To put German Kultur into a nutshell, it means this: Germany to rule the world, kill off most of the people in other countries or make slaves of the remainder.

So the Argentine, which had not exported cheese to the United States before, sold American buyers 448,000 pounds last August, with, no doubt, a big increase since then, coming into the United States free of duty under the Democratic free trade law, in competition with Tillamook cheese. No wonder there is something wrong with the cheese market.

Hooverize your Christmas presents this year. Buy useful articles, and if you have any money to spare give it to the Company Fund, Red Cross or Y. M. C. A. Don't waste money for trumpery and useless articles but do a bit of Hooverizing and you will be doing another bit to help win the war. New clothing, useful articles for the home etc., is what the people are buying this year.

Most newspapers with pronounced patriotic views, appear to be offending pro-Germans. There is no neutral ground for anyone to take in the war, nor can anyone straddle the fence. It simply amounts to this. One is either a patriotic, loyal citizen or an enemy of the United States, and the sooner pro-Germans are gathered up and placed in detention camps the better. That appears to be the sentiment of a large number of newspaper men.

Good roads boosters are still determined to have another election to bond the county, and as the people of the county are still overwhelmingly in favor of bonding, give each district an equal amount of the bond money, taking money from the appropriations to prepare the road bed and the bond money to be used only for hard surfacing. That would give each road district a square deal and a fair distribution of the bond money, $200,000 to be expended this year and $200,000 next year.

The budget meeting is scheduled for Saturday, and it is hoped that it will pass off without strife. What is best for the county as a whole should be the prevailing sentiment, especially in permanent road building. It was no easy job in preparing the budget this year, for the County Court, owing to the technicality in the bond measure, had to appropriate a large amount of money to cover the county's share of the cost of the five miles of hard surfaced road now being built by the State Highway Commission, which, of course will delay road improvements in other parts especially in road district No. 2.

It depends a great deal upon whose ox is being gored. Suppose the pastor of the Catholic church had taken considerable interest in school, county and city elections, and had done some pulling to get some of his congregation into public office, we will gamble dollars to dough nuts that some of our good church goers would have had a dozen fits or more, and raised an awful agitation about the activities of that church. But that is just what some of the preachers have done in this city not many moons since. It depends a good deal upon whose goggles one looks at the matter of preachers interference in school, city and county affairs, and to which church one belongs.

We called attention to the necessity of Hooverizing in regard to church work in small towns, where there is a waste of money and effort in maintaining small religious organizations. Now we are going to point out the necessity of Hooverizing in regard to our telephone systems. There is no need or necessity to have two telephone systems in Tillamook County and they should be Hooverized. Instead of the Mutual Company asking that the rates be increased, it should have petitioned the Public Service Commission to compel the two companies to get together on a sell or buy proposition. Let's Hooverize our churches and our telephone systems, and we will call attention to other matters that can be Hooverized later.

The law which gives road districts authority to levy a special road tax probably meets the requirements where counties are divided up into small road districts, but not so in a county like Tillamook, which has only three road districts. For that reason we have never advocated invoking that law in this county, for we are well aware of the fact that the law could be abused, and badly abused, should a few influential persons attempt to do so. Supposed by way of illustration, that citizens of this city took it into their heads that they wanted additional money for road work, in all probability they would outvote the other part of the district at a public meeting. This law should be changed so as to give persons in different parts of the road district a chance to vote the same as any county election.

Tillamook County was a little slow in getting started in Red Cross work. That was not the women's fault, for most of them were keen to start Red Cross work. Branches are being formed in all parts of the county and the women are taking hold with earnest interest and a desire to do their bit to help Red Cross work. Every woman in the county should join the Red Cross and participate in some small way to lend assistance to the boys who have been wounded in the war. It will not be long now before United States soldiers will be in the thick of the fight, and when we read the long list of casualties, with thousands of men killed and wounded every day, it is going to require an enormous amount of surgical bandages and other necessary articles to relieve the suffering of the men who have been shot down in this dreadful war. This is why so many women all over the United States have been preparing for and the women of Tillamook county are wanting to do their part. Next week will be a good time for the women of the county to join the Red Cross, for a drive for membership will then take place. Everybody join the Red Cross.

