

What the Editors Say.

Some shoe manufacturer in old Boston predicts "shoes at $30." He surely has in mind feminine footwear. Men will never pay that price for shoes because such a price bears no relation either to the cost of materials or manufacture. There's such a thing as going crazy on high prices.—News Reporter.

Several carloads of Tillamook cheese have recently been shipped East. This is the first time in the history of the industry in Oregon that this has been done. As a result cheese of this brand has reached 24c a pound the highest price ever known here. It proves conclusively that the war affects prices, and not the tariff, as has been argued so much.—Telephone Register.

The air of aristocracy is to be removed from West Point after all these years, and the common ordinary boy is to be given a chance to get a military education. The law now permits an enlisted man to take the examination and enter West Point. It is a long step away from the aristocratic methods that have kept some of the best Americans from a military education.—Polk County Observer.

Laws compelling automobiles to come to a full stop before crossing railroad tracks are to be asked at the coming session of the Oregon legislature. It is going to be difficult, however, to provide a severer penalty than the horrible death that is too often the portion of those who break the natural law of caution and cross railroad tracks without looking for an approaching train.—Oregon Register.

Roseburg today would be a rich prize for some of the half-finished armies of the world to capture, with its countless thousands of plum turkeys hanging in the various buying places, or packed in boxes ready for shipment to far off points. It would be reported with far more exultation than would be taken of a certain number of prisoners, guns and munitions, and the after effects would leave no dead and wounded, unless some hungry son of Mars attempted to eat one all by himself.—Umpqua Valley News

It is not at all improbable that milk will soon be delivered in red bottles, says an exchange, for it has been discovered that while ordinary light hastens the "spoiling" of milk, the red rays prevent it. The violet rays, on the contrary, cause the milk to turn. Pure, fresh milk, or sterilized and pasteurized milk, if placed in an uncolored bottle and left in the full sunlight, is completely spoiled by evening. But substitute a red glass bottle, or wrap the ordinary bottle in red paper, the milk is perfectly good after standing ten hours in the sun.—News Times.

With lumbermen from all over the United States gathered on the Coast, it is evident that the best brains in the country are being brought to bear on the problem of what to do to make the lumber industry more profitable. Undeniably, it is a problem that needs the country's best brains, for the lumberman has been in a bad way for several years. Caught between the market and the nether stone of growing carrying charges, he has been sadly put to it to escape being ground to a pulp, some have not escaped.—Oregon Register.

It is reported that the California jug houses are making plans to fight the Oregon "bone dry" law, which is soon to become effective. We can't hardly blame those fellows, for being a little miffed at the new law for the old law appears to have been made especially for the purpose of laying up a fortune for the mail order liquor houses, but we fail to see where the California liquor interests have any voice in the laws this state wishes to pass. The people of Oregon voted in favor of absolute prohibition, and we are going to have it in spite of any and all private interests.—Banks Herald.

The time honored prescription of "whisky and quinine," which has been the standby and last consolation of sufferers from grip, has been relegated to the waste basket of out of date beliefs by Dr. William C. Hassler, city health officer. "The old-fashioned idea of whisky and quinine as a preventive when symptoms of grip become manifest will have to be abandoned," said Dr. Hassler, in speaking of the grip epidemic. "The rock and rye that our grandfathers swore by is another of date fallacy. It does no good. It acts as a false stimulant, and can not effect anything beneficial or permanent."—San Francisco Daily.

Four sailors from the United States hospital ship Solace bought tickets at a moving picture theatre in Brooklyn and entered. The usher refused to let them sit in the seats they had paid for but offered them a place in the gallery. They indignantly left the theatre and later entered suit for damages. The usher explains as follows: "No decent person would sit in a box with a sailor in uniform. We would not sacrifice our decent trade by having sailors sit in our boxes." The usher's mind—if he has one—and the minds of the men he works for are unfathomable. News reports say the sailors were sober, neatly dressed and well behaved. Their calling is eminently respectable. Their uniform is one which in itself deserves honor. And yet, because they were in that uniform, these decent, clean, young representatives of the nation and defenders of the flag are stigmatized as not fit to associate with "decent" people. The sailors will undoubtedly be victorious in their suit. How any court could rule in favor of such a flagrant affront to the dignity of the greatest arm of the national service, is beyond understanding.—Astorian.

