School Board Calls Meeting.

A special meeting of the school district has been called for Friday, Aug. 28th, at 1 o'clock p.m. at the high school building. At this meeting, the school board will seek authority to construct a gymnasium and will ask for an appropriation from the voters relative to the establishment of kindergartens to be run on the Montessori plan.

Both these matters were brought up at the annual meeting of the district in June and committees were appointed at that time to investigate and report upon them. Although the gymnasium committee has advised an expenditure of not to exceed $2,000 for that purpose, the board will endeavor to secure an appropriation of double that sum.

Sketches prepared for the board will be submitted to the voters showing what can be accomplished for the amount requested. It is the desire of the board to erect a substantial building which will be a permanent addition to the property of the district. A temporary structure, or one that cannot be converted at some later date into a substantial building, would be an unprofitable investment, it is said.

No objections to the establishment of the proposed kindergartens has been received and it is probable that this suggestion will carry.

Now how are you going to account for this? The war spirit seems to be pervading the temperance people, also. A bulletin comes to our office saying: "The Anti-Saloon league emissaries are busy organizing 'Oregon Dry clubs' and '32-X-yes' clubs which are purely campaign organizations for the purpose of carrying Oregon dry on November 3rd. These local organizations are all under the direction, more or less, of the Committee of One Hundred, the committee of Oregon business men formed to help carry the state dry. The so-called 'Out to Win' movement is the slogan of the Prohibition party and has no connection with the non-partisan project to put Oregon in the dry column." Is this not accusing the profits of being after the offices? Who said the various dry elements had been merged into non-partisanism?—Telephone Register.

ANOTHER CRAZY NEWSPAPER

The Editor a Fit Subject for the Lunatic Asylum.

From regon City paper.

News dispatches announce that one man controls the entire output of Tillamook butter, cheese and other cow-liverous products; it amounts to an outrage. Like 'twas once said years ago to the mighty sea, "Thus far and no farther, shalt thou go," so likewise doth this man of Tillamook say to the butter, cream and cheese, "Thus shalt thou go and thus shalt thou not go." We do not find a satisfying comparison in this age of dollars and cents between ocean waves and Tillamook butter-fat. If the ocean stops, it does not make so very much difference to those living inland, but when some one says "stop" to the butter and cheese, then we are sorely crippled gustatorially.

That this unonly condition has existed for several years is well known to travellers in that rich county. Just why residents have permitted the market to rest in the hands of one man is mysterious when there are so many hands in which it should rest. Eating at the principal hotel in Tillamook City a hungry traveller naturally asked for some famous Tillamook cheese. Being from New York he was ready to bite into that cheese like 'twas never bit into before or since. To his surprise the waitress said they didn't have any Tillamook cheese. No, she couldn't go out and buy any, since there was no Tillamook cheese for sale in the stores. Well, well, in Tillamook and not a bite of cheese to eat! Like the ocean again, "Water, water everywhere, and not a drop to drink." All right, if we can't have any cheese, we will have a little Tillamook cream for the strawberries.

Nothing doing in the cream line! No cream in the market for hotel use? All right, how about your Tillamook butter, also famous the world over? No Tillamook butter. To shorten the tale, he didn't even have cream for his coffee! In the big hotel in Tillamook City and couldn't be served with Tillamook cheese, cream or butter! It was learned afterwards that the butter he ate was shipped into Tillamook City from Portland where it was bought from front street commission houses. Oh! ye gods! And still we wonder at the increase of crime! Now isn't it about time for this one-man band to cut loose and let a little cream, cheese and butter charity begin at home?

Later news dispatches state that Tillamook is preparing to make an exhibit at the Panama fair in San Francisco. One wonders what for. The only way to enjoy their wonderful products is to stay away from there. It is no inducement to come and live in that country when you can't even get cream for your coffee. It seems no particular use to advertise their famous cheese when we know vastly more about it than the people who make it do themselves. This exhibition is to be in a form of a great big band. From a one-man band who has cornered the butter market they propose to contract the evil influence by parading around San Francisco with a band of 150 men. There is one good thing in store for the band boys of Tillamook. They will have an opportunity probably for the first time in many of their lives, to taste their own famous products. The finer the taste to these patriots the less liability of their ever returning home. To live where they can eat this cheese may cut home ties forever. It is a good way of losing 150 citizens.
