

HOLSTEIN BREEDERS MEET.

Address on How many a Woman Help Her Husband in Dairying.

Members of the Holstein Breeders Association met at the home of its president Chas. Kunze on Monday and took up matters of importance to the Association.

It was decided to send Mr. Kunze and County Agriculturist Jones, East at once for the purpose of purchasing a car load of registered Holstein stock for distribution among our farmers. Mr. Kunze and Mr. Jones are now on their way east.

The meeting was a very enthusiastic one. A splendid dinner was served and much enjoyed by all.

Following is an address given by Mrs. B. A. Folks.

How many a woman help her husband in dairying? Is a question which each one to doubt thinks may be easily answered. If this question was asked a number of persons individually the answer most generally given would be, "Take a bucket and stool and help milk."

But it has come to an age when this is not the help most needed. The average farmer can hire what help he needs with the milking and chores or may even own a milking machine.

I do not wish to belittle the woman who milks or to speak lightly of the work of milking. It is a worthy occupation and one through which we will all be able to enjoy the comforts of life. I think it very creditable for the wife to be willing to help milk when by so doing the price of hired labor may be applied toward paying for their home.

Every dairymen should know his cattle, know their ancestors and what they are accomplishing, know what to feed and when and how to care for his stock that may be able to produce the most.

To do this means study. We cannot get the results others at the front are getting if we continue in the way of our forefathers.

We must study to know of each new idea advanced and purpose achieved and be ready to apply it in our work when the first opportunity comes, when we study we must have some ideal in view to work toward we all wish to exceed others in production. To accomplish this we have an unending line of study before us.

The family lines should be well known, the results attained by their crossing—such as knowing that the Pontiac Korndyke combination excel in percent of fat and that the Colantha Johanga Aggie combination lead in milk production.

Our husbands come in tired each evening from the work outside and after supper is over and they are comfortably seated by the fire it is very hard to gather the necessary literature together and begin studying alone.

Here is where the wife can be of greatest help. Perhaps the day's mail has brought the 'Holstein Friesian World' or 'The Black and White. If she will look these over she will be sure to see many topics that are so interesting; new world's records, histories of different Holstein Friesian families, ways of feeding, new barn and silo suggestions, stories of different great breeders and their herds and the many pictures of animals, their records and pedigrees. By saying, "Wouldn't you like to hear me read this story of Woodlake farm owned by John B. Irwin, Minn; or have you read of the Santa Anita Ranch in California which occupies 3,500 acres, just look at these pictures of the herd and farm building; or have you heard of the new record, May Echo Silva gave 1005 lbs. of milk in a week with the thermo 40 degrees below zero. A man in Canada owns her.

You will find it will take only a very little encouragement to get the husband interested when the wife is, but if the wife is not interested the husband is surely handicapped.

By working together this study hour becomes a pleasure looked forward to, a common interest for a common gain.

A leading Holstein Dairy paper recently stated that, "The practical Holstein breeder who has come to the front, in nine cases out of ten owes success to the help of a good wife.

We have a fine example of this in the life of Mr. and Mrs. M. H. Gardner our Superintendent of Advanced Registry. Here is a man who was a leading breeder and agriculturist before he accepted the position he has now held over ten years.

Though he is totally deaf he is able to carry on his great work through the aid of his wife, who is a chief helper in the office and accompanies him in his travels and interprets to him on her fingers as the lecture or message is spoken.

These are some of the ways that I believe a woman can best help her husband in dairying.

There are others of course such as dairy papers to be kept on file and herd registers to keep, this last one is something most of us are only doing in a crude way but the time will come if we advance when each one here will have a complete herd book. This means time accuracy and promptness.

So now as the long winter evenings are drawing near, let each wife try to be a special help to her husband in some line of study, whether it be new barn and silo plans or pedigree of stock owned and stock desired, or winter feeding. We all know the value of a balanced ration but let us not be like a prominent rancher who said when asked if he believed in feeding balanced ration, "I sure do, I weigh every feed and do not let one cow have any more than another.

BEAVER NEWS.

School district No. 8, of Beaver, held a special school meeting at which W. N. Bays was elected to fill the vacancy made vacant by Mr. Kinnaman's removal from the neighborhood.

The Beaver high school is making fine progress. There have been two new students enrolled, Ruby Johnson, for Wolf Creek, and Roy Payne, a home student, this making a total of eleven students. There were twelve in school until Lucila Leslie moved away from Beaver.

Wednesday afternoon, at 2:30 o'clock, occurred the wedding of Miss Bessie Payne and Mr. Roy Saling, at the Christian church of Tillamook. Mrs. C. C. Curtis, wife of Rev. Curtis, of the Christian church, performed the ceremony. Both are highly respected young people of Beaver. In the evening a dainty supper was served at the home of the bride, to which relatives and a few friends were invited. Their many friends wish them a long and happy married life. They will make their future home in Beaver.

Walter Anderson and family, of Tillamook, have moved to this place where Mr. Anderson has rented the barber shop previously occupied by J. W. Leslie.

Mr. and Mrs. William English, of Salem, Oregon, are spending a few days visiting Oscar Myers and family.

The business of installing Beaver electric lights is now progressing rapidly. The dynamo has been installed in the power house, and several houses, also D. W. Gilbert's and R. E. Wilson's stores are being wired. Clent King and Oscar Johnson are doing the wiring.

F. B. Mckinley, wife and son made an auto trip to Portland taking with him J. W. Leslie and family, who are going on to points East.

The young people of Beaver surprised Roy Payne Wednesday night, October 11, the occasion being his seventeenth birthday. All had a pleasant evening after which refreshments were served.
