DEDICATE JULY FOURTH TO AMERICA'S TEN MILLION.

Nation-Wide Registration Furnishes Keynote for Greatest Celebration in History.

How will the program of this year's Fourth of July celebration give fitting recognition to the more than 60,000 young men who have just been enrolled in this state by selective draft?

For the first time in its history the United States is engaged in a great world war, the greatest of all world wars. For the first time in its history, the United States has enrolled as the flower of its young manhood as the first great distinctive step to participation in that great world war.

Ten Million are Ready.

It is not the logical keynote for this year's national celebration of July 4th? Nearly 10,000,000 men have enrolled themselves most of them willingly and with unhesitating loyalty.

These 10,000,000 young men whether they are selected to enter the army or whether they are commended for duty in needful occupations at home, each and all have their names enrolled and awaiting their respective assignments.

The Oregon Farmer believes that the Fourth of July celebration can have no more fitting purpose as its keynote than to pay tribute to this mighty enrollment of America's young manhood.

Will Play Leading Part.

Whether in the war that is now shaking the nations to their very foundations or in the mighty economic and social problems which will follow this upheaval, these young men are to play the leading part. It is to them that the country looks, that not only the nation but the world as well shall, under God, have a new birth of freedom and that government of the people, by the people, for the people shall not perish from the earth.

There have been years when the celebration of our national anniversary was little more than shallow merriment, but this year it must not be so. We are entering upon the greatest war in the history of mankind. Our every resource of men and means must be, and is being, thrown into the conflict against inhumanity.

For the first time in the history of America its young men have been systematically enrolled that they may be assigned to duties in the fields of battle or in the industries at home to render their greatest service to the country and the world at large. Their orders will come, and it will be theirs not to reason why, theirs but to do, and, if necessary, to die for their country.

In this state more than 60,000 are listed, ready to be called hither and to what particular line of service they know not. Can the whole people of Oregon more fittingly observe the great national holiday than by dedicating it to a recognition of the cause to which these young men have pledged themselves; than by dedicating it to the recognition of the dangers they are soon to brave and the honor they are bringing thereby to themselves and their country?

Dedicate to Service.

The Oregon Farmer believes not, and it urges that in every community or village where the day is observed the program be planned with the double purpose of recognition and dedication; recognition of the world-wide call of humanity and of the loyal answer made by those enrolled and those enlisted in the military or naval branches of the service; and dedication of those who go and those who remain at home to the cause of human righteousness.—Oregon Farmer.

Draft Exemption Boards are Named.

Following the announcement from Washington that President Wilson had approved the personnel states Governor Withycombe authorized the publication Saturday of the list of 46 exemption boards in Oregon.

The names of the members of the boards were given out by George A. White, Adjutant-General.

The problem of selecting the members of exemption boards has been a difficult one, and Governor Withycombe has had it under consideration for some time. In view of the good work done by the county registration boards, composed in each case by the Sheriff, County Clerk and county physician, in taking the war census, he finally decided to reappoint them to pass on exemptions from the draft.

Members of these boards in most cases live in the county seat of their county and are thoroughly familiar with conditions in the county. Outside of Portland, also, members of the boards know personally a great many of the men upon whose cases they will have to pass.

Governor Withycombe feels also that the boards he has named will be thoroughly non-partisan in their work and they will not permit any "ball-playing" or politics in any case to influence their decisions.

Should anything of this sort occur, however, the Governor is prepared to act immediately, and summary removals from the boards would follow.

With two exemptions, there will be one exemption board in each county. The two exemptions are Marion County and the city of Portland.

Marion county, having a population of more than 45,000, will have two boards.

The city of Portland will have ten boards. The first nine of these ten boards are the same ones that handled the war census registration there. The tenth board is a new one, formed by dividing one of the former nine districts into two districts. The members of these boards were appointed upon the recommendation of Mayor Albee.

The Patriotism of the American Press.

The service rendered to the government of the United States in the sale of the Liberty Bonds of 1917 by the press of the country is record evidence of the generous patriotism of the newspaper men of America. It is recorded in the pages of thousands of American newspapers, many of them printed in foreign languages, from the largest daily to the smallest country weekly. The newspapers of the country "come across" with liberal donations of space in news, editorial, and advertising columns.

Newspaper men have observed with deep and peculiar pleasure the whole-hearted activity of the men of their fraternity in the country in promoting the sale of the Liberty Loan Bonds. The influence and assistance of all publications in making the loan a success are simply incalculable. Their efforts greatly contributed to making it a double success in that it was not only largely oversubscribed but the Liberty Loan Bonds were placed in every community in the United States, in cities and in remote country districts, in mining towns and manufacturing centers, among farmers and country merchants as well as city bankers and large commercial and manufacturing houses.

It was a great educational campaign. Readers of their county papers in their country homes, and new American citizens from papers printed in their own language, and others just learning our language, who in the evening spelled out the news in the great daily papers, were informed of the purposes and objects of the Liberty Loan and instructed in the nature, value, and terms of Government bonds, especially the Liberty Loan Bonds of 1917. The whole Nation has made a long stride forward in financial education through the Liberty Loan campaign of 1917 as conducted through the press of the country.

The country press which without compensation gave liberally of its limited space is equally deserving of praise with the larger papers. In their respective spheres all classes of publications in the country covered their field thoroughly and well. The press of America can look back on the work it performed for the Liberty Loan as a great public service, ably, thoroughly, and unselfishly performed.

The Round-Up.

"We've come," said the chairman of a political committee in a south of Ireland city, "to ask you to take this nomination. The city needs a man like you—strong, brave, self-reliant, owing no master, fearing no man." The great man was visibly touched. "I'll not deny," he said, "that your kind words have shaken my resolution. I trust that, if elected, I may justify your confidence and prove that I am, indeed, strong, brave, self-reliant; that I owe no master and fear no man. Suppose you wait a minute till I see if my wife will accept."

"Please sir," piped the tiny customer whose head scarcely reached the counter, "Father wants some oak varnish—enough to fill this jug."

It was duly filled and handed back. "Father will pay you next Saturday," said the recipient casually. Then the face of the shopman grew dark.

"We don't credit here," he said. "Gimme back the jar."

Meekly the small boy handed back the jar, which was emptied and returned with a scowl.

"Thank you sir," he said. "Father said you'd be sure and leave enough round the sides for him to finish the job he wants to do, and you 'ave, sir."

IRRITABLE NERVOUS

Was Condition of Indiana Lady Before Beginning to Take Cardui Tonic.

Kokomo, Ind.—Mrs. H. Hankemeier, of this town, says: "I look so well, and am so well, that it does not seem as if I ever needed Cardui. But I was not always this way. . . . I think I have taken a dozen bottles . . . before my little girl came.

I was feeling dreadfully bad, had headache, backache, sick at my stomach, no energy. . . . I was very irritable, too, and nervous.

I began taking Cardui about 6 months before my baby came. As a result all those bad feelings left me, and I just felt grand, just as if nothing at all was the matter, and when the end came I was hardly sick at all.

Since that I have never taken Cardui at all. . . . It has done me good, and I know it will help others, if they will only try it."

Many women have written grateful letters like the above, telling of the good that Cardui has done them. Why should it not help you, too? If you suffer from any of the ailments so common to women, and feel the need of a safe, reliable, strengthening tonic, we urge you to begin today and give Cardui a fair trial.
