The continued story, "Trey O'Hearts" which has been running in the Telephone Register for several months, will be completed with this issue. The films which have been shown at the Rainbow have never failed to arouse increased interest on the part of all who were regular attendants on the evenings they were displayed, and in fact, the story has grown in interest from start to finish. Much money must have been expended to produce this story, and certainly the actors have well earned their money in preparing the many thrills with which the story abounds.—Telephone Register. This story makes its first appearance today in the Headlight, and next Monday and Tuesday the films will be shown at the Gem Theatre, which will continue for 15 weeks.
