Miss Dick, a concert player and piano teacher of Portland, has decided to locate in Tillamook. Miss Dick will be heard in recital in the near future, after which she will accept a limited number of pupils. Any one desiring to make early arrangements for lessons can do so by seeing Mrs. Koch.
The Rosenberg Bros. of this city received word last week to the effect that an uncle and aunt and cousin and wife of Grand Rapids, Mich., had met death while crossing a railroad track in an automobile. Their engine became stalled on the track and before they could get out of the car a fast express train came down on them, crushing them to death.

Next Monday when school opens the boys and girls will be just as glad to get back into school as they were to get out last May. There is no indication that the war conditions will have any effect upon the attendance of the high school except in the case of those who joined the Coast Artillery, and many are coming from other parts of the county to fill the gap.
Friday evening, Mr. and Mrs. Alex McNair gave the Scottish drummers and pipers a reception at their home, and which a number of citizens attended, it being a regular Scotch party. The visiting pipers and drummers made themselves at home rendering Scotch music and telling stories, and the whole party joining in Scotch dances. Everybody enjoyed themselves.

The ladies of this city who are anxious to take active work in Red Cross work have not been successful in obtaining a permit to start a chapter in Tillamook, but they are still hopeful and exceedingly anxious to do so. It seems that the headquarters have been started at Seattle for the Red Cross, and it up to the gentleman in charge to decide whether Tillamook will be allowed a chapter or become connected with some other place.
Here is an opportunity for school children and others to earn some pin money. B. C. Lamb is wanting several tons of evergreen blackberries and will pay 3 1/2 cents a pound for them. There are hundreds of tons of evergreen blackberries in Tillamook county and this offer of 3 1/2 cents a pound should be the means of a large number of pickers getting busy. See Mr. Lamb about picking as soon as possible.

Attorney G. P. Winslow returned from Salem on Monday, where he had gone on account of the serious illness of his mother. While in Salem Mr. Winslow saw the Public Service Commission in regard to the Southern Pacific making railroad connection with the Electric Railroad at Tigart. Connections can now be made from Salem and other points in the valley in the morning, but it entails several hours delay going to Salem from here on the morning train.
A meeting of the ladies was held this week for the purpose of taking an active part in the Oregon Council of Defence, and it was decided to hold a registration in the city hall on September 15. The Women's Committee's statement and Governor Withycombe's proclamation will be found on another page. Tillamook women will, we do not doubt, respond very generally to Governor Withycombe's appeal for them to register September 15 for such service as they can render the country. There is no obligation which takes a woman from her home or community. Whether one hour a day or one hour a week, purely voluntarily and unpaid, or whether for paid employment at home or elsewhere, the governor desires to ascertain who of Oregon's women can render some form of service, any form in fact. This work is similar to that of the Red Cross and is possibly quite as important.

A meeting of the Tillamook County Creamery Association was held on Monday, when a number of the cooperative cheese associations were represented. The object of the meeting was to ward against the cheese makers being drafted into the army. There are about 17 cheese makers that are liable to be called when the next draft is called, and should these cheese makers be selected it would leave the cheese industry of Tillamook county in a bad way. The Secretary (Carl Haberlach) was instructed to write to the exemption board.

Dry Spell Broken.
Just as we go to press this morning weather conditions looked favorable for rain, for after a long spell of dry weather the long looked for rain began to fall and every Tillamooker will be glad if it turns into a good soaking shower.

Drowned in Trask River.
Eugene Knight, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Knight, was drowned in the Trask river on Tuesday afternoon. He was bathing in the river, and Dorris and Lois were with him at the time. When about to jump off a log he said to his sisters "see me dive." He did so and came up once. The body was recovered about 30 minutes after the accident. The unfortunate lad was only seven years of age. The funeral services will be held this afternoon at the Christian Church.

The Tanks at the "Movies."
There was a large crowd at the Gem theatre on Wednesday evening, when the management had "The Tanks" in action at the battle of Ancre. The first part of the program was devoted to army and navy preparations in the United States, which gave some interesting pictures. The pictures of the battle of Ancre proved highly interesting and gave a graphic description of what is taking place at the front and the difficulties that are encountered by the Tommies, who are putting up a determined fight, characteristic of the English people. Everybody should see these pictures. They will be reproduced tonight (Thursday).

