 S. Watson, chief signal quartermaster of the U. S. N., who was in Tillamook on last Thursday, returned to Portland on Friday with Tom Keys, Orel Thayer, Percy Thayer and John Phillips, all who were to join the U. S. Navy for service. It was reported that all the above boys passed the physical tests with the exception of the Phillips lad, and that the other three boys were immediately routed to Mare Island navy yard to be there transferred to Goat Island in San Francisco bay for training service, preparatory to joining a ship. Sam Moulton's boy who enlisted several weeks ago has been assigned to the Asiatic station. While the recruiting officer was here he made his quarters with Rollie W. Watson, at his office, who assisted in recruiting. On last Thursday afternoon Rollie Watson made an address to the high school students in the auditorium of the high school, the U. S. Navy and its many opportunities being presented as well also, a large framed picture of the Battle of Manila Bay being presented to the school. Mr. Watson served for over seven years in the navy, having been with Admiral Dewey in his fleet 19 years ago when the Spanish fleet was destroyed in those waters. The navy at this time needs some 16,000 men to fill up the ships of the fleet and this branch of the service offers exceptional opportunities for rapid advancement. *