Agitators' Work.

As an evidence of the "inhumanity" of Magistrate Kochendorfer, New York street car strikers are circulating the following from observations made by him when some strikers were arraigned before him:

"In my opinion you are simply, misguided fools, and if I could only have before me the strike agitators, who, by misrepresentations, led you poor, unfortunate men into financial ruin, I would deal with them as their cases warrant.

"It is unfortunate that we cannot have upon the statute books some law which makes it a crime for agitators, for a large salary, or other consideration, to go about among you laboring men and misrepresent matters to such an extent as to lead you to leave our employment.

"Now you have lost your jobs and are out of work. I do not know that you can go back with the railroad company again, and if you cannot—it is your own fault.

"It is about time you workmen realized that strike agitators are not taking any real interest in the laboring men. It is about time you realized that, everyone else in the community realizes it.

"After you loose your jobs, and the strike is over, and you cannot go back you do not find strike agitators standing on the street corners telling you how you can get work again. Their job is completed. They get you out. The strike is over and they go back to their families and you go out walking the street looking for a job. It is about time you realized that."—Oregon Voter.

Weather and Eating.

Compare what you eat in this rainy weather to what you eat in fair weather. Perhaps you think this weather takes away your appetite. It doesn't. It makes you eat more. The November American Magazine explains what weather does to the restaurant business. The writer says: "A study of weather and business has its surprises. For instance restaurant men know that appetites are not the same on a dark, gloomy day as on a day that is bright and cheerful. Natural enough! The surprising fact is that they eat most on the day that is dark and dismal. 'On a cloudy day' an old restaurant man tells me 'people just sit and eat. There is nothing else to do. On a nice day they eat less and hasten out into the open. But the less they eat the more particular they are about the quality.' Not long ago a young woman opened a good little restaurant near the department of agriculture in Washington. Most of her customers are employes of that department. So she does a big business every day, but the rush is greater when the day is the roughest. On a fine day men from nearby buildings walk to restaurants further away, just for the exercise. Those who do not go to other restaurants cut down their eating in order to spend all the time possible in the open air. No one knows just how much business is affected by the subtle influence of weather on human temperament. Dentists find that patients are inclined to be slow to make appointments and quick to break them on cloudy days. A cloudy day is depressing to many persons and they lack the nerve to face the ordeal of having their teeth clobbered. The same thing that hurts the dentists' trade helps the regular pill doctors. A lot of people whose spirits are dampened by the weather, or whose ills seem aggravated, think that if they go to a doctor and purchase an expensive prescription from him they will feel a great deal better."

WOMEN IS HERMIT.

Former Diamond Queen of Chicago Living in Seclusion.

The identity of the hermit of Savin Rock, Conn., which has perplexed New England for many years, has been established by New York investigators. Twenty years ago this little, slim octogenarian was known throughout the United States as Mrs. Celia Harmonie Wallace, "the diamond queen of Chicago." Mrs. Wallace earned this title by the splendor of her jewels and the lavishness of her philanthropy. In one year, 1896, she is said to have given away $320,000, including a $75,000 chapel and a $50,000 altar to the Cathedral of St. John the Divine, in New York city. Later the "Diamond Queen" lost her money and in 1908 she dropped utterly out of sight.

It is nearly ten years since Mrs. Wallace bought a tumble down cottage on Savin avenue, near the Boston post-road which passes through New Haven, Conn. There she has remained ever since. The old lady lives alone doing her own cooking and washing. She is 82 years of age, but her clothes are always of the latest style.

