singularly unfortunate that one of the proposed members should have such embarrassing relations with the Department of Justice. We are admonished by the Apostle Paul to abstain from all appearance of evil. Even a president should have some regard for the looks of things.
