

FATAL ACCIDENT.

Editor Wellington Killed at Kodak Cut in Auto Collision With Freight Train.

Editor Wellington, of the Bay City Examiner, met with an accident on Wednesday morning that cost him his life. He came to the city soon after midnight on Tuesday, and assisted the Headlight staff at the city hall complete election returns, where he remained until about eight. He left soon after to return to Bay City in his auto. Walter Doty, of Bay City, accompanied him. Wellington was at the wheel of the machine and the auto was traveling from 25 to 30 miles an hour. When he reached the Kodak cut at Juno, whether Wellington attempted to cross the track or was unaware of the approach of a freight train will never be known. He, however, appears to have had some idea that there was danger ahead for he turned his auto to the left before it reached the track. The auto had partly succeeded in crossing the track, the two front wheels being on the opposite side, but the cow-catcher of the engine of the freight train struck the car near the door and threw the car on the cow catcher. Both Wellington and Doty were thrown out of the car, the latter getting a grip on the cow catcher with his head downward between the engine and the car managed to hold on until the train was stopped. Wellington was thrown out over Doty, but fell on the track about 177 feet from the place where the car was first struck, and was badly mutilated. One leg was cut off and his head mashed up. The train was stopped as soon as possible and the mutilated remains removed. Doty had a close call, having escaped with a few bruises. He was able to return to his home at Bay City. One of the brakemen on the train saw the car coming and was surprised at the great speed it was going and looked to see whether it had succeeded in getting across, when he saw it on the cow catcher.

Wellington is a married man with one child, and his wife was in Portland at the time of the accident. Justice of the Peace Stanley, who acted as coroner, was notified, as well as Dr. Boals and Sheriff Crenshaw, who went to the scene of the accident. The remains were taken charge of by undertaker Henkle, and brought to the city.

Silver Wedding.

On Sunday last, the congregation of the German Reform Congregational Church, met at the farm house of their pastor Rev. Paul Ebinger and assisted him and his good wife in celebrating their silver wedding anniversary. About fifty friends were present.

The Ladies Aid of the church prepared a fine dinner which was much enjoyed by all, and a splendid musical program was rendered.

The congregation presented Rev. Ebinger and his wife with 25 silver dollars and many other valuable silver gifts were received.

A message of congratulation was sent to Miss Gertrude Ebinger, the day being her 19th birthday.

Rev. Ebinger and wife came from Switzerland, and have been in this county for the past 39 years.

Birthday Supper.

The "Birthday Supper" given at the Guild Hall by the ladies of the Presbyterian Church last Friday evening was a decided success from every point of view. The patronage of the many friends of the community was greatly appreciated by those in charge. These ladies have a name for presenting things of a novel and attractive, and never fail to please when it comes to supper and service. The hall was arranged with twelve tables, each one representing a month of the year, and appropriately decorated. The idea called for each person attending being placed for supper at the table representing the month in which his birthday occurs. A brief description of the table decorations and the names of those originating and presenting over them are as follows:

January—A hugh snowball, colors of green and red on snow white cover, Misses Hilma Johnson and Gertrude Ball.

February—Cherry tree and cherries, hatchets, flags, Mrs. Fred Poorman and Mrs. Frank Hadley.

March—Green ferns, lion and lamb, shamrocks, pipes, the "blarney stone" green steamers, Mrs. R. C. Jones and Mrs. Gruber.

April—Dolls, Easter eggs, rabbits, ferns and Easter lilies, Mrs. Jennie McGhee and Mrs. Bristow.

May—May poll with dolls at ends of ribbons, and May baskets, Misses Constance Hoskins and Fay Hill.

June—Wedding cake, miniature bridal party, hearts, flowers, and large bell suspended above, Mrs. Frank Heyd and Miss Feldschau.

July—Uncle Sam and Miss Columbia represented by dolls, generous display of flags, cannon, firecrackers, Mrs. Conover and Mrs. J. E. Youel.

August—Miniature sand beach and bathers, tennis, vehicles, and details, Mrs. Dale, Mrs. Franklin and Mrs. Wiley.

September—Sheaves of grain, autumn leaves, golden standard and steamers, Mrs. E. M. Bales and Miss McNair.

October—Jack-o'-lanterns, black cats, assorted fruits, and details of halloweep, Mrs. Kennedy and Mrs. Ball.

November—Large arch of crysanthemums, basket of fruit, turkeys, and Thanksgiving details, Mrs. J. S. Lamar and Mrs. W. J. Hill.

December—Christmas tree, large red bows, and display of the season, Mrs. Carl Haberlich.

Under the supervision of Mrs. W. B. Alderman and the assistance of others who had no responsibility for tables, in addition to those mentioned above, it was a very creditable affair and one of unusual interest and profit.

Presbyterian Church.

"Without the Vision the People Perish" is the subject for the sermon next Sunday morning at 11, and in the evening the subject will be "Life's Best Ideal." Five minute talk to the children in first part of service on "Guess Who." Good interest in all the classes of the Sunday School makes the invitation attractive to all who are not already attending elsewhere at the hour from ten to eleven. These services are offered to the public for their benefit and uplift of soul.

Deserved Praise.

The warm praise bestowed by Governor Withycombe on the Eugene flax plant is peculiarly gratifying for the reason that this is a community enterprise, put through by a community organization and meaning much to the future of the community if it is made a success.

In undertaking to promote and carry out the flax experiment, the Eugene Chamber of Commerce entered upon a line of effort not ordinarily attempted by organizations of its kind. It was led to do this because it realized that if flax growing can be demonstrated to be a success in the Willamette valley an industry will be created that will add greatly to the development of that part of Oregon.

It has carried this work forward carefully and painstakingly and in the face of great obstacles.

Flax growing has been a dream in the Willamette valley for many years and a number of efforts have been made to establish it. None of these, for one reason or another, has accomplished much in the way of definite results. If the city of Eugene, through its Chamber of Commerce, can prove that fiber flax production is both practicable and profitable it will have performed a service of great value to the state.—Oregon Register.

Her Son Subject to Croup.
"My son Edwin is subject to croup" writes Mrs. E. O. Irwin, New Kensington, Pa. "I put in many sleepless hours at night before I learned of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. Mothers need not fear this disease if they keep a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy in the house and use it as directed. It always gave my boy relief." For sale by Lamar's Drug Store.
