GRANT LANDS TAXABLE.

Portions in Use by Railroads are Still Subject to Taxation.
Lands included in the Oregon railroad grants which are still in use by the railroads are subject to taxation by the state, but all lands which were reverted to the Federal government June 9, 1916, are not taxable by the state. This is an opinion given by Attorney-General Brown in answer to a request from the State Tax Commission. Lands used for right of way, 100 feet on each of tract and those used for depots, yards, sidetracks, etc., were especially excluded from the reversion, and are therefore subject to taxation, the attorney holds.

To Exchange.

Residence, San Diego, good income also sixty acre farm Yuma Valley for stock ranch near, cost.—Address P.O. Box 7 Gadsden, Ariz.

S. Platt Jones.

Too bad that George V. and his distinguished relatives, the Kaiser, and their belligerent contemporaries could not have attended a chautauqua with S. Platt Jones holding the platform down, before they proceeded to shoot each other up. It is a sinch that there would not be any war. You can be happy and fight at the same time.

At one chautauqua while Jones was holding forth to an audience that could scarcely contain itself, there was an old crab who had not laughed for forty-two years. He could have eaten oats out of a churn dasher. It was necessary to take nine stitches in his face following the program.

Jones appears on the opening night of the chautauqua and when you hear him you will understand the slogan of the talent who succeed him—"Keeping up with Jones."

Card of Thanks.

We want to thank our friends and neighbors who so kindly assisted us during the illness and death of our beloved brother and uncle, also for the beautiful floral offerings.
P. Luthi and family.

Gallotta Trio.

Every time anyone comes away from a concert by the Gallotta Trio, there is fresh in the mind an appreciative sense of having received something a little finer than one usually ever dares to hope for. The reason is at hand. Music in itself is not a variable. Its interpretation in individuality is the stamp of distinction in music the same that is in the other arts. The personal touch of each member of the Gallotta Trio has the rarified charm of restrained artistry. They play with that exquisite taste which edges one's hunger for more, a hunger that devours but can not be appeased.

Vincenzo Gallotta, is of the younger school of concert violinists. His European reputation was established and his fame preceded his arrival in this country. His playing seems literally to lift and suspend an audience upon his tones until some moments after he ceases playing, and people just look their silent approval toward each other, and secretly wonder whether they will ever hear his like again. Fern Goltra, the lyric soprano, and Mrs. Gallotta, pianist and accompanist, perfect for chautauques, an isosoles triangle of merit.

Ernest J. Sias.

Ernest J. Sias is the community development expert who captures his audience with the first word he speaks. Then he keeps them keyed up to follow him. Sias is a dynamo of workable facts, charged with wit, witicism, bristling with epigrams. He is a hustling, bustling sort of fellow possessed of an "extreme" business purpose that is catching, as the measles. At the same time that he touches the risibles, he shoots in some homely truths that sticks. Sias gets you so close to the brass tacks of home town boosting that you feel them, and are impelled to move whether you want to or not.

Mr. Sias brings no utopian ideas for your delatation. He adheres strictly to workable demonstrations of business and civic improvement with which he has either personally effected or has thoroughly familiarized himself. By reason of his success in this field, Ernest J. Sias has become a favorite with the Chambers of Commerce and Boards of Trade throughout the country.

Mr. Sias fills a vital portion of the chautauqua, the community development phase of chautauqua being a special impetus to improve conditions in your community. You will also find Mr. Sias fully as entertaining as he is instructive.

J. J. Powell Meets With Accident

From Buhl Herald:
J. J. Powell received a broken leg in a runaway Friday evening as he and Mrs. Powell and daughter were driving home from Buhl. The accident happened between the railroad crossing and the Burley corner, when the coupling came loose from one of the shafts which frightened the horse and caused him to run. Mrs. Powell and little daughter were thrown from the rig, but were uninjured except for being shocked and bruised.

As the shaft of the buggy dropped to the ground, the horse attached to the single rig started to run. Mr. Powell held onto the lines and tried to stop him, but his foot slipped into the front wheel of the buggy, and broke the bone in his leg above the knee. He was dragged several feet. Mrs. Powell and daughter were thrown out later when the horse turned the Burley corner and the wheel struck the fence, freeing the horse from the vehicle.

Medical attention was called and the fractured bone put in place. The injury was painful to Mr. Powell, tho he is getting along fairly well at this time. Mr. and Mrs. Powell came here from Tillamook, Ore. about nine months ago. Mrs. Powell is a sister to Mrs. Rudy Kunze.

Notice to Creditors

Notice is hereby given, that the undersigned has been appointed executrix by the County Court of Tillamook County, Oregon, of the estate of Henry Zurflueh, deceased, and all persons holding claims against said estate are hereby requested to present the same to said executrix, duly verified as required by law, within six months from the date of this notice at the office of George P. Winslow, Attorney at Law, Tillamook City, Oregon.
Dated this May 25th, 1916.

Louisa Zurflueh,
Executrix of the Estate of Henry Zurflueh, deceased.

It is difficult to make large masses of Americans believe that there are many men in this country who would not willingly give up any position and sacrifice all other considerations in order to become president of the United States. Yet when Charles Evan Hughes once more became a private citizen, following the ermine to become a candidate for the presidency, he wrote: "I have not desired the nomination. I have wished to remain on the bench." There is a singular touch here of fate, overcoming personal inclinations. For we can well understand that any individual with the temperament, the tastes and the inclinations of a man like Mr. Hughes with his life dedicated to the calm study of federal and constitutional law, there can be little keen desire to get again into the hurly-burly of the political arena.