We are inclined to think that it would be a good plan if road districts Nos. 1 and 2 made a start in putting down a few miles of hard surfaced road every year, starting at a point where travel is heaviest. There is considerable travel between Hebo and Cloverdale, and somewhere in that vicinity would be a good place to make a start in the south part of the county. And in the north part of the county, it seems to us that in the neighborhood of Brighton and Wheeler would be the proper place, on account of the industrial activities on the south side of Nehalem bay. It is only a few years since that district No. 2 started in to put down small stretches of hard surfaced roads, and every year since this is being added to. If road districts Nos. 1 and 3 would make a start with a mile or so next year it would be adding to permanent road construction, for it is going to take a number of years to do considerable hard surfacing without state aid or a bond issue. The best and most economic plan is to bond, for that would save the heavy cost of maintenance on the highway through the county. The citizens would then have the benefit of the hard surfaced roads the next two years, otherwise it will take many years to build a hard surfaced highway through the county.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy.

STRENUOUS COUNTING.

A Case of Fight or Marry That Had a Happy Ending.

William Kenrick, a Berkshire gentleman of 100 years ago, left his property, which was considerable, to an only daughter. This young lady had a mind of her own and, finding none of her suitors to her liking, simply determined to wait until the right gentleman should come along.

It so happened that one day she attended a wedding at Reading, where she met a young gentleman named Benjamin Child. He was a poor attorney. With this handsome young man the young lady fell violently in love, but still she was cautious. She reasoned with herself for several days, trying to shake herself free of the sudden passion, but all in vain.

Then, feeling that something must be done, but unable from confusion of mind to devise a proper course, she took the extraordinary step of sending the young man a letter demanding satisfaction for alleged injuries. She appointed a time and place for the hostile meeting.

Mr. Child was much surprised and quite at a loss to conceive who the challenger could be. By the advice of a friend he decided to go to the dueling place. Here he was met by the young woman, who, much to his surprise, told him he would have to fight her or marry her. He naturally chose the latter, and, as the saying goes, they lived happily ever afterward.

WHEN MEN GROW OLD.

One Sure Sign Is Said to Be an Increasing Waistline.

When does a man get old? What are the signs? Some will say instantly gray hair, baldness, stiff knees, shortness of breath, and so on. An eastern authority rejects all of these as proofs of age and cites doctors to prove that there are two invariable signs—an increasing waist line and a decrease of physical agility. These indications may not show themselves until a man is forty or fifty, but they may manifest themselves at twenty-five. Whatever the time, the man is old.

This is rather an arbitrary ruling, but it has a sane basis no doubt. There are many men, of course, who by force of nature rather than any care of their own, retain a spareness of figure until they are far along in life, and usually with this slimmness is activity of movement. But the average man not engaged in active physical labor that keeps superfluous flesh down is extremely likely to develop increased girth in comparatively early years, and, whether or not it classes him among the old or even elderly, it does take him out of the realm of youth. However youthful a man may feel, no one longer mistakes him for a boy when that big waist line comes.—Indianapolis Star.

Fame and Shyness.

In his book, "A Soldier's Memories," Sir George Younghusband tells a typical story of Rudyard Kipling and Cecil Rhodes.

It was during the Boer war, when they came to camp and introduced themselves unconventionally. As they were leaving the soldiers gathered to see and cheer them.

Said Cecil Rhodes hastily:
"Take off your cap; they are cheering you."

Said Rudyard Kipling:
"No, they are not. They are cheering you. Take off your cap."

Then some one at their elbow suggested:
"I think they are cheering you both."

Whereupon both, clinging close together for support, shyly took off their caps.

The Handy Man.

