

4th JULY CELEBRATIONS In Tillamook County.

Preparations Made for Big Patriotic Gatherings in Tillamook City and other places.

This is an appeal to the red blooded, whole-hearted patriots of Tillamook County, those who vibrate in every fiber of their being when the flag is unfurled and the band begins to play a patriotic air.

A flood of patriotism is now sweeping over our country and in Tillamook County as well.

Millions have marched or are marching in preparedness parades in our large cities. Up to this time our small towns have been as silent as the tombs, not because patriotism is lacking, for it will be remembered that the men who fired the shots heard around the world were from small towns, but because an appropriate occasion for giving public expressions to the identical emotions that thrill all Americans, had not arrived. A preparedness parade around one block wouldn't be an overly impressive affair.

Why not make the Fourth of July celebration for the small towns what the preparedness parade has been to the city? That is the way the Fourth of July Committee of Tillamook regard the matter. This is no time for provincialism. Let every town celebrate. Some of the boldest pages of history are being written today. Only yesterday the mailed fist of Mexico shook the door of every American home. Only the simpleton talks about "my town or no town" nowadays. Its "my country or no country," that's the issue.

Everybody is Going to Celebrate This Year.

We understand that Fairview is to celebrate. Good for Fairview.

We also understand that Cloverdale is to celebrate. Hurrah for Cloverdale. Nehalem is to celebrate. Bully for Nehalem. Come now what other towns will step up. All together,—hurrah!

One thing is sure we're going to celebrate in Tillamook. We're going to have a Portland brass band of 15 to 20 pieces. They are coming here with tons of music. They're going to have all kinds of glad stuff and it will be the greatest musical feast that ever hit this neck of the woods.

Circuit Judge H. H. Belt is going to give one of his masterly addresses.

Big Ball Game.

The fast Harriman baseball team of Portland or some other fast aggregation is going up against a Millis aggregation, and, believe us, it's going to be some baseball. Millis knows baseball and when he says its going to be some game, believe us you can get ready for thrillers. He has the fastest aggregation of talent all lined up, most of them professional players with a record and full of pep. Its a case of an "irresistible force meeting an immovable object." If you can figure that out, and that means some clash.

The new City Hall of Tillamook will be dedicated with appropriate ceremonies on the Fourth.

Then there's going to be all kinds of contests from the fire brigade down to the fat man's race. The committee is working on the details now and its sure going to be a hummer.

Never before have the business and professional men donated so generously to a Fourth of July Celebration. Every American down deep in his heart knows the answer. If you're not otherwise engaged, come with us and have the BEST TIME OF YOUR LIFE.

ANOTHER FATAL ACCIDENT.

Jack Simpson's Leg Crushed at the County Crusher at Garibaldi.

Jack Simpson, a man about 50 years of age, was another victim to be added to the fatal accidents that have taken place in Tillamook County recently, this being the third one in that number of weeks. Simpson was working at the county rock crusher at Garibaldi, and a cable that hauled the car with the rock to the crusher broke, and descending rapidly down the rail caught Simpson before he could get out of the way, badly crushing the right leg. The unfortunate man was brought to Dr. Boals' hospital, where the leg was immediately amputated, but he did not survive the operation.

Annual School Meeting.

The annual meeting of the school district was held on Monday at the high school building, there being a good attendance of taxpayers and patrons. Mrs. A. C. Everson, chairman of the board, presided. The first business was the election of a school director and clerk. Mrs. Everson and C. J. Edwards were voted upon for school director, the former winning by a vote of two to one. Mrs. George Willett and Ira C. Smith were nominated for clerk and the latter was elected. Fred C. Baker and T. H. Goyné were appointed to audit the accounts of the clerk. R. W. Watson made a plea for a central heating plant for the two school buildings, and emphasized on the danger of fire from the present heating plants and the danger from explosion from the boilers. F. J. Stranahan and Mrs. Stranahan and R. F. Zachman also advocated the same. Mr. Zachman estimating the cost of about $6,000. Fred C. Baker stated that as the schools were costing over $20,000 annually, these matters should be considered from a taxpayer's point of view, and as it was something new sprung on the meeting, he asked the board whether it was necessary. H. T. Botts said it was not absolutely necessary, but it would be a fine thing, but in estimating the cost it generally exceeded the amount. R. W. Watson then made a motion that the board make an investigation and report in one month the cost of a central heating plant. There were over 50 persons present and on a vote being called the chair was in doubt, and on a rising vote 12 votes for and 7 against the resolution.

Mr. Watson made a pertinent remark that it was those who had no children attending the school who voted against it, to which Fred C. Baker took exceptions. Fred Minich, the janitor, knocked the argument out of those who had contended that one boiler was dangerous and liable to explode, when he stated it was in good condition, had stood a water pressure of 75 pounds and all the pressure that was needed for heating was 10 pounds.

A New Survey of Oregon.

One of the most pressing needs of Oregon today, in the way of general information of importance to all of us, is an adequate survey of the state. It is almost astonishing to learn that in our entire history, there has never been produced a single map made by Oregon engineers of Oregon geography. All maps or surveys have come to us from eastern publishers, and to any one at all familiar with the actual facts as to the political and natural features of the commonwealth, these outside surveys are hopelessly grotesque.

As an instance of the service we have been receiving, the common maps show not less than fourteen of our thirty-five county boundaries, grossly incorrect. The last new county is not shown at all. No indication of the great settlement of lands in Central and Eastern Oregon is to be found.

We have six great featured state highways, like the Columbia and Pacific, but none are even hinted at. We have a great agricultural development throughout the Willamette valley and elsewhere, with a network of county roads pointing to it, yet no roads are to be seen. Our sixty live, operating logging roads, representing our first and chief industry in the state are scattered over the coast, but not one can be found on the map. And these are but few of the many things we need to have shown on an adequate survey.

We were greatly interested this week to learn that at last this matter has been taken in hand by some of our Oregon engineers, and that a state map has been prepared that is both accurate and adequate.

The map is made in Portland, where access is easy to all government and state records, and is as accurate and complete as it is possible to obtain. It features in a very striking way, the six Great State Highways and the main county roads connecting with them; gives the logging roads; forest trails; correct county boundaries; all towns and postoffices up to May 1st, and all other details of importance to any citizen of the state. It contains fully one thousand more points of information than any survey yet produced and this is just one hundred per cent increase in this respect. This is a map every citizen of the state may well be proud of, and should possess. We have been delighted to secure one for ourselves, and advise you to do the same.

TILLAMOOKERS ATTENTION.

We Need Your Support.

All signs point to some mighty good baseball in Tillamook this season. The fans have arranged with some semi-professionals as well as some professionals who have stepped with the best to come to Tillamook County for the season. They are gentlemen in every sense of the word, clean-cut chaps and we are very anxious to arrange work for some of the boys and hope that all Tillamookers will co-operate to the extent of helping us find some kind of employment for these players in order that we can boast of having the fastest amateur team in the northwest. Any work you have in mind at the present or in the near future will be considered a big favor by notifying H. Millis or the Headlight office. The boys are entitled to the moral and financial support of all people who love the great American game. When Mr. Millis' name is attached to the management we all know that it means real baseball—the classy kind that's worth looking at. Lets all get behind the fans and boost and help locate jobs for the players who are coming to help give Tillamook a winning team.
