Ten Commandments for Husbands And Wives.

Mrs. Irene Sheffield, an authoress, sat before Vice Chancellor Vivian Lewis of Jersey City and told of her unhappiness and of her hatred for her husband, Justice Scheffeld, Harvard graduate, lawyer and clubman, who is suing to divorce her. This was the answer she snapped at Meritt Lane, her husband's attorney, when asked to describe Scheffeld: "He is a tyrant, a cheat, a liar, and, if I have to say it, your honor, the meanest man God ever gave life to." She didn't add that outside of that he was all right, either. To the contrary, she said: "The way he treated me and my children is simply indescribable. The old Roman terror men never had any thing on the things I had to call my husband."

Looked straight at her husband who often whined beneath the sting of her lashing words. Mrs. Scheffeld, her eyes flaming, told the story of her married life in passionate and dramatic terms. She tested about all the "ten commandments for married men" which she had pronounced broken by Scheffeld. She said: He transgressed about all of them except the first, which reads "Thou shalt keep the past to thyself." I tried my best to live up to my ten commandments for married women.

Mrs. Sheffield testified she had written both series of commandments about two years before separation, but had only published them recently, as she explained, "I needed the money."

- 1. Thou shalt keep thy past unto thyself.
- 2. Thou shalt not scoff.
- 3. Thou shalt be a careful kisser.
- 4. Remember that thou keep thy marriage vows. Six days shalt thou dream of might-have-beens, but, on the seventh—wake. Remember thy wife to sing her praises. Give her freely of thy time and wit, for a dull husband is a discouragement to the Gods, and a clever one—almost human.
- 5. Honor thy wife and all her bills.
- 6. Remember thy mother-in-law to keep her guessing, for a wise mother-in-law loveth a cheerful liar and a good excuse is better than none.
- 7. Thou shalt not steal a march into thy club.
- 8. Thou shalt not toy with danger, though, verily, a live impulse has low domestic voltage boredom beaten to a frazzle.
- 9. Thou shalt choose thy brand of tobacco, likewise thy experience, according to thine income.
- 10.—Thou shalt be a man, dependable as thy best investment, thoroughbred as a racer, mellow as old wine, constant as thy club dues; then, of a surety, will favor cling to thee as lichen to an old oak.

For Women.

- 1. Thou shalt not nag.
- 2. Thou shalt keep thy temper to thyself.
- 3. Thou shalt not bore thy husband.
- 4. Remember that thou keep unholy his many socks. Six days shalt thou frivel and all the things that thou lovest to do, but on the seventh, think. Remember his linen to see that it is spotless. Provide thou the extra stud for the emergency that will come, and watch lest the suit that hath been pressed is not returned to its accustomed nail, as it will be one he asketh for.
- 5. Thou shalt not ask him any questions, neither in the morning, nor at noon day hour, nor at night; for whatsoever a man wateeth thee to know, that will he tell thee unasked, and a question mark is a hook that catcheth who knows what.
- 6. Thou shalt not complain; verily, a complaining woman is worse than a shoe that pincheth.
- 7. Thou shalt not steal thy heart against his hobbies.
- 8. Thou shalt not steal thy heart against his hobbies.
- 9. Thou shalt obey him—sometimes—uncertainty has its charms when minds are masculine.
- 10. Thou shalt be fresh and sweet and dainty as a shower bouquet. For lingerie is more to be desired than rubies, and a good cook above government bonds.

Dollar for Dollar.

What car gives as much?

It is the ONLY 7-passenger, 4-cylinder car with a 3¾-inch bore x 5-inch stroke, FORTY horse power motor that has ever been offered in America or Europe for less than $1000. And it is the ONLY car of the season that has accompanied a $100 reduction in price with such a SUBSTANTIAL INCREASE in quality.

But all that we ask is for you to see the car. And it won't take but a few minutes for the car to convince you that dollar for dollar, it gives MOKE than any other Four on the market.
