

Crack Shots to Visit Tillamook Next Week.

Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Topperwein, the celebrated marksmen, will give an exhibition of expert and fancy shooting at the Fair Grounds, Friday September 3rd, which everyone ought to see, as no such marvelous shooting has ever been done in this section. It will be a revelation of all of the wonderful possibilities of modern arms and ammunition in the hands of the greatest experts. Mr. Topperwein is the acknowledged dean of fancy and trick shots, and his many feats are of highly sensational character. Mrs. Topperwein has no equal among women for adaptability in shooting. Ladies are especially urged to go and witness her astonishing skill with shotgun, rifle and pistol. Admission will be free to all.

Some idea of the unusual character of the exhibition given by the Topperweins will be gained from the following remarks: Adolph Topperwein, the greatest living fancy and flying target shot with a rifle, represents the Winchester Repeating Arms Co., and lives in San Antonio, Texas. His native state has long been noted for its expert shooters and this penchant for shooting among Texans, added to his natural ability, undoubtedly accounts for the wonderful skill he displays. He uses no special equipment, but ordinary Winchester rifles, shooting regular cartridges with solid ball; or, in other words, cartridges such as are sold by all dealers. He shoots at oranges, apples, bits of coal or brick, walnuts, small marbles, empty cartridge shells, and many other tiny objects, which are all thrown into the air and hit with either rifle or revolver.

In the most remarkable exhibition of rifle shooting ever given Mr. Topperwein shot for ten days at 72,500 2 1/2 inch wooden blocks thrown into the air by an assistant, missing only 9 out of the entire lot. During the shooting, he made straight runs of 14,540, 13,599, 13,292, 13,219 and 10,383. He used two Winchester automatic rifles and Winchester cartridges, and the loading of the rifles was done by himself. Considering the almost incredible score and the tremendous strain of such incessant shooting, it is unlikely that this record will ever be beaten.

Other remarkable feats by Mr. Topperwein with the rifles were his scoring of 85 out of 100 2 1/2 inch targets thrown into the air while riding at full speed in an automobile; and the breaking of 3,507 targets without a miss at the World's Fair at St. Louis.

Mr. Topperwein is the originator of many marvelous fancy and trick shots and also of the feat of drawing the heads of Indian chiefs and other pictures with bullets shot from a rifle. Rifle shooting is not his only acquirement, as he does wonderful work also with revolver, pistol and shotgun.

Mrs. Topperwein, who also represents the Winchester Repeating Arms Co., is undoubtedly the premier lady shot of the world. Although she took up shooting only a few years ago, she has started the shooting world and entertained many thousands of people by her great skill with rifle, shotgun and pistol. Shooting came natural to her as without seeming difficulty she masters various kinds of shooting quickly.

Her first public appearance was at the World's Fair in St. Louis where, with a Winchester automatic rifle she broke 967 out of 1,000 2 1/2 inch flying targets; and later 1995 out of 2000 with a straight run of 1437.

Besides being a wonderful wing and fancy shot, Mrs. Topperwein is a consistent shooter at the traps and has made a straight run of 226 and won many high averages in open competitions, shooting against the best professional and amateur shots in the world. At San Antonio, Texas, July 18, 1908, she broke 661 out of 1,000 targets thrown at the regulation distance, in 4 hours and 35 minutes.

At the Pacific Coast Handicap, held at Seattle in 1910, Mrs. Topperwein won high general average over a large field of the best shots of the Pacific Coast and Canada. On the first day of the tournament, she made the remarkable score of 195 out of 200, which included twenty doubles, and on the final day she broke the entire program of 100 singles straight. During the year 1913, Mrs. Topperwein shot at 10,000 targets, scoring over 95 per cent. She made straight runs of 100 nine times and one run of 165. Shooting for the Denver Post Trophy in an Eastern Handicap she outshot the field of over 250 shooters by scoring 98 out of 100 from 19 yards; and closing her season's work at the State Fair in Phoenix, Ariz., she scored for the three day's shooting the magnificent total of 397 of 405 targets; and in a special handicap event, standing at the 23 yard mark, she broke 93 targets out of 100. Mrs. Topperwein is the only lady in the world who ever had the honor to qualify as a national marksman in open competition, shooting at 200, 300 and 500 yards with a military rifle.

