introduction, when he says:
"The day is here when the farmer has no moral right to own a manure spreader, a windmill, a riding plow, a Subscribed and sworn to before me riding cultivator, a disk harrow, check-row corn planter or a gasoline engine-none of these things-withabout the residence water supply, the depth of the well, the conveniences on wash day, the comforts of the kitchen, the possibilities of light and heat in the home—in short, the comforts of the field and barn should find themselves attuned to the comforts of the family residence, and neither seeking in vain. should be out of balance with the other, neither should be extravagant, neither should be miserly.

"If the mission of the Missouri
State Board of Agriculture were to be summed up in three words, what would you say those words would you say those words should be? There are different answers, but one summary might be sug-gested like this, 'For better bomes.' All of the improved methods, the better livestock, the better roads, the better schools, the better country churches, the better agricultural organizations, the better community life—all are chaff except as they develop better homes and better home life and better character, a better and thrifter and happier citizenship, liv-ing at peace with God and all mankind in the open country, closer to the heart of nature."

President's Mind not Yet Made Up.

Washington, July 13.—The first official announcement of the immediate plans of President Wilson for dealing with the situation that has arisen between Germany and the United States came tonight in a telegram from Cornish, N. H., to Secretary Tumulty, saying that the president would return to Washington soon to lay the entire subject before his cabinet. It indicated that the President had not yet arrived at a de-cision as to the policy of the government.

The White House statement was as follows:

"Referring to statements appearing in certain morning newspapers with reference to the attitude of the President toward the reply of the German government, Secretary Tumulty to-night gave out the following telegram which he had received from the presi-

"Please say that from the moment of the arrival of the official text of the German note I have given the matter the closest attention, keeping constantly in touch with the Secretary of State and with every source that would throw light on the situathat would throw light on the situation; that so soon as the Secretary of State and I have more thoroughly considered the situation I shall go to Washington to get in personal conference with him and with the Cabinet, and that there will be as prompt an announcement as possible of the purpose of the government."

An Easy Identification.

Some Eastern people who have been earnestly striving to "See America First" appear to be somewhat dis-couraged about geographical identicouraged about geographical identication. They have a desire, which we must command as laudable, to be thought, when in the West, as being "native and to the manure barn." The mistake of some of them has been in arraying themselves according to modes which went out of fashion in the wildest West some years ago. Some of them make the holster with its bulging pistol, a part of the costume they don for seeing America first. Their disappointment, and even disgust, at finding Westerners politely asking if they are not from the ly asking if they are not from the East, is well reflected in some lines by Arthur Chapman in which one of them soliloquizes:

We've loaded up with deadly weapons

We've raised our boot heels one inch

We talk of trappers, scouts and cowboys, Each rides a livery stable beast, But still we hear that hated greeting:

We see you're not long from the East."

0.93 East."

When people carry their signs of City. Details may be had identification with them, in bulging identification with them, in bulging Lamb, director.

Plastering the ceiling in holsters and other such paraphernalia everywhere in the West these days, 2.19 they must not wonder that their iden-0.00 tification is easy. Anyone knowing the 7.00 West would at once pick the man 5.00 making such an exhibition of himself as one from the East, and that part of the East not yet penetrated with news of the mighty changes that have come to the West in a few years. If the Easterners who do not want to be identified, will come out arrayed in their usual habiliments, they will find 7.50 their usual habiliments, they will find multitudes arrayed like unto them, 0.00 and will have such times that, in seeing America first, they will resolve it shall not be the last.—Ex.

Printing Point Does Not Bob Up and Down

In an L. C. Smith & Bros. Typewriter the point on the paper which is to receive the type impression is stationary at the instant the type hits. The carriage does not bob up and down when the shift is made to write capitals.

Why?

Because the type is shifted—not the carriage.

The only movement of the carriage is back and forth on its closely adjusted ball bearing runwaysand this does not take place while the print is being made. There is no lifting of the carriage.

This is one reason why L. C. Smith & Bros. type writing is free from blurs and every letter in the right
