To the Honorable City Council of Tillamook City:—

In accordance with the provisions of the Charter, I herewith communicate to you a general statement of the conditions and affairs of the City, with recommendations of measures which I feel are expedient and proper to be taken by the city during the year 1915.

There is not a great number of matters of City improvements which seem to require attention at your hands for the coming year. The matters recommended by my predecessor in his message at the beginning of the year 1914 has been largely carried out, and it does not seem for the present year that there will be a great deal to do outside of the general routine matters of the city government.

However, I would call attention to the following matters;

First, as to the financial condition of the City, according to the report of the City Recorder showing the financial condition of the City on December 31st, 1913, there were outstanding warrants to the amount of approximately

- - - - - - -	$33,000.00
There was on hand cash for their payment - -	1,945.93
Leaving a net indebtedness of	3,874.93
In the road fund the there were warrants outstanding of - - - - - -	3,874.93
Cash available - - -	90,92
Net balance - - -	3,784.01
Total Generel Fund indebtedness net - - - -	$31,054.07
Road Fund, net - - -	3,784.00
Total	34,838.08

According to the recorder's report showing the condition at the end of 1914, the total receipts for the general fund were - - -	$8,353.60

Expenditures - - -	6,434 26
Showing a net gain in general fund of - - -	1,919-34
Receipts for the road fund	4,915.91
Expenditures - - -	2,808.11
Net gain - - - -	2,047.80
Or a total net gain of -	$3967.14

As appears from the recorder's report there is a net general debt in excess of available cash of $28,811.11

And the net road fund of... 1,924.35

Or a total of............$30,735.46

Which deducted from the indebtedness at the beginning of the year. 34,838.08

Shows a net gain of $4,102.62

The net gain shown by the recorder's report is, however, only $3,967.14, the difference arising undoubtedly from the interest paid upon cancelled warrants which is not taken account of otherwise.

The revenues of the city for the year will amount to, for general fund purposes, approximately,

From Taxes. $3,952.86

From other sources, if the same outside of saloon licenses. 1,065.67

Or a total of, ... $5,018.53

The roadfund will receive from taxes from levy made to $2,823.47.

This does not take account of tax levy for water fund or for library purposes which are turned over to the parties handling those funds. It appears however, from the report of the water commission that the sinking fund for water bonds as increased from $17,805.32 to $26,014.45, and the cashon hand has increased from $672-21, to $1,931.37.

The adoption of an amendment to the charter authorizing a bond issue to take up the outstanding warrants and provide for the current expenses of the year 1914, permits the floating indebtedness to be taken care of in this way. We are assured that the bonds can be placed at par, and probably at a better figure, and I recomend that bids be advertised for without delay for this purpose. The city has been subject to some litigation on account of warrant issued to the Warren Construction Co., in payment for the storm sewer, but with placing of the bond issue as indicated, this matter can be settled without any further expense to the city.

Among other matters whichdemand attention during the present year, there will be the opening of streets between Thayer's and Miller's Addition, the property owners affected being desirous of having this done, and the amendments to the charter permitting the benefits ofsuchmatters to be charged to the adjoining property owners, this matter can now be attended to without cost to the city as a whole, and action along that line should be taken during the year.

A number of the property owners on fifth street desire to have that street paved from Stillwell Avenue to the city limits on the east, and it will beproper for this to be taken up for consideration as soon as the property owners affected desire to have it under taken.

The bridge over the slough on the north side of the city will have to be replaced during the present year, as it will not be safe to trust the old bridge for any length of time. It is estimated that a satisfactory draw bridge can be put in for an expense of $6,000,00 to $7,000.00. It will probably be necessary to submit to the voters the proposition to issue bonds to cover the cost of this improvement, as the current revenues will not be sufficient to meet this expense and the running expenses.

In the matter of a city hall the present city hall is very unsatisfactory and insufficient for the needs of the city. If a new hall be built it will require the incurring of an expense which cannot be met from the ordinary revenues, and this will also probably have to be taken care of by a bond issue. If the people of the city wish to incur this obligation, I would advise that itbe taken up during the year.

The paving suit to which the City is a party defendant, is still pending in the Supreme Court of the state. The city as a whole is not directly involved in this, the expense of the paving being charged against the property improved, unless the city by failure to observe the law makes itself liable as a whole for the improvement.

