

SMILE AWHILE.

Two French-Canadians were traveling down a river in a house boat. One of them knew the river and the other did not. They anchored for the night on a bar. Along toward daylight the craft went adrift. Three hours after the motion awoke one of the travelers. He poked his head out of the door. An entirely strange scenery was passing. "Baptiste! Baptiste!" he yelled. "Get up! We ain't here!" His comrade roused himself and looked out. "No by gar!" he said; "we're twelve miles from here."

The Sunday school was being inspected by a very learned gentleman, who was explaining to a class of little boys and girls what was wrong and what was right for the little ones to do. Turning to them at the conclusion he said: "Now, my little ones, why is it wrong to cut off dog's tails?" For some time there was no response, then one little girl stood up and said: "Because of the text, sir."

With a very puzzled expression, he asked: "What text do you refer to, my little girl?" "The text in the Bible sir," answered the bright maiden. Again he racked his memory, but in vain; so, addressing the little maiden, he said: "Well tell me what it is?" "What God hath joined together, let no man put asunder," responded the little one proudly.

Here are two headlines which appeared in newspapers of New York this week.

"Trade after the war will bring United States into the fiercest competition the world has known."—From the Evening Mail of January 4. "British bid lowest for our navy shells—Cuts under the best American offer by $200, and promises delivery in half the time."—From the Times of January 5.

Which would indicate that the competition is not awaiting the end of the war.

"I gave that youngster of mine a toy printing press, a steam engine, a xylophone, a box of paints and some other things to find out if his tastes were artistic, mechanical, literary or what—but the text didn't work."

"Why what did he do with them?" "Smashed them all up."

"Why, man, it's as clear as day—he's going to be a furniture mover."

Bad Habits.

Those who breakfast at eight o'clock or later, lunch at twelve and have dinner at six are almost certain to be troubled with indigestion. They do not allow time for one meal to digest before taking another. Not less than five hours should elapse between meals. If you are troubled with indigestion correct your habits and take Chamberlain's Tablets, and you may reasonably hope for a quick recovery. These tablets strengthen the stomach and enable it to perform its functions naturally. For sale by Lamars Drug Store.

HEAR WITHOUT EARS.

Police and Detectives Are Using Lip Reading in Place of the Dictagraph.

Thousands of deaf people are today throwing away all hearing devices and enjoying all conversation. This method is easily and quickly acquired through our system. Absolutely the only thing of its kind in the country. Our proposition is entirely original. Just is trifling. See what New International Encyclopaedia says on Lip Reading. Hundreds of people with normal hearing are taking up Lip Reading for the many additional benefits gained. You can understand what the actors are saying just as far away as you can see them. The eye understands beyond the range of hearing. Send no money, but mention this paper and state whether or not you are deaf. All particulars will be sent you absolutely free and with no expense to you. Address, School of Lip Language, Kansas City, Missouri.

The Habit of Taking Cold.

With many people taking cold is a habit, but fortunately one that is easily broken. Take a cold sponge bath every morning when you first get out of bed—not ice cold, but a temperature of about 90 degrees. Also sleep with your window up. Do this and you will seldom take cold. When you do take cold take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and get rid of it as quickly as possible. For sale by Lamars Drug Store.
