

What the Editors Say.

The justice pounded the desk and called loudly: "Order, order! You seem to forget that I am in the room."—Williamina Times.

When Weary Willie waits at the back door with his plea, beginning "Lady could you?" etc., beat him to it with a hoe and rake and a buckswag and such like, and see that he earns more than you give him before he connects with the cats, says an exchange. Set the price of a hand out so high that he will prefer working for wages to grafting where the graft comes high. Either that or show him where the paving gangs are working.—News Times.

The disturbances everywhere in the United States caused by the I. W. W. who are backed with money by German spies, is getting to be a serious problem. Here is an element who does not support the government in any way, hardly a handful of these, if any, pay taxes or are able to assist in any way, and still they are the hirelings of our enemy and try to weaken our cause and prevent victory if possible. If this thing continues this government will be forced to take some severe steps to control this element of disturbance.—Banks Herald.

The American people are commencing to see chances for saving which heretofore have been entirely overlooked. They are being reminded, for instance, that more than a billion dollars' worth of barnyard refuse is annually wasted in this country. Much of this waste is, of course, needless and inexcusable, and when the attention of the people is called to it, especially when backed by the necessity of war, they will try to eliminate it. And in following the motto of "Save the waste and win the war" they will lay the foundation for still larger and more permanent prosperity to the nation as a whole.—Observer.

The Oregon Association for the Prevention of Tuberculosis is doing a fine work in Portland and out in the state in its surveys and its practical assistance to health authorities in the handling of patients. It is also doing a constructive service in co-operation with Oregon's military authorities to aid in the detection of tuberculosis in the ranks of our brave soldiery. This work will be of vital importance after the boys get into sloppy trenches during the wet winters of northern France. No effort for prevention or cure must be spared in any matter that pertains to the welfare of our brave young men. Financial support must not be lacking for this necessary endeavor.—Oregon Voter.

No more effective blow could be dealt the pirate nation by the United States than cutting off the supply of food that has been filtering through neutral nations to Germany. Sweden, Denmark, and Holland have been highways for such freight, Sweden being a neutral nation with an apparent leaning toward Germany, and others probably impartial, their right to trade with belligerents is recognized by international law. But with this country and South America, notably Argentina, guarding against food going to within reach of Germany, old General Starvation will be a heavier contributor to the cause of the Allies than ever before.—News Reporter.

A space-writer for a New York paper appears to be very much upset because of articles appearing in the republican press calling the attention of the country to our increasing imports from Japan. He cannot discover that there is any appreciable increase in our imports of pottery from Japan, under the present tariff law, although the official figures show a 23 per cent increase during the calendar year 1916 over 1915, nine months of which was under the protective policy, while imports of pottery from Japan during the nine months of the current fiscal year, ended March 31, show an increase of nearly 60 per cent over the similar period of 1913, under protection.—Umpqua Valley News.

With the actual draft upon us, there is much speculation as to who will be the first to go from our own community. But whoever it may be, we who remain should see that they are not forgotten by the "folks back home." We should ascertain the camps to which each one is assigned, and then through a home committee see that each is generously supplied with magazines, home papers, comfort bags, cheery letters, and anything that will make life more cheerful to them. No single individual going forth from this community to fight for his country should be overlooked, and all should be shown equal courtesy and attention. This office is mailing the Signal weekly to all those whose addresses have been handed in and it is up to every citizen of this vicinity to do some little thing to cheer the boys along.—Seaside Signal.

Young men liable to be drawn in the draft should read the accounts of the German air raids on London. The Teutonic air virtues again circled that city Saturday and before driven off dropped tons of high explosives which blotted out the lives of helpless women and little children with no military damage that could in any way affect the progress of the war. The picture of a distracted mother searching the ruins of a little home in search of mangled little bodies is not a pleasant one, and the man whose number is drawn can congratulate himself that he has by chance been selected to aid in putting a stop to this fiendishness. Indeed, he may well feel that his selection is a privilege to be welcomed instead of a burden for German ruthlessness on land and sea is the only reason for the army the drawing will create.—Independent.

