More Moss From Woods.

We saw the gray backs from Pacific City were crawling over the last week's paper. The lice must be starving down there to try and come up here and eat our news.

Ernest, sure is working for his Reward cutting wood.

There are some directors at Pacific City who had better read up on school law. Queer that they don't know that before they bond a district they have to have some one else's say so besides their own.

From the following quotations you will know you've met in this neck of the woods:

'A genial smile for all who pay their bills.'—W. R. Rabede. 'First aid to damsel in distress.'—Bert Cornett. 'I wish I had a good loveable companion.'—Mr. Deuel. 'I'm going to have one.'—John Belique. 'I'll beat that Ford if it takes all winter.'—Mr. Spencer.

'I can't swim my team of rabbits across the river.'—Mr. Shaver. 'I've got a son that is a son.'—Gilbert Belique.

'How I admire a certain crow.'—E. E. Parker. 'I'm a tipsy mooser you bet.'—Adam Babcock.

'Oh! I like the gals, especially schoolmaams.'—Ed Pierson. 'Lookout, Ed, I'm after one.'—Ernest Edmunds.

'I'm the highest priced butter.'—H. A. Miles. 'Say Sir, d'ye see this star?'—D. T. Edmunds.

'Have you seen any lost calves.'—Mr. Fisher. 'Seen any ducks?'—Brick Gilman.

'Takes a kid to make a racket.'—Leo Norton. 'Come to Sunday School.'—Fred Thun.

'I can lick any man smaller than myself.'—Clarence Dunn. 'Takes me to fish above the deadline.'—Mr. Dunn.

'I like to live alone.'—Jim Kirkwood. 'I get der cows mid der vip.'—Mr. Harlman.

'I had a spouse once.'—Barney Knoblock. 'Mr. Robedece has the best store.'—Arthur Edmunds.

'I'll pay you later.'—E. Hall. 'My homes in Cloverdale, my heart in P. C.'—Vic Learned.

'Minings best.'—Jack Williams. 'Yea, kerosene will cost me some in a year or two.'—Mr. Hunter.

'Pulse wild, sprain of the petella.'—George Carroll. 'My names my chief asset.'—Clarence Babcock.

'Yep, I got a bum sled runner.'—Mark Bays. 'Needed, an eye.'—Mr. Barrick. 'Fishing next to swimming.'—Carter.

for lard in this neck of the woods than for any thing else. But who's going to do the rendering. E. Hall has moved into Barneyville, near the saw mill. Many of us are looking for a padlock peddler anxiously.

School Notes.

Members of the first five grades of the school have sent five cases of donations to the Boys' & Girls' Aid Society in Portland, as well as a number of small contributions of money. Most of the donations were in the form of a canned fruit and vegetables, but a number brought useful clothing and other things and quite a number contributed pennies and nickles toward making a happy Thanksgiving for the homeless children in the Portland institution.

Mr. Reed is back at school, although with his left arm in a sling and still showing visibly the effects of the severe accident which recently befell him.

Miss Mabel Goyne has been unable to attend school this week on account of severe illness. Miss Lelia Drew has substituted for her.

The Postum Cereal Co. and The Colgate Co. have recently sent exhibits and educational demonstration outfits of the products. The latter are being used by teachers of the grades in arousing interest in the care of the teeth.

High School classes in Agriculture and Domestic Science are attending O. A. C. Extension school this week and other pupils have attended at odd periods when they have had classes in high school. Several of the Domestic Science girls have acted as assistants to Miss Turley in her demonstrations.

The Webster Club has announced an entertainment for Friday evening, Dec. 17th, for the purpose of raising funds to defray debate expenses for the year. Debate prospects are very good and it is anticipated that a considerable fund will be necessary to meet traveling expenses of the debaters and provide them with the material which they shall need in order to win the debates.

Last year the Webster Club played a dramatization of Dickens' Christmas Carol, by means of which about $40.00 were raised for debate expenses. This year it is expected to get another play, although the actual selection has not been made. Don't forget the date, Friday, Dec. 17th.

The second report period of the year is past and the report cards have been issued. Nearly all these show a good improvement in quality of work. Some cards are especially good, several having two or three "H" marks. "H" it being understood is Honor and is the highest grade given. Only 5 per cent of the grades given in the year are expected to be "H".

Boat building is all the rage at the Manual Training Department at this time. In addition to the boats already under construction, two others have been started. Bob Myers is undertaking another and Lynn Goyno started an Alaskan canoe. Goyno hails from the interior of Alaska and drew the plans for the canoe from memory.

The next Parent Teacher's Association Meeting will be held Friday, Dec. 10. There will be entertaining numbers by several grades and papers by several teachers and parents. No charge will be made at the meeting but unaccompanied children not on the program will not be admitted.

The first of a series of high school class basketball games will be played in the opera house on Friday at 7:30, when the Juniors will clash with the Freshmen and the Seniors with the Sophomores.

The basket ball rules which will be used universally in the United States both in Universities and high schools are a combination of the intercollegiate and Y. M. C. A. rules of last year. This will make the game much faster and more exciting for the people in seats.

Although the rules are strange to the local boys, coach Sanders insists that they be played from the beginning so that the school team will be well versed in them by the time the trip is made to meet outside teams.