WIDOW ADVERTISES FOR HUSBAND.

Says She Wants Real Man, No Boss, Mustn't be Too Old.

These are the characteristics Mrs. Martha Stevens of No. 697 Elmore place, Brooklyn, demands in the husband for whom she has just started an advertising campaign, she says: "I want a real man—a man whose character is more pronounced than his eternal chase after money. "I want a teetotaler. No man who drinks has a chance with me. "My husband must combine the artistic temperament with a business ability, but business ability comes first. "I want a man who is companionable. "Honesty, a sense of humor and a love of home are all necessary characteristics. No fly-by-night man, with the idea of a club in the background of his mind all the time, ever made a good husband. "I want a eugenic husband. I will submit to a careful investigation and examination. I shall expect the man to do likewise. "I want a man I can respect. But not one who thinks he will be boss. That sort of thing doesn't go in my house."

Plenty of Applicants. Yesterday afternoon I met the pretty little widow who on Monday advertised that she wanted to get acquainted with a gentleman with the object of matrimony. She told me with a twinkle in her eye something of the fun she had had since the harmless little ad went into the paper. "I feel like a debutant just coming out," she announced gleefully. "See—she indicated a stack of opened envelopes on the table beside her—these all came in the afternoon mail. "You see I won't see anybody who appears at the door. If a man answers my note seriously I will have him investigated, and if I think he is worthy I shall meet him, but not before. I meant 'no triflers' when I inserted my ad. "My husband died by his own hand only a year ago," she said reminiscently, "and I have been almost frantic with loneliness since. He was the last loved one I had, and this big house has seemed like a tomb ever since."

Doesn't Look Her Age. There was little about the demure, charming woman that suggested the fifty years to which she lays claim. She was dressed daintily in pink and white, and her eyes were as bright as a girl's; a chestnut curl, faintly tinged with gray, peeped over her shoulder just under her left ear. "There was something very contagious in Mrs. Stevens' hearty laugh when I asked her if she would tell me what kind of proposals she had received. "Oh, no, I can't do that," she replied. "That would never do. Some of the letters, of course are jokes, but for the most part they are many honest and evidently sincere. The chief trouble is that all the men so far are too old. I want a man 50 or younger. Most of them," indicating letters again, "are over 60."

"A man in middle life makes the best husband," Mrs. Stevens asserted. "His habits are settled. He's had his fling and wants to settle down. After 50 men age quickly. "I don't care what people say about my advertising. Women talk about her every time she appears anywhere with or without a man, and men take advantage and flirt." "The way Mrs. Stevens' eyes danced showing the eternal feminine, which never grows old. "She is 'Just Lonely.' "I'm just lonely, that is the whole story," she said, simply. "I want companionship and love. A woman can love just as well after 50 as she can at 25, and she makes just as good a home. "Suffragettes are right," she continued. "A woman should be able to propose if she wants a man badly enough. "Only," she added emphatically, "I do not approve of a woman's letting a man get control of her property. My husband gets no cigar money out of me. I'll give him a home, but the rest is up to him. "Love—and taxes, that's what makes a home these days," Mrs. Stevens concluded.

It would be interesting to see the Sunday bid put on popular vote in St. Louis.

The jury in the Portland federal court returned a verdict of guilty in the case of six former officials and salesmen of the United States Cashier Co., who have been on trial for several weeks charged with fraudulent use of the mails. The convicted men are: Frank Menefee, C. A. Campbell, F. M. Lemon, O. E. Gernert, B. F. Benevell and H. M. Todd. The men face two years' imprisonment or a fine of $10,000 or both.

Summons.

In the Circuit Court of the State of Oregon, for Tillamook County, Department No. two.

John R. Harter, Plaintiff vs. Charles R. Soule, Soule Brothers, Incorporated, a corporation, J. J. Jones, J. Swank, W. O. Wilson and Harriet L. Wilson, his wife, C. M. Zumwalt, W. C. Look and Mrs. W. C. Look, his wife, and W. B. Shively, Assignee, Defendants.

