Washington, July 21.—Congressman Hayley is advised by the board of engineers for rivers and harbors that it has recommended that the port of Tillamook be relieved of its obligation and bond to maintain a nine-foot depth in the channel from Tillamook to the present project, a distance of two miles.

Tillamook Boy Joins Army.

American Lake, Wash., July 20, 1917. Mr. John Hathaway, Tillamook.

Dear Friend—Just a line to surprise you and let you know my change. I enlisted in the Quartermaster's Regiment Reserve Corps as Sergeant, and came here in camp the first of the week. Light and the camp life is pleasant, plenty of good wholesome food and a beautiful camping ground. I didn't quit the Southern Pacific but get a leave of absence until after the war.

We have a nice bunch of good clean boys in this camp, as most of them are office boys and leave high positions to serve Uncle Sam.

If you wish you may let the Headlight have this as an item of news as it may interest lots of my Tillamook friends. Best of regards to all.

Your friend,
Sergeant A. Lowry, Q. M. Corps,

Catholic Priest Arrested.

A little sensation was caused in the city on Tuesday, when it became known that Rev. A. Sherlock, a Catholic priest, had shown a sympathy for Germany in the world war. Quite a number of reports were circulated as to what the priest had been saying, and this culminated in a conversation he had with Captain S. S. Johnson, of the 10th Company Coast Artillery, when the priest said, according to the testimony of John Johnson, that he hoped Germany would win the war. Captain Johnson is intensely patriotic and ready at all times to defend the United States. A disagreement between the two took place. The priest threatened to do Johnson bodily harm, and phoned that he was on his way down town to carry his threat into execution, when he was intercepted by Sheriff Campbell who arrested and swore out a complaint against the priest. In a conversation with District Attorney Coyne, who asked the priest whether his sympathies were with Germany or the United States, replied that he hoped Germany would whip England and give an evasive answer as to how he stood in regard to the United States. He was bound over to the grand jury, the bond being placed at $1000. The priest is of Irish extraction, and it is probable that he will be taken in hand by the federal authorities, as several complaints have been filed against him.

Buyers' Week in Portland.

"Business as usual" is the slogan adopted by the Portland merchants who are to participate in Buyers' Week for the fifth time. They will entertain their upstate friends August 6 to 11.

The slogan fits in with President Wilson's idea of going on with the usual occupations of the people and letting the war department and Congress run the war.

Conducting "business as usual" leaves the ordinary citizens in position to respond to special calls for his time and money when the President and the country need them.

"Business as usual" will keep the country sane and strong to meet the emergencies of the war.

Buyers' week at Portland this year will be a conference of the business men of the Northwest over war conditions, as well as an inspection of the gigantic stocks of goods carried in that city.

An interesting feature is to be the inspection of the shipyards where wood and steel vessels are being turned out, and the offering of an opportunity for every merchant to secure first hand information as to the influence this industry is going to exert on all lines of business. It has already stimulated the lumber camps and mills, and the immense number of mechanics it employs is creating a steady demand for products of every section of the northwest.

JUSTICE CAN'T PAROLE.

Attorney-General Renders Opinion to Game Warden.

Salem, Or., July 21.—In response to inquiries from State Game Warden Carl D. Shoemaker, and State Fish and Game Commissioner, F. M. Warren, Attorney-General Brown holds in an opinion forwarded today that a Justice of the Peace has no power to parole, pardon, or permanently suspend the sentence of a person convicted in his court, but declares that each justice may temporarily suspend a sentence pending development as to application for pardons, or similar matters.

The Attorney-General also holds that for a Justice of the Peace to attempt permanently to suspend a sentence is not such a move on his part as to warrant procedure to have him removed because of malfeasance in office.

The remedy, states the Attorney-General, when a Justice of the Peace wrongfully suspends sentence is by mandamus to compel him to carry out the judgment of the court.

The new road would be about the same length as the present road and four miles west of the river road.