The high school is working out a constitution by which the students and faculty of the school can be definitely organized into an association which will be able to carry on business on a business like manner and gain the respect of the city merchants which is necessary for the success of school activities. A committee has secured the constitutions from schools throughout the state and the local document will be the pick from these.

Client King has been spending a few days in Tillamook the last week. The stormy weather we have been having, keeps the telephone linemen busy.

Kitchener spent one hour bending those wonderful eyes on King Constantine, and we wonder if he got him going.

Postmaster Shot. Clerk Kills Self.

Ashland, Or. Nov. 30.—E. J. Keiser postmaster of Ashland, founder of the Recorder and for many years its editor, was shot and seriously wounded shortly after 11 o'clock this morning by William Greenfield, a clerk in the office.

Three shots were fired, two aimed at Keiser, both of them taking effect. Greenfield then turned the revolver on himself, firing the weapon into his mouth. Picked up in a dying condition he expired at 1:30 p.m.

Kaiser was seated in front of the office looking over mail and accounts, with his back toward Greenfield, who, without warning, shot twice in rapid succession. The first bullet struck the postmaster near the nose, glancing down and hitting the front teeth, some of which were loosened, the bullet dropping out of his mouth. The second shot hit the mastoid bone behind the ear, glancing backwards, and has not yet been located.

Tax Values Decline.

Salem, Or., Nov. 30.—Taxable property in Oregon, as announced today by the State Tax Commission, is valued at $934,495,023.25. This valuation is based upon property equalized by the county boards of equalization and that equalized and apportioned by the State Tax Commission.

As compared with the valuation in 1914, when the total was $934,413,080, there is an apparent increase, but in reality there is a decrease. In 1914 the lands included in the Oregon & California land grant, valued at $21,425,435, were not included in the valuation totals, while this year they have been listed on the assessment roll.

The taxable value of property in the 35 counties of the state, as equalized in the different counties, shows a total of $812,516,640.34, as compared with $806,217,086.84 in 1914. The latter total is exclusive of railroad grant lands.

Capture of Trade Feared.

London, Nov. 27.—Discussing the newly-formed American International Corporation, the Morning Post says: "It is evident that the United States is making preparations for capturing the world's trade after the war. This country must treat this as a serious proposition. Since the commencement of the war America's prosperity has reached an enormous impetus from foreign powers, particularly those of England, France and Russia. Moreover, the financial prestige of America has been increased by the extent of which its bankers are able to finance the necessities of Europe and other countries.

Nothing, therefore, is more natural than that American bankers and business men should be looking ahead and taking steps for maintaining this financial and commercial prosperity after the war."

Records Smashed Again.

The world's championship for the production of butter fat in a year has been won by Duchess Skylark Ormsby a Holstein Friesian, owned in Minnesota. She produced 1205 pounds butter fat from 27,162 pounds milk in the year and maintained an average butter fat record of 4.32 per cent. She ate less than 20 pounds of grain a day and only such grains that are within practical reach of every dairyman.

George Gothels will have the canal clear by Jan. 1. Suppose it had to depend on the vote of the people.

Jess Willard has made $200,000 since the Jack Johnson encounter. Does physical courage pay more than moral courage?

The silver lining? The Boston Transcript says: "During the recent Kansas cyclone it is said that the sun was obscured for two hours by a cloud of limousines and grand piano."

Texas Socialists want the Federal government to manufacture liquor and sell it to the consumer at cost. We gather that the Texas Socialists are not dry.

An Indiana man has a 185-barrel cistern filled with apple cider. More and more each year cisterns are being built for this purpose; and the revenue laws haven't begun calling for moonshine.

Truth continues to nonplus fiction. In three automobile accidents at Columbus, Ohio, all in one day and widely separated parts of the city, women whose first name was Edna were hurt in each accident.

The experts of the United States Department of Agriculture who have been concocting a convention of state leaders in training youth to take part in tilling the soil to better advantage will reach directly 250,000 boys and girls who have made a beginning in the work. The subject is one in which all the young should be interested.

Country and city are so closely interrelated that the knowledge imparted may be regarded as useful to all Americans. The ownership of land, so difficult to obtain in the Old World, is made easy for us by national policy of which the Agricultural Department is a powerful outgrowth.

Speakers at the convention enlarged on the subject of improved methods in these broadening lines of rural instruction, in gardening, domestic science and canning, as well as general farming. These studies can be reduced to practice in the earliest season, a fact that makes them doubly attractive. While it is true that population tends to cities it is equally true that the intercourse between rural and urban communities is more and more intimate. The ability of a man to sustain himself in either place is a valuable resource.

"An onion eaten raw will clear the head," says the doctor. First let one lock one's self up in his room with a pulmotor handy when the door's broken open. Those who propose an army of 500,000 men do it as glibly as if there were no trouble at all in keeping up the enlistments for the present one. We fancy army life will have to be made somewhat more attractive than it has been. Mr. Root learned something else about the people—that they won't read nine columns of fine print. Printing Point Does Not Bob Up and Down In an L. C. Smith & Bros. Typewriter the point on the paper which is to receive the type impression is stationary at the instant the type hits. The carriage does not bob up and down when the shift is made to write capitals. Why? Because the type is shifted—not the carriage. The only movement of the carriage is back and forth on its closely adjusted ball bearing runways—and this does not take place while the print is being made. There is no lifting of the carriage. This is one reason why L. C. Smith & Bros. typewriting is free from blurs and every letter in the right place. Ask for Demonstration