Sues Southern Pacific for $30,000.
A suit was filed in Multnomah county on Tuesday in which Mrs. Ethel C. Wellington claims damages aggregating $30,000 from the Southern Pacific Company, whose husband John Wellington was killed at the Kodak crossing on the morning of November 8, 1916. Wellington was the editor of the Bay City Examiner, and it was while returning from here in his auto that he collided with a freight train, killing him on the spot.
It was the day following the presidential election that Wellington was killed. He came to Tillamook several times during the night in his auto and the last time was about five o'clock in the morning, when he assisted the Headlight staff at the city hall compiling election returns, returning to Bay City about eight or nine o'clock, and it was on this trip that the fatal accident happened.

COUNTY FAIR PREMIUMS

In the Cattle and Dairy Department.

Secretary Erwin Harrison has been unable to prepare a complete list of those who won prizes at the Tillamook County Fair last week. Thus far the premium list of the cattle department, dairy department and swine are complete, which we give below and the prizes won in the other departments will be given next week. The grand champion prize winners for cattle were James Williams, W. H. Hoskins, B. A. Folks and R. W. Watson. Albert Wade, of the Cloverdale cheese factory, won the first prize in the cheese scoring contest, while Charles Kunze won first and second prize in the milk test competition.
Mrs. I. H. Moore won first prize for butter and Mrs. Peter Jenck for whey butter.
There were several good grange exhibits. Fairview took first prize; Pleasant Valley, second; Nestucca, third; and Sandlake, fourth.
Seven schools outside of Tillamook were represented. The Geinger school south of town took first prize in the two room class; Sandlake took first prize in the one room class; the Academy took first prize in its class; and the Tillamook school took first prize in its class.
There were two individual farm exhibits. Both were good. R. Y. Blalock secured first prize and C. E. Donaldson second.

Comments on The Tillamook Fair.

Tillamook has reason to be proud of her County Fair. As an index to the life of the community it shows a greater appreciation of united action, and, consequently, a greater financial prosperity.
When the writer acted as judge for the first time three years ago he found much to be desired both in the quality of the exhibits and in their arrangement. Now great improvement is noted especially in the excellence of the products and in the system under which they are classified. Mr. Harrison, the secretary, is to be complimented especially upon the manner in which he has handled the difficult problem of changing from one system of classification to another. It is to be hoped he may be persuaded to act in this capacity again next year and be able further to perfect the system.
This brings up the serious subject of frequent change of fair officials. The jobs of fair board directors, fair manager, secretary, and department superintendent require a lot of work. This work is often unappreciated and seems "not worth the candle," as the saying goes. The results, however, are more far reaching than they appear. Naturally, after a man has served a year as one of the above officers he becomes tired of the strenuous work and the large amount of time consumed and wants to let someone else take his turn.
The result of such change is that the fair does not profit by its mistakes. A new official has to learn by experience and can make many improvements in his line of work the second year as a result of such experience. Every officer competent to fill his position should serve at least two years and should break in an understudy to follow him. In this way the results of experience can be carried on from year to year.
I cannot refrain from adding a word of appreciation of the extraordinary growth of community spirit which is manifest at the fair. There seems to be a strong desire to top the market in all things that Tillamook specializes in, from cheese and dairy cattle to hogs and potatoes. Such a wide-awake spirit of co-operation and improvement speaks well for the future prospects of Tillamook. As I look back upon the last three years and note the splendid advance during that time it seems to me no small credit for this advancement is due to the untiring efforts of your County Agriculturist, R. C. Jones, and I am glad of this opportunity of saying so.
Walter S. Brown,
Judge of farm, orchard and grain exhibits.

An Auto Accident.

On Wednesday afternoon of last week, at about 5 o'clock, while going home from the fair, Mrs. Frank Owens, of Cloverdale, accompanied by her daughters Edith and Viva, and sons Elmer and Howard and a niece Miss Zella Kerry, of Forest Grove, suffered, what came near being a fatal auto accident. The accident occurred near the south end of the pavement leading from town and was caused by a cow which was feeding along the road side, suddenly jumping into the road and starting across the road in front of the auto. Howard who was driving the car, did his best to run around the cow, but failed, striking the cow on the hind quarters. This caused the car to swerve to one side and roll completely over, landing right side up. None of the occupants were seriously injured, but they were all badly shaken up and bruised somewhat. The top of the car was completely demolished, and it was badly damaged otherwise. No one seems to know who the cow belonged to.
