 Julius Steger, the eminent dramatic star will be seen on the screen at the Gem Theatre Saturday and Sunday in "The Blindness of Love" a strong Metro wonder play in five acts. The story of this feature is in keeping with the type that have made Mr. Steger famous as a supreme artist of roles and tenderness. He essays the role of an itinerant piano tuner, after his fortune has been swept away through the profligacy of a son, to whom he is blindly devoted. Mr. Steger is supported by an unusually strong cast in which George Le Guere, the noted juvenile actor, and Grace Valentine, an artist of rare ability, are featured. Others in the cast include Walter Hitchcock, Edgar L. Davenport, Maud Hill, Charles F. Bothold and Harry Neville. "The Blindness of Love" promises to be one of the distinct novelties of the season. It was produced by the Rolfe Photoplays Inc. under the direction of Charles Horan.

Reeher Family Reunion.
 A most pleasant event took place; August 27, at Wilson, Oregon, when a reunion was held at the White House of all the members of the Reeher family. There were the parents James F. Reeher and wife, ten children and twelve grandchildren. The children are Mrs. C. R. Prater, of Dayton, Wash.; J. Arthur Reeher, Mrs. Amy R. Gibbs, Mrs. C. A. Hoyt, Ben. H. Reeher and wife, Max M. Reeher, Howard A. Reeher and the three young daughters, Helen, Julia and Genevieve. Of the twelve grandchildren six are boys, six girls all under ten years of age.
 A most excellent dinner was served and many photographs taken. Most of the family were entertained at the old home for several days. The last time they were all together was at the wedding of the daughter Amy, over seven years ago. Max could only stay one day as he leaves for Stanford the 29th of August.
 Such happiness and such a reunion does not often occur in this woeful world, but this large family intend to meet once in every few years at least.

Can Women Save

The financial strength of the home often lies in the thrift of the wife who become the money saver that lays the foundation of the family's prosperity.

The man may know that each dollar contains 100 cents but he hasn't the knack of making a dollar go just a little farther and laying-by the difference regularly in some good bank like ours.

The wife knows no short cuts to wealth but it content to have faith in the old-fashioned way of spending less than you make and banking the balance for a time of need

We shall be glad to assist any lady or anyone else to open either a savings or checking account.

It pays.