As to the sanitary sewer, it seems to be unquestioned that this was not properly constructed but the time has not arrived for paying for it or charging the cost of it to the property owners, as that matter is also being allowed to wait pending the decision of the suit involving the paving.

Dated this 4th day of January, 1915.

S. A. Brodhead, Mayor.

PERSIAN GULF PEARLS.

The Divers Are Practically Slaves of the Boat Masters.

Bombay, noted for its pearl markets, is not a pearl producer, though the gems are bought there for shipment to all parts of the world. The pearls sold in Bombay come from the Bahrein islands, a small archipelago on the western side of the Persian gulf, which, although adjacent to territory under the control of Turkey, is governed by an independent sheik under special British protection, the British government maintaining a political agent there.

Of this group of islands only those of Bahrein and Maharak are of any size. Their importance, however, is out of all proportion to their extent, for they are the great center of the Persian gulf pearl fisheries, which are the world's chief source of supply for pearls. The sheik of Bahrein is said to have a customs revenue amounting to about $400,000 per year, which makes him the richest ruler in the Persian gulf. The pearl fisheries under his control may in a good year bring to his islands as much as $2,500,000.

It is difficult for newcomers to obtain the services of good divers owing to the system in vogue, which practically makes this class of men slaves to the masters of the pearling boats. The men's earnings in the majority of cases are insufficient to keep them all the year round, and consequently they take advances from their masters year after year to such an extent that they can never repay their debt. When a diver elects to engage himself to another boat the owner of the latter has to pay up the debt due to the former master should be engage him.—Argonaut.

SCRAPS AND A DINNER.

A French Chef's Feat With Food That Had Been Discarded.

A year or two ago I was chef in a country gentleman's household in England. The morning after my arrival I looked around the kitchen garden, and in the dust bin that stood in the back yard I saw a mixture of food that could have been turned into a first class dinner.

In about four quarts of milk that had turned sour were swimming stale half loaves, drumsticks of fowls, old ham bones, cold boiled potatoes, trimmings of dough made for piecrusts, cracked eggs, some old codfish and some spoiled macaroni.

Next day I found a second consignment, very similar, about to be carried away and thrown out. I stopped this lot, sorted it out and, with the help of a little stock, half a dozen eggs and a hare that had been shot on the estate, served a seven course dinner for a family of ten that night, and the master of the household called me up and complimented me before the whole family on the best dinner they had had for a year.

Afterward his wife sent for me and told me that, though pleased with the dinner, she feared I had been too extravagant and said that her rule was not to allow more than 7 shillings per head in housekeeping. It was a severe shock to her to hear I had fed the family on the sins of the cook that had left the day before, the cost being not over ninepence per head.—From an Interview With a French Chef in National Food Magazine.

The Market In Cauls.

We believe that there is still some market for cauls among sailors, who retain their belief in the efficacy of the membranes as a protection against shipwreck and drowning. Notices of "Cauls For Sale Within" were to be seen recently in windows in the vicinity of the docks of both London and Liverpool, but it is some time since we have noticed an advertisement of a caul for sale in the daily press. It may be remarked that the sale of cauls, so far from being a very ancient custom, is a comparatively modern innovation. The witchcraft of the middle ages declared against the caul retaining any virtue whatever if parted with by gift or sale to any but a member of the child's kindred.—London Lancet.

The Struggle.

The road to eminence and power from an obscure condition ought not to be made too easy nor a thing too much of course. If rare merit be the rarest of all things it ought to pass through some sort of probation. The temple of honor ought to be seated on an eminence. If it be open through virtue let it be remembered, too, that virtue is never tried but by some difficulty and some struggle.—Burke.

Tangled Up In Boston.

Hank—Ever in Boston, Bill? Bill—Yep. Hank—Get tangled up any? Bill—A little. I stole a pup from a front porch, run two miles with him and stopped to rest right on de same front porch I stole him from.—Philadelphia Bulletin.

A Spanking Team.

"Now, Tommy, this little story says, 'The rich man had a spanking team.' Now, what's a 'spanking team?'"

"I know. My pa and ma's one."—Baltimore American.

Astronomy Versus Art.

Professor—Has anything ever been discovered on Venus? Student—No, sir, there has not—if the pictures are correct.—Judge.

That action is not warrantable which either blushes to beg a blessing or, having succeeded, does not present a thanksgiving.—Quarles.
