The Thrift Stamp Drive.

At a meeting of the state executive ommittee and county chairmen of he Oregon War Savings Stamps organization, plans were outlined for a statewide house to house thrift canvass to be made during the week of March 19 to 23 inclusive. The canvass will be in no sense a drive for money, Yolunteer workers were a unit in their conviction that in keeping with the purpose of the thrift campaign as outlined by the Federal War Savings committee, the house to house visit should be in the nature of an educational undertaking. The object of the canvass will be to explain to every householder the virtues of thrift, particubrough the medium of thrift stamps and War Bavings Stamps.

Most people who read the news dispatches as they appear, day by day, have become fairly well acquainted Saling, the holder of certificate of the property covered thereby sold in with the fact that the beef packers of delinquency numbered 1061 issued on the manner provided by law, and the Chicago and elsewhere are again unthe 10th day of February, 1917 by the proceeds of such sale applied to the der investigation. But that is a mere side issue, the clever way in which Mr. Hency gets the advertising from the reporters who follow and vorship in his wake. The fact is that the packers again are under investigation. This is not the first time. There is nothing new about the packing industry that could be brought out that would be sensational. We have heard it too often.

But there is another way of looking at it. Mr. Hency seems to be trying to convict the packers of working in close harmony, of combining in restraint of trade, of getting together in their business dealings. Evidently it is assumed that such a thing is evil, is status of the packing industry with that of the railway industry must not months ago and railway pooling was unlawful. Now railway pooling is considered a economic necessity to try to work out some sort of respectable, feasable plan from the railway chaos. The government itself, that formerly tried to put railway managers in jail for pooling, now insists on pooling as one of the factors to successful government operation,

How about the packer? About the time Mr. Heney gets through advertising himself as the greatest little pork packer prober that ever was, is it not likely that the government will come along and take over complete control of the meat packing business all over the nation just as it has the railway business? And then there will be combination in restraint of every-Ibody connected with the business except the farmer who kills his own cows -Mining Gazette,