It will be unwise to become unduly apprehensive, but it will be well for Governor Withycombe and exercise every precaution during the harvest season. Evidence of I. W. W. plots to wreck wholesale damage has been unearthed and it may be possible to carry them out because of the employment of many undesirable. For this reason careful scrutiny of applicants for work should be made, and every care taken to prevent the work of incendiaries. It was only the other day that a Washington county man was sent to jail for failure to register for the draft. He boldly admitted that he was a I. W. W., an organization whose aims are well known. How many more like him are still within the county is not known, nor how many will come in during the harvest, and therefore precautions which may now appear needless may not be out of place. It is better to be safe than sorry.—Independent.

The federal and state governments have joined hands in various sections of the country to suppress the acts of violence and disloyalty of the I. W. W. What steps will be taken to stop the treasonable work of this organization remains to be seen. The I. W. W. trouble throughout the country seems to be due to "walking delegates" or non-working trouble makers. These fellows go from camp to camp, follow an easy life, do no labor themselves, but put their entire energy into stirring up discontent and trouble among those who are working in the camps and mills and mines and persuade them to walk out. Then the "walking delegate" goes to the next place and repeats the act. With this nation at war—a most serious war too—the work of these walking delegates is nothing other than treason to this government. They are doing nothing other than that which will injure this country when every one should be working together in harmony, and we predict the time is rapidly approaching when Uncle Sam will deal with such parties as traitors to the government and put them in the penitentiary or hang them, as they justly deserve.—Hemizer.

A new army of volunteers is coming to the front. The "knights of the grip" proposed to give their vacation to the defense of the nation by working on farms and in harvest fields. They have asked their employers to extend the period of vacation to four or six weeks, and they resolve as follows: "War with all its dread possibilities has come to our country, and our ally, Canada. In preparation for the feeding of ourselves and our allies, the farmers of this country have planted a greatly increased acreage over former years. Industrial conditions are making ever-increasing demands upon all of us to offer ourselves for whatever work appears to be the most urgent. There are actively engaged in the United States and Canada about 600,000 traveling and city salesmen, and of that number about 3,000 in the jurisdiction comprising Oregon, Washington and British Columbia. We favor a vacation of from four to six weeks during the harvest season instead of the vacation usually granted by our employers, during which time we will offer our services as farm hands."—Telephone Register.

When The Truth is Known. In spite of the rigid censorship enough leaks through to make certain that internal dissension prevails to a greater or lesser extent in Germany. The people are gradually becoming aware of the real situation and it is evident that they no longer accept the official reports without question. It is inconceivable that an entire nation could be so transformed as to follow blindly to the end the same course of leaders whose acts have arrayed the world against them, and it would seem certain that the history of Russia will be duplicated. In considering this it must be remembered that there is a vast difference between the two peoples, with all the advantage of education and independent thinking in favor of the German. The latter may have been deceived as to events and may what been dazzled by promises, but let him once clearly face the situation as the world knows it to be—that, be the time long or short, Germany and her allies are certainly beaten—he can be expected to imitate the Russian. With the truth once known the German people will clearly see that nothing is to be gained by prolonging the war and its continuance can only mean gradual lessening of men and material resources. Already the effect of American assistance is apparent in both fronts, and while there may be delay in this throwing the military weight of this country into the balance, when it is developed and used the central powers cannot hope to successfully withstand it. It is probable that no one knows this better than the Kaiser and his generals, but they have created a situation from which they cannot withdraw and have probably determined to fight on to the bitter end. For them peace at once or a year hence will have the same meaning, for a disillusioned and deceived people will hold them to strict account when they know the truth. But immediate peace will be very different for the German people, for it will save valuable lives and avert total ruin. When they understand this they cannot be expected to follow blindly to the end. Some already understand and hence the muttering. The only question is, when will the truth be known.—Hillsboro Independent.

TESTED AND PROVEN

There is a Heap of Solace in Being Able to Depend Upon a Well-Earned Reputation. For months Tillamook readers have seen the constant expression of praise for Doan's Kidney pills, and read about the good work they have done in this locality. What other remedy ever produced such convincing proof of merit?

Wm. Tupper, 1009 Furr St., Hillsboro, Ore., says: "I have tried several kidney medicines, but I have found that there is nothing equal to Doan's Kidney Pills. I am more or less subject to kidney trouble and lame back. At times, sharp twinges catch me in my back and when I get down, I can hardly straighten up. After I have taken a box or two of Doan's Kidney Pills, my kidneys act all right, and my back feels as strong as ever."

Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Tupper had. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.
