Boulder Creek.

The teachers and pupils of the Boulder and Brown school districts gave a very enjoyable little entertainment at the Magarell hall on All Halloween. The evening was fine and there was a full sized crowd in attendance. The young performers went through their parts real well, considering the short time they took for preparation.

R. Y. Blalock hauled out a load of flour, sugar, etc., Monday for some of the farmers hereabout. D. R. Tinnerst brought his wood-saw out from Fairview last Wednesday and has been sawing wood at Blaine and in this neighborhood, the past week.

A Slam From Pat.

Two Englishmen were driving an old, lean, wasted cow along a road in England, when they met an Irishman coming toward them. "You ought to buy that animal Pat" said one of the owners. "How much do you want for her?" "Fourteen pounds."

An Ascension Likely.

Two friends met after an absence of some months. "What are you doing now" inquired Bill. "Working for a powder factory." "Good job isn't it?" "Well 22 shillings a week and prospects."

Have Your House Wiring Done by Coast Power Co. DONE RIGHT at RIGHT PRICES.

Keep Clean... Theford's Black-Draught... Mrs. Maggie Bledsoe, Osawatomic, Kan., says: "Black-Draught cured me of constipation of 15 years standing, which nothing had been able to help."

NEW YORK'S SKY LINE.

A Riot of Architecture in Its Jagged Forest of Towers. The best of New York is against the sky. We have not an equally arrayed town like Paris or London, with a tolerably even roof line and only a few monuments here and there rearing heads above the ruck.

Restlessness and activity are its watchwords. Even our private houses are stood on end. A few millionaires can afford to buy a block and spread out their homes so as actually to look rooted to the ground.

Mere change in the manner of the bander log is not the real spirit of New York's sky line, however. It is turbulence with a method. Contest, rivalry, the will to beat out one's neighbor, stick out in every jutting cornice, in every soaring tower.

THEIR SENSELESS DREAMS.

An incident which occurred at the very beginning of Nicholas II's reign is very characteristic of the attitude of the former emperor toward any share of the people in the government of Russia.

A deputation of the foremost representatives of the Russian nobility was sent to bring congratulations to the new emperor. Very bright hopes were connected with the ascendance to the throne of the young monarch after a period of gloomy reaction during the reign of his father, Alexander III.

The delegates, composed of highly respected and venerable elderly gentlemen, numbering several hundred, was lined up in the big hall of the Winter palace in Petrograd and kept standing in a military order and in complete silence for more than two hours.

Nature's Protection For the Ear. The membrane lining the canal of the ear contains a great number of little glands which secrete a waxy substance having an intensely bitter taste.

Teachers From the City. Flatbush—I see a lot of New York society women are traveling about telling the farmers' wives how to can and preserve.

Tip For Shoe Lace. When the tip has come off a shoe lace just dip the loose end in household glue and press hard between the fingers to a long pointed end and let harden well.

She Was Cruel. They seated themselves at a restaurant table. "Will you have a little shrimp?" he asked.

Tact. On fact the last word was spoken by Barbey d'Aureville when he said: "If tact could be bought only those already possessed of it would want to buy it."

The Kind. "That pretty girl makes quite an affecting picture when she cries." "Yes; a regular moving picture."—Baltimore American.

MYSTIFYING MILLIONS.

Puzzling at First, but It Was Really a Very Simple Matter.

A number of years ago, when the names of subscribers to the then recently issued 3 per cent bonds were being sent in to Washington, one subscription was received from Oregon, which the authorities supposed to be signed with an assumed name, Ten Million.

A prompt reply came from Mr. Millon, written upon paper bearing the letterhead of the firm of Millon & Millon. He explained that he was born a Million and was the tenth and youngest child of the family.

Some of the brothers and sisters, as they grew up, had modified the too arithmetical simplicity of their names a little. He himself was commonly known as Tennis instead of Ten, and his sisters, the Misses One and Three, had become, certainly to advantage, Una and Trio.

The explanation was ample and sufficient, and the bonds for which he had subscribed were duly registered in his rightful name, but the government clerk who recorded the transaction read his record over several times and breathed a sigh of relief when he was quite sure he had it unmistakably correct.

COFFEE AND THE POETS.

Why Has the Muse So Shamefully Neglected the Morning Cup? If the ancients had known it there would have been a tumultuous cult of the goddess Coffee, and the choruses of Euripides would have been sung by Cofferantes.

The coffee bean is indeed less beautiful than the grape clusters, and the coffee grinder is less romantic than the wine press, but there all inferiority ceases.

Poets have neglected coffee, partly because poets are greatly under the influence of tradition, partly because coffee is a hard word to find a rhyme for. One had hoped that vers libres would give scope to coffee lovers.

But in Pope's day coffee was an affair of afternoon, and company did not appeal to romantic sentiments as breakfast coffee does.—Henry Dwight Sedgwick in Yale Review.

Chemical Wealth in Lakes.

There are several lakes in the United States which contain sodium carbonate, borax, potash and common table salt. Perhaps the best known of these is Great Salt Lake, Utah's ocean of salt.

Changing an Opinion. Many men can rightly assert that their opinions do not change, but they are not wise in boasting of the fact. It shows too often that they have learned nothing since the day on which they reached their opinions.

Naturally. "Old man Butts is always running down his son's school, and I believe it is because the boy is always at the foot of his class."

Cause For Thought. "The boss said I was brilliant, so he put me among the diamonds."

A Long Lived Dwarf. Mary Jones, who died at the age of 100 years in 1773, was two feet eight inches in height.

When you bury animosity do not set up a headstone over its grave.—Dickens.
