The Board of Equalization is in session this week, and thus far but comparatively few taxpayers have visited the court house to look over their assessments. There have been a few who think the assessment too high on their property. The timber men have made a protest but asked to have some adjustments.

F. H. Wilkins, of Rockaway, was in the city circulating a petition to have the four miles of road between Brighton and Rockaway completed next year. This would place the beach route on the Columbia Highway, for next year the Clatsop county road connecting Tillamook county will be finished, and it will take from three to four hours run to reach Astoria.

Loved the Other Fellow Best.

H. D. Schroeder vs. Alfred Schroeder is a divorce suit filed in the circuit court. These parties were married in New York in December 1911, and no children have been born to the union. The complaint alleges cruel and inhuman treatment, and since the marriage the defendant tried to make the life of plaintiff as miserable as possible, although the plaintiff endeavored to furnish defendant with a comfortable home and make her life happy, sacrificing a good home and many good positions in order to satisfy her wishes. The complaint also alleges that during the last 18 months defendant has corresponded with another man and would talk with him over the phone, and when plaintiff objected, defendant told him she thought more of this party than of plaintiff. Also that defendant threatened to kill plaintiff. While living at Dallas, Ore., in June 1914, defendant told a Mrs. Mabel Clements that she was going to poison plaintiff, and in November she deserted her husband and said she was going to Portland to see another party, and this party had promised defendant that if she would come to him they would each get a divorce and would then be married to each other.

"Snap Shots" At the Star.

C. C. Smith, manager of the Star Theatre, will have a novelty at that place of amusement on Friday and Saturday evening. O. Phelps was in the city this week taking "snap shots" of leading citizens, business houses, industries, schools, and things of local interest. The camera man succeeding in taking a whole raft of live and interesting pictures, which will prove highly interesting to the patrons of the Star Theatre. Look out for the camera man for he is snapping a large number of our citizens.

High School Notes.

Tillamook High School opened on Sept 6 with an enrollment as large if not larger than last year. Since then up to this writing the enrollment has increased considerable. The first few days was taken up with registration, selecting of courses, and getting acquainted with the new teachers and fellow students.

The first student body meeting of the year was called Friday, Sept. 10, to discuss plans for the annual high school picnic.

On Saturday, Sept. 11, forty of the high school students and teachers "hiked" over the Lighthouse trail to Short Beach, where several of the "Fresh" received their initiation into T. H. S. This initiation consisted of a little scramble on the beach and a good ducking in the breakers. Of course no one was stiff or sore after this little walk.

The next event of the school year was the election of Student Body officers. The officers for the ensuing semester are as follows:

President, Lee Doty; Vice-President August Boquist; Secretary, Nellie Gaylord; Treasurer, Neva Maddux.

As the office of Sergeant at Arms is such a noted and honored position there was considerable electioneering for this place, after a close race for this place Joe Schnall came off the victor.

Calls it a Freak District.

This is what the Evening Telegram says about this school district and the case now pending in the supreme court:

"To include this territory it was necessary to create a freak district. To travel from one end of the district to the other would require 30 miles of travel through a wilderness, it is declared. The area was annexed to increase the taxable area of the district and tax the timber owners to pay for the education of its children and school improvements and in doing so it impoverished the district from which territory it was taken. This practice of increasing timber area to increase the taxable valuation of counties and of swapping territory back and forth between districts is practiced frequently, it is declared. Under this latter practice, timber area is annexed to a district one year to aid in paying for improvements, and to another district the next year. Attorney Ralph R. Duniway, in arguing the case, will contend that the law creating the school boundary board was repealed by the constitutional amendment giving to municipalities and districts the initiative for local legislation, and that school district boundary lines can only be changed by vote of people in the district."

The Editor and the Sunday Closing Law.

It is the opinion of the Editor of the Headlight that it is to the best interest of Tillamook County and the taxpayers that the Sunday closing law just declared constitutional by the Supreme Court should be ignored. The law has been a dead letter for years, and if it is necessary to have a Sunday closing law let one be passed that is more in conformity with the times. To enforce the present law it is going to create more or less friction and ill feeling and a whole lot of useless expense in prosecuting persons who should not be prosecuted. The law exempts from the provisions theaters, drug stores, doctor's offices, undertakers, butchers and bakers. The law is far reaching and puts the "lid" on most everybody who labor on Sunday, and it is hard to draw the line. For these and other reasons we believe it is to the best interest of the people not to enforce this antiquated and unjust law, for if the butchers and bakers are allowed to do business on Sundays, we do not see why other persons cannot do the same. Should the district attorney deem it his duty to enforce the law, then it should be enforced right up to the handle, and every "sinner" who works on Sunday or employs labor should be prosecuted.

District Attorney T. H. Goyne, when interviewed this morning in regard to the enforcement of the Sunday closing law, stated that he had not decided what he would do, but would consider the matter. As the City Council has undertaken to regulate pool rooms etc., he does not feel like interfering, as the conditions in the city are going along smoothly and satisfactorily. He does not like the idea of the law allowing butchers and bakers doing business on Sunday and is in doubt somewhat where to stop should he decide to put the "lid" on Sunday closing.

Sunday Closing Law has Been Repealed Since January 20th, 1865.

Judge Webster Holmes is of the opinion that the Sunday closing law is not a law of the State of Oregon, for the reason that it was not included in the code.

In Marion County the law was attacked in a case of J. P. Rogers on a writ of review from the Justice court, on the 25th of July, 1904, which was signed by Judge Burnett and when the case came to trial Judge Galloway reversed the lower court. John McNary, who, was district attorney did not appeal the case.

Judge Holmes says: The Sunday closing law so called was handed down from Territorial days, under the provision of the State Constitution Art. XVIII, Sec 7; which provides "All laws in force in the territory of Oregon when this Constitution takes effect, and consistent herewith, shall continue in force until altered or repealed."

The Sunday law was included in the Code of Criminal Procedure passed October 19th, 1864.

On October 21, 1864, two days later the same session passed Senate Bill 71, and by it repealed it.

S. B. 71 is entitled, "An act to repeal all statutes of a general nature, with certain exceptions."

Section 1, thereof provides, and reads as follows: "That all statutes of a general nature passed or in force before the commencement of the session commencing September the 8th A. D. 1862, except those enumerated and mentioned in the next section, be and the same are hereby repealed."

Section 2, of said S. B. 71, does not enumerate the Sunday closing law nor does it refer to it in any manner. The Sunday closing law was therefore and thereby "her-by repealed."

There has been much ado about nothing for a good many years, and unnecessary strife kicked up between neighbors, and many a good and enjoyable game of ten pins interrupted or prevented by the mistaken belief that we had a "Sunday Closing Law" in Oregon.

Services at the Presbyterian Church.

"Courage to Face the Hard Tack" is the subject of the sermon next Sunday at 11; and in the evening at 7:30, "Behold the Man" is the subject. Sunday school at 10 a.m. furnishes opportunity for Bible study for all ages. All are invited to any or all of these services.

Christian Church.

The interest manifested last Sunday in our services was gratifying. The attendance was excellent at every service, but especially so in the morning when the men of the audience outnumbered the women which is not common. Next Sunday night the sermon subject will be "The Prisoner's Message."

Morning theme "Our High Priest." McGhee's orchestra will play in the evening.
