

State Press Flashlights.

If the worst comes, and our trouble with Germany must be left with the arbitration of war, we are willing to have the matter settled by single combat, and nominate Colonel Theodore Roosevelt as our champion against the Kaiser. Arms, tongue and chin.—The Spectator.

The chief of St. Louis, Mo., detectives says that there is no particular of man who goes wrong, but there is one distinctive type who doesn't go wrong, and he is the fellow who lives within his means. The information is nothing new, when one comes to think about it. A man can't be honest and live beyond his means, and that's all there is to it. When one contracts debts which he knows he cannot pay from his earnings, he is not living honestly; he is going wrong.—Itemizer.

The real "good fellow" is the fellow who knows something good about everybody and tells it. He never knocks on his neighbor or digs up the past. He always leads a helping hand to the fellow who is up against it and gives him a chance to make good. He never forgets to do and say the little things that make his wife happy. His children and him a jolly chum and an ever-ready playmate. His home is a heaven of love, happiness and contentment. The real "good fellow" is the world's greatest asset.—Bert Morehouse in Ginger.

President Wilson has nearly reached the parting of the ways, and it is to be hoped he will be correctly advised and receive the support of every true American in choosing the bloodless path in his dealings with the warring nations. The United States does not court war, neither does it want to be disgraced and degraded among the nations, and it is a wise leader who will steer the ship of state safely between the two alternatives. Let us hope that President Wilson is the pilot who is able to do this.—Sheridan Sun.

Henry Rohm of this city predicts that we will have a wet summer, and bases his prediction on the theory that cannonading affects the atmosphere. He remembers that during the civil war there was a great deal of rain due to the cause. We have put Henry's prediction down for future observation, just as we did that of Phin Small some time since, when he said that on or about May 27 the European war would come to an end. Phin's forecast did not quite hit the mark, but possibly the entrance of Italy into the fray may be the beginning of the end.—Telephone Register

A pretty maid can make a wise man a fool. She can make a wise man dippy. She can turn sunshine into gloom, or misery into joy. She can have a train of youngbloods and bald headed old bachelors trotting after her like a pack of hungry dogs trailing a bone. She can raise more simon pure undiluted hell in a man's heart in a minute than he can dispel in a lifetime of effort. She is an object of envy and a thing of joy, and there is no end to her possibilities. For all the world admires a pretty maid.—Lone Journal.

On Monday, June 21, there will be an election in Corvallis, to select one new member of the board of directors, but is reasonably safe to assume that a very small proportion of those who are entitled to vote at such an election know anything about it, for the reason that it has not been given due publicity. Following the antiquated custom, which provides that the clerk shall post notices of such election on some telegraph pole or other public place, the law, made and provided, has been complied with, but in this day and generation, the people have something else to do besides going around to hunt up information of any coming event, when it can be brought right into our homes.—Corvallis Gazette.

The principal revenue of the newspaper is money derived from selling space to advertisers. The desire of people to have certain facts made known to the masses of the people and the possibility of business being created by the people coming into possession of facts through the newspaper, makes it possible for the publisher to issue papers such as we have in the country. The masses of the people know very little of the cost of publishing a paper and a large percent of them at some time or other have something which they desire to get before the people. It is often the case that the newspaper is asked to publish material that will not increase the sale of the paper and would not bring revenue of any kind to the paper if it was published. It is necessary for the paper to exercise judgment in accepting public matter and make a fine distinction between advertising and news matter.—Albany Herald.

Don't try to bully the world. It does not pay. Whoever enters the ring for a rough and tumble fight with public opinion is pretty sure, eventually, to be "knocked out." Society is a Briareus, and who would think of encountering with a single pair of fists a hundred-armed fellow? Better shake the multitudinous hand of the giant, good-naturedly, than unnecessarily provoke his wrath. Despair the world if it so pleases you, but as you have to live in the world and to lean on the world it is just as well to treat it civilly. Shrewd men, who understand their race, never seek a quarrel with society. They understand that it is possible for an individual to lead and quietly control a community, but not to fight it down and not to force it their way of thinking by means of narrow laws. If you desire to reform supposed or real evils or disabuse your fellow men of their prejudices, the surest way not to succeed is to resort to denunciation and abuse. Kindness, conciliation and the influence of good example—these are the true and effective means of reform.—Seaside Signal.

Drifting From Diplomacy to War.