Mrs. Wallace Remarkable Hermit. Neighbors who reside near Mrs. Wallace states that she lives on a pint of milk and a half loaf of bread a day. She has a splendid garden and occupies only the kitchen of her house. In the other rooms the dust is nearly a foot deep, but Mrs. Wallace declares she doesn't need these rooms and does not propose to spend time and energy in keeping them clean.

Mrs. Wallace enjoys being invited out to dinners, but never, excepting once, has she entertained. That time she had as her guest Mrs. Tamberly, who lives on the opposite side of the street. Mrs. Tamberly saved the Wallace home from being burned to the ground on one occasion and thus won the confidence and friendship of the hermit.

Mrs. Wallace always dresses in the latest sport clothes. She has half a dozen sweaters this season and she always wears beautiful austriah feathers and flowers in her hat. She makes all her purchases in New Haven, and dresses up to go to the grocery as if she were going to the theatre. Mrs. Wallace still possess many of her gems, her cut glass and other jewelry. Her business secrets appear to be her own as she confides in no resident of New Haven. She is spy as a girl and insists she is able to look after her own affairs.

GLASS OF WATER BEFORE YOU EAT ANY BREAKFAST.

Wash Poison From System Each Morning and Feel Fresh as a Daisy

Every day you clean the house you live in to get rid of the dust and dirt which collected through the previous day. Your body, the house your soul lives in also becomes filled up each twenty-four hours with all manner of filth and poison. If only every man and woman could realize the wonders of drinking phosphated hot water, what a gratifying change would take place.

Instead of the thousands of sickly, enaemic-looking men, women and girls with pasty or muddy complexions; instead of the multitudes of "nerve wrecks," "rundowns," "brain fags" and pessimists we should see a virile, optimistic throng of rosy-cheeked people everywhere.

Everyone, whether sick or well, should drink each morning before breakfast, a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it to wash from the stomach, liver, kidneys and ten yards of bowels the previous day's indigestible waste, sour fermentations and poisons, thus cleansing, sweetening and freshening the entire elementary canal before putting more food into the stomach.

Those subject to sick headache, biliousness, nasty breath, rheumatism, colds; and particularly those who have a pallid, sallow complexion, and who are constipated very often, are urged to obtain a quarter pound of limestone phosphate at the drug store that will cost but a trifle but is sufficient to demonstrate the quick and remarkable change in both health and appearance waiting those who practice internal sanitation. We must remember that inside cleanliness is more important than outside, because the skin does not absorb impurities to contaminate the blood, while the pores in the thirty feet of bowels do.

PROOF FROM FOREST GROVE.

Forest Grove Citizens Speak out Publicly.

In Forest Grove we find that people are praising Doan's Kidney Pills highly. Being so near by, the statement of a Forest Grove resident is of particular interest. Tillamook People will do well to profit by Mr. Haynie's experience.

John F. Haynie, county road commissioner, Forest Grove, Ore., says: "Several years ago, I was given up to die with complication of kidney and bladder troubles. Words couldn't begin to explain what I went through for nearly a year. After taking about twenty boxes of Doan's Kidney Pills in succession, I was restored to my former, good health and today I can hold my own with any man. I give Doan's Kidney Pills full credit for my present good condition. This medicine has no equal and I always recommend it to others I hear complaining of kidney trouble."

Price 50c. at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Dr. Haynie had. Foster-Milburn Co., Props, Buffalo, N. Y.

HEAR WITHOUT EARS.

Police and Detectives Are Using Lip Reading in Place of the Dictagraph.

Thousands of deaf people are today throwing away all hearing devices and enjoying all conversation. This method is easily and quickly acquired through our system. Absolutely the only thing of its kind in the country. Our proposition is entirely original. Cost is trifling. See what New International Encyclopedia says on Lip Reading. Hundreds of people with normal hearing are taking up Lip Reading for the many additional benefits gained. You can understand what the actors are saying just as far away as you can see them. The eye understands beyond the range of hearing. Send no money, but mention this paper and state whether or not you are deaf. All particulars will be sent you absolutely free and with no expense to you. Address, School of Lip Language, Kansas City, Missouri.
