The purpose of the book is to show that the system of frightfulness, itself the greatest atrocity, is the definite policy of the German Government, so sinister that the German soldiers have themselves at times revolted. Individual acts of wanton cruelty and barbaric destruction are cited only to illustrate the operations of the remorseless system.

The book supplements the Bryce report which was the first official survey of the path of horror, ruin and death left by the German army on the lands of innocent and defenseless people. The book is supplemental also to the offical reports by the Belgian Commission and the French Minister of Foreign Affairs, and it reveals more of the damning German war philosophy as expressed in the German White Book and various official utterances, extenuating revolting crimes on the grounds of expediency and the advancement of that "Kultur" which now mocks its own name throughout the civilized world The humanity of German soldiers was so torn by the system of brutality that they cried out in letters to Ambassador Gerard, one expressing his protest against the slaughter of the Russians in the Masurian lakes and swamps by saying. "There is no God, there is no morality, and no ethics any more; there are no human beings any more, but only beasts."

The illuminating reports of Brand Whitlock, Minister of Belgian, tell of miseries inflected upon the Belgian people, Mr. Whitlock saying: "One is so overwhelmed with the horror of the thing itself, that it has been, and even now is, difficult to write calmly and justly about it."

Herbert Hoover, writing for this book of his experiences in Belgium, says: "The sight of the destroyed homes and cities, the widowed and fatherless, the destitute, the physical misery of the people but partially home in his uniform that settled the nourished at best, the deportation of men by the tens of thousands to slavery in German mines and factories, the execution of men and women for the flag at the front "over there paltry effusions of their loyalty to their country, the sacking of every resource through financial robbery, produce of the country, the denudaand textiles; all these things we had to witness, dumb to help other than the land have given a nobler six than long and terrible time, and still these lives, boys of our blood and bone who And 'e's only fighting yours are not the events of battle heat, but are fighting the fight in the trenches An "e gives 'is life for you without a the effect of a grinding heel of a while we wait at home alone. ### This Wonderful Instrument

OW much is spent in your family for Christmas presents given to one another? Amounts to a substantial small presents given to one another? Amounts to a substantial sum in the aggregate, doesn't it? And, after all, many of the gifts aren't perhaps exactly appropriate. So often they reflect the donor's tastes rather than the recipient's.

between the living artist's rendition and that of the record. This is not a mere claim; it is a demonstrated fact. The famous tone tests in which thirty great musicians sang or played in direct comparison with the New Edison's Re-Creation of their respective inter-pretations proved the truth of our assertion. Out of more than a million listeners, not one could tell when the voice left off and the record began.

Come into our store and hear the wonderful instrument. The proof of the New Edison is in the hearing. And think over our suggestion of its purchase as a