The President will write another note asking Germany if she "intends to be guided by the accepted principles of international law and the rights of neutrals, or if she purposes following her own rules of maritime warfare." In other words, President Wilson will ask if Germany intends to continue to sink American ships and ships in which American citizens are travelers. Germany will reply that it is necessary to her existence to inflict on her enemies all the injury possible, and that within the naval war zone that she has established enemy commerce will be destroyed at every opportunity. It will give the imperial government great and sincere regret to learn that neutrals happened to be on the enemy ships that were sunk, but the reply will state that the exigencies of submarine warfare do not permit the commanders of the destroyer time to inquire into the identity of passengers traveling on the enemy's craft.

And then, what? We have stated that we shall hold the imperial government to "strict accountability" for any injury done to American life or property. In what manner shall we make good this threat if the imperial government continues to violate the accepted principles of international warfare? Shall we avenge our murdered citizens by declaring war, which we could but feebly prosecute? Or shall we express our abhorrence of the Kaiser's barbaric attacks on helpless and non-combatant women and children by merely breaking off diplomatic relations with Germany? Truly, the one would cause the Kaiser as much concern as the other.

Our position is delicate and serious. We are dealing with an arrogant and desperate monarch, to whom contracts mean nothing and who has changed the principles of international warfare to suit his own style of fighting. We are asking him a question which, if it is answered in the affirmative, convicts him of violating the rules of so-called civilized warfare and which, if answered in the negative, makes it necessary that we shall proceed to put into effect our threat of holding him to "strict accountability."

It looks as if President Wilson might have to put aside the work he took up as head of our diplomatic service and assume the duties of commander-in-chief of the army and navy.—The Spectator.

Winners of School Track Meet.

Seventh grade won the cup which a number of the merchants of the city have put up for the grade showing up best in the spring track meets which closed with the meet last Friday afternoon. Fourth and fifth grades tied for second place.

The boys were classified according to height, boys of about the same height competing in each class. The points won by the boys of each grade from the fourth to the eighth inclusive were added together and this sum divided by the number of boys in the room. This tended to stimulate every boy to take part.

The running broad jump and the 100 yard dash were the two events in which the boys competed Friday. Winners of first places in the five classes in the broad jump were Ivan Knight, Leslie Conover, Ernest Dodge, Jesse Shortlidge and Arthur Harris. Second place winners in this event were Russell McKenzie, James Campbell, Percy Thayer, Geoffrey O'Donnell and Alfred Smith. Winners of thirds were William Monroe, Bob Switzer, Willie Campbell, Leland Dorr and Arthur Travis. In the 100 yard dash Ernest Dodge, James Campbell, Arthur Travis, Ivan Knight and Leslie Conover took firsts; Carl Knight, Alfred Smith, Schuyler Fletcher, Warren Folland and Arthur Harris seconds and Hermie Watson, Jesse Shortlidge, Herbet Jones, Bob Switzer and Geoffrey O'Donnell third places. Ribbons were awarded the winners of these places at Koch's Drug store Saturday. The cup won by the seventh grade is on exhibition in the window of Harris' jewelry store. The Tillamook Headlight kindly did the printing on the ribbons awarded at this part of the meet.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local application, as they cannot reach by local application, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitution remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a running sound tube or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and the tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever. Nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh of the Eustachian Tube, which is not only an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces, but also a case of Deafness (caused by Catarrh) that cannot be cured by medicine. We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by Catarrh) that is cured by our Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free. F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, Ohio. Sold by Druggists, 736. Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

The lime stone will cost $5.00 per ton in sacks at the plant. A charge of 3 cents per sack or 60c. per ton extra will be made for the sacks unless sacks are furnished by the customer. Malheur Storm Freakish.

Baker, Or., June 2.—The champion freak storm of Malheur County was reported here today. A heavy rainfall and wind did heavy damage throughout the county, but the edge skirted the town of Malheur. With a heavy roar a hail storm broke there and hailstones as big as bantam eggs rained wetts all over the bodies of horses and cattle. The ground was soon covered with hail three inches deep.

In some spots the sun shone through out the pelting storm. Trees were also damaged.

Is the reminder that the first election was in the Garden of Eden intended as a slap at women suffrage? The devil carried Eden by the woman's vote.

Those five Mexicans under death sentence in Arizona have doubtless been congratulating themselves that they were not five Americans under death sentence in Mexico.

We are in perfect accord with the resolution that "all difficulties among nations ought to be justly settled, without recourse to war." All private individuals also ought to be law abiding, kind and considerate, and we ought not to be put to the expense of maintaining police forces.