To J. J. Jones, W. O. Wilson and Harriet L. Wilson, his wife, and W. C. Look and Mrs. W. C. Look, his wife, the defendants above named;

You and each of you are hereby required to appear and answer the complaint filed against you in the above entitled suit within six weeks from the date of the first publication hereof in the Tillamook Headlight, the date of the first publication thereof being the 26th day of August, 1915, and if you fail so to appear and answer, the plaintiff will take a decree against you as follows, to-wit:

First. That the plaintiff have judgment against the said defendant, Charles R. Soule, in the sum of seven hundred and 00-100 dollars with interest thereon at the rate of eight per cent per annum from the 22nd day of July, 1911; in the further sum of one hundred dollars attorney's fees; in the further sum of $38.62 with interest thereon at the rate of six per cent per annum from the 30th day of January, 1915; in the further sum of $61.63 with interest thereon at the rate of six per cent per annum from the 30th day of July, 1915; and for his costs and disbursements of this suit.

Second. That the mortgage described in the said complaint be foreclosed and that the following described real property, to-wit:

Blocks, three, four, nine, ten, eleven, seventeen, eighteen, nineteen, twenty, twenty seven, twenty eight and twenty nine, and lots from one to seventeen inclusive and from twenty three to twenty six inclusive of block two, and lots one and from twenty six to forty seven inclusive of block sixteen, and lots from twenty eight to forty eight inclusive of block fifteen, and lots from one to eight inclusive, and from fifty seven to sixty one inclusive of block twenty one, and lot one of block twenty six, and lots one, two, and sixteen of block twelve, all in Avalon, in the County of Tillamook and State of Oregon.

Be sold in the manner prescribed by law and the proceeds of such sale applied to the payment of the said judgment.

Third. That the defendant, Charles R. Soule, and all persons claiming through or under him, be forever barred and foreclosed from setting up any claim, right, title or interest in or to the said lands, or any portion thereof, excepting the statutory right of redemption.

Fourth. That the plaintiff be permitted to become a purchaser at such sale.

Fifth. That the plaintiff have such other and further relief as to the court may seem just and equitable.

This summons is served upon you by publication thereof by order of the Hon. A. M. Hare, Judge of the County Court of the State of Oregon, for the County of Tillamook, made and entered herein on the 26th day of August, 1915, in the absence of the Circuit Judge.

E. J. Claussen, Attorney for the Plaintiff.

Neutrality in this country is genuine. No paper publishes "Me und Gott," even by request.

Every county, with four exceptions, goes wet in the recent Ohio local option elections. Who's saloony now?

Why shouldn't people from all over the earth fight in the European war? Its issue will determine much of their future happiness or unhappiness.

It goes without saying that if operation of American ships under our laws were profitable in ordinary times we would long ago have had a large merchant marine. American capital is not afraid of water. Our coastwise fleet is large and efficient. It is profitable because foreign competition is shut out. But ships engaged in foreign commerce must compete with all the world. Early in our history we fostered a merchant marine by discriminating duties, until it reached its greatest efficiency in 1826, when it carried 89.6 per cent of our exports and 95 per cent of our imports. But extension of reciprocity treaties altered this. It is doubtful if they could be imposed again without danger of vexatious retaliatory measures. Mr. Underwood got a preferential duty incorporated in the present tariff act, but it is worse than worthless, unless the Supreme Court reverses the decision of the Court of Customs Appeals. The fact that Americans, prior to the outbreak of the war, were flying foreign flags over American built boats, could signify but one thing: The cost of operation under our navigation laws was too great to permit competition with the rest of the world. In November an act goes into effect that will increase the discrepancy in cost.

In the crop year which will end tomorrow, just short of 400,000,000 bushels of wheat will have been shipped from the United States. It is the banner record for our country. The sum which was received from foreign bread eaters was half enough to pay off our national debt. Unless all forecasts go awry, the new crop year may equal that just closing. But the American farmer is not alone in his epoch-making glory. Our cotton manufacturers have reversed the order of international trade. Usually this country buys twice as many cotton fabrics from foreign lands as it sells to them, but this year the United States has sold an excess over purchases of about $25,000,000.
