Administrator's Notice to Creditors.

Notice is hereby given, that the County Court of the State of Oregon, for Tillamook County, has appointed the undersigned administrator of the estate of Paul Kingston deceased, and all persons having claims against said estate are hereby required to present the same, with proper vouchers, to me, at the office of T. H. Goynne, an attorney at law, in Tillamook City, Oregon, on or before six months from the date of this notice.

Announcement.

I hereby announce my candidacy for the nomination on the Republican ticket for County Commissioner, to be voted on at the primaries to be held in May, 1918. If nominated and elected I promise to the best of my ability to promote all efforts for the development and advancement of Tillamook County.

To The Voters of Tillamook County

I wish to announce that I will be a candidate at the next primary election for the office of County Commissioner for the South part of the county on the Republican ticket. I believe in good roads, and will use my best efforts in seeing that roads are constructed permanently and built economically, if elected.

To The Voters of Tillamook County

I herewith announce myself as a candidate on the Republican ticket at the nominating convention to be held in May for the office of County Commissioner. My motto: "A square deal all around."

Pay For the "Grub."

We have been looking for you to come in and settle your account. You got the "grub". We need the money. You intend to pay eventually, why not now?

Notice.

Bids will be received by the Common Council of Tillamook City on Saturday evening, February 10th, 1918, at 8 o'clock p.m., for a dumping ground for the city rubbish. The council reserves the right to reject any and all bids.

Chester White Swine.

I have a few breed gilts for sale, and also a few young boars, large enough for service. I must move these at a price that you should not miss so as to make room for my spring pigs.

Cheese Maker Wanted.

The Pacific City Creamery Company will consider bids for a cheesemaker for this season. Work to commence about April 20, 1918. Send bids to Crystal Bays, secretary Woods, Oregon.

Why not have "speechless" days in Congress?—News Reporter.

Don't worry because you have to pay two cents on every dollar you made last year above $2000 for the income tax. The man who made two million has to pay 63 cents out of every dollar on most of it.—Coquille Sentinel.

A Massachusetts congressman brands the house of representatives as a useless and expensive barnacle and resigns his place on one of the committees. It is to be noted however, that he did not reduce the expense by resigning that part of his job that has the salary attached.—Oregon Register.

It is announced that sewing machines are badly needed in France. What's the matter with enlisting a regiment of old time sewing machine agents? After they disposed of their wares they might be sent to the front where, unless they have lost form, they could talk a few hunns to death.—Umpqua Valley News.

An exchange tells the story of a boy who was sent to market with a sack full of rabbits, lingering around town all day and coming back without selling them. When asked by his mother why he had not sold the rabbits, he said no one asked him what was in the sack. How many of our merchants are like this little boy? They have plenty of goods for sale, but fail to tell the people what is in the sack. If you expect to sell goods in this day and age, you must open your sack and keep shouting the merits of your stock in trade.—News Times.

Preparations are being made and the road along financial channels is being securely paved in readiness for the Third Liberty Loan campaign which will be opened in the near future. The banks of the country have been asked to purchase $3,000,000,000 of Treasury Certificates in advance of the Liberty Loan campaign and every bank in the country is expected to respond, so that there may be no lack of funds for war purposes. It is already reported that the financial institutions of our country will not be financial slackers. The certificates will draw 4 1/2 per cent, which makes it a good investment.—Banks Herald.

The memory cost of our Civil war was about $8,000,000,000. The present world war has already cost $100,000,000,000. Those of us in America who feel that we have felt the pinch of war should remember that for every dollar we have spent for war purposes (including loans to our allies), Great Britain has spent $7.00, France $5.00 and Germany $6.90. Nor should it be forgotten that both our population and national wealth greatly exceed those of any of the three. We can well afford to save and lend. We must save and lend, if the Hun hordes are to be kept from dispoising our nation.—Itemizer.

The Oregon division on public information has issued a statement in which it asks the people to be careful about to whom they talk to at any time. Germany has a lot of spies in Oregon who are eagerly picking up any sort of information. Therefore if you know anything, keep it to yourself, or tell it directly to a representative of the government. This organization has also found another series of lies about the war. Stories are being circulated that unnamed privates have been sentenced to long terms in prison for minor offenses, that a number have been shot for insubordination, and that certain officers have confiscated the supplies sent over for somebody's boy. Supplies are reaching the boys as fast as they can be sent over, and all court martials are reported in the press. No sane American is barred from honest criticism of the government and its conduct of the war, but do not pay any attention to the silly stuff of the character of the foregoing.—Telephone Register.