The "jack of all trades," known familiarly as the handy man, is a serious drawback to the industries of the United States, because his knowledge and training are not based on the fundamental rules of any craft. Such men are the bane of any industry, and more especially of high grade machine shops, for their work cannot be relied upon. Doubtless it is a good thing to know something about everything, but the perfect mechanic and high grade foreman is the man who knows everything about something.—George W. Bowie in Industrial Management.

A Good Trick.

Dashaway—You say your sister will be down in a minute, Willie. That's good news, I thought she might refuse to see me, as she did the other day.
Willie—Not this time. I am mad at her and I played a trick on her.
Dashaway—What did you do?
Willie (triumphantly)—I said you were another fellow!—Pearson's Weekly.

An Undiscovered Best.

"Are you getting well paid for your work?"
"No. That's why I'm not doing my best work. Seems to me nobody ever is willing to pay enough to find out just how good I can be."—Detroit Free Press.

Misplaced.

He—At the club a notion was made to buy a handsome velvet carpet, but it was laid on the table.
She—What a queer place to put a velvet carpet!—Baltimore American.

Small Waist.

"The idea is for every housewife to make the waste as small as possible."
"Well, they can't beat my wife for tight lacing."—Kansas City Journal.

Just the Same.

"Dascher selected his wife as he would pick out a mojarcar."
"And he has been busy buying accessories ever since."—Puck.

Information Wanted.

The undersigned would like very much to learn the names of any couple (man and woman), that walked over the Neahkanie trail from Tillamook beach resorts to Seaside, Oregon, during the week of Sept. 7th to Sept. 14th, I would like very much to learn the names of the parties that were picked up by a jitney driver and taken to Seaside. The man being lame. This couple was picked up near Ecola.

Would also like to learn the names of couple that were rowed across Nehalem Bay by a young man on Monday morning, Sep. 10th, said couple saying "that they wanted to reach Seaside that night." The man was lame. Information from anyone knowing anything concerning the above will be greatly appreciated and help to either establish the death, or the elopement and runaway of couple, supposed to have been drowned at Garibaldi, Oregon, on the Tillamook Bar, Sept. 5th or 6th.

CAPTURED BY RODENTS.

A Group of Islands Off Cape Horn Now the Property of Rats.

Within the last generation a unique rat colony has grown up in south Georgia, a group of bleak and barren islands of about 1,000 square miles, in the Atlantic ocean several hundred miles east of Cape Horn. In the three months of the short warm season a little tussock grass grows, and this formerly supported a considerable number of rabbits, with a few small mammals of other species.

In the last century the islands became the center of the whaling industry. With a favorable summer several thousand whales are brought to the nine stations, and the carcasses, after the outer blubber has been stripped off, are set adrift along the shore.

The first rats, escaping from a sealing vessel, were introduced twenty-five or thirty years ago. They found the best of shelter in the peat and tufts of grass, and with an unlimited food supply in cold storage in the enormous field of rotting flesh they have multiplied in millions, notwithstanding the rigors of the winters.

At the time when the rat is being fought as a great menace to the world's health the development of this rat stronghold offers a problem of peculiar interest.—Exchange.

THE SENSATION OF PAIN.

It Is Felt in the Head and Not Where It Seems to Be.

Where do you feel the pain? asks the doctor. In my finger, in my ear, in my foot, the sufferer replies, and if the physician told him he did not feel it there, but in his head, the average man would doubt the doctor's sanity. Yet the doctor would be right.

In an address at the University of California Professor G. H. Parker of Harvard told the students that we have been obliged to give up the idea that sensations are spread throughout our bodies, for persons who have lost a limb often feel sensations that seem to come from the missing member.

"Our sensations," said Professor Parker, "are not located in the peripheral parts affected, but in the central nervous system, and within that portion of it known as the cerebral cortex." This is the outer layer or gray matter of the brain. One may lose an arm, yet have the sensation of pain in the hand, but if a small piece of that particular part of the brain to which run the sensory nerves from the arm be removed, one will never again feel anything in that arm nor even if the hand be placed in the fire.