It is said our Canadian friends are concerned that the squelching of W. J. Bryan be taken as an affront to the United States. Their concern is unfounded. When they made it plain to Bryan that they wanted none of him they merely echoed what is undoubtedly the majority sentiment on this side of the line, for this nation is now reaping the fruits of his folly. Given a great position he failed to measure up to it and after blundering and clumsily making the moves on the diplomatic checker board during the greatest crisis the world has ever faced he was kicked out of office—completely discredited as was possible. The promoters of the Toronto meeting blundered in placing him on the program. Canada has suffered grievously and was in no condition to a man who refused to see the Hun as the rest of the world saw him and pretended that absurd peace treaties should be substituted for arms even after the enemy had declared treaties to be scraps of paper, to be broken when military necessity demanded—the man who closed his eyes to the Belgian atrocities and the drowning of helpless women and children by Hun undersea sharks. But the Canadians unwittingly did Bryan a service, for they were the means of returning his name to the front pages of the newspapers for a day at least. Since his diplomatic fiasco the press has left him severely alone, and it is well known what this must have meant to one whose daily movements were chronicled for a quarter century. The publicity was undesirable, but he is likely to have considered it better than no publicity at all.—Independent.

Facts About Non-Partisanship.

This non-partisan stunt in Oregon is a queer insect, any way you take it. To begin with, no politician ever talks non-partisanship unless he knows that he is on the minority side. If his party is on the long end of the lever, never a pep do you hear out of him about non-partisanship—unless he's in bad and knows it. It's party all the way through with him. But the minute that he feels himself "slipping" or the moment that it begins to be borne in upon him that he is a "deader" among his old friends, then it's to the non-partisan scrap heap with him in a hurry. He no longer believes in party, and immediately he begins whooping "er up for "patriotic non-partisan action," or some other such.

This is the stunt that has reduced the Republican majority in Oregon from 60,000 to a negligible number—around 6000 at the last election. This is the stunt which has destroyed the party organization in Oregon and left the state at the mercy of every shyster who can make a noise like reform, or can put over some high sounding scheme or "ism" on the dear people.

The way the thing works out is disclosed to some extent by a recent incident. W. H. Hornbrook of Albany, desires to become the Democratic national committeeman from Oregon—and here's hoping he gets it. But does he preach non-partisanship, as his brethren have been doing in this state for these many moons? Not he. What he does say in his slogan to attract votes is this:

"I am for Woodrow Wilson; a thorough organization; a united Democracy." And there you have it. "A thorough organization." Non-partisanship is for the Republicans; the Democrats propose to have none of it. In short, non-partisanship is merely, molasses to catch flies.

And why is Mr. Hornbrook for Woodrow Wilson? Democrats have been likening Wilson to Washington, and Washington opposed more than two terms in the presidency. If they are to carry out the similitude, Mr. Wilson can not very well be a candidate again, so that Mr. Hornbrook's slogan, so far as it refers to Wilson, is more "molasses."

Stripped of all this excess of sweetness, then Mr. Hornbrook's slogan merely means, in plain language, "I am a Democrat, and believe in any method which will insure success for the Democratic party."

And there you have the essence of non-partisanship, as it has been practiced in Oregon since the days when W. S. U'Ren conceived the idea of swatting most everything in sight, and putting all his swats into the constitution. Non-partisanship is a game which the minority party plays in order to camouflage the issues, and make things appear what they are not. In other words, it is the furlone hope of politicians grown desperate in the knowledge of certain defeat by legitimate means. To be sure, it's sugar coated, but so are many other bitter doses.—Polk County Observer.

Traitors in Camp.

The reported discovery of enemy aliens in the national army at Tacoma is not surprising. What we have learned of the methods of German spies during the last three years makes it seem quite natural that some of them should have volunteered or permitted themselves to be conscripted for the purpose of murdering officers and betraying the army when it reaches the front. That is the characteristic method of propagating kultur.

What is surprising, however, is the statement that these men have been discharged from the service, and that "the interment or prosecution of them rests with the federal civil authorities." Is, then, conspiracy to commit murder and to betray our army to the foe a mere civil misdemeanor, to be dealt with after the manner of an attempt to evade the income tax or to send prohibited matter through the mails?

We should have thought that such offenses, committed by men in the military service, would be dealt with summarily by the military authorities, and we should have thought that there would be no question whatever as to the proper penalty for all found guilty. To talk about mere interment of such venomous vermine is an affront to loyalty and to justice, and is an encouragement to further acts of treason.

Surprise, a blank wall and a firing squad—that is the proper prescription for every traitor found in camp.
