Fire destroyed the home of John Naegeli, east of town on Saturday, with the furniture as well, which was a complete loss, with the exception of a few small articles. It is a mystery now the fire originated. Mr. and Mrs.
Naegeli and children were in the barn when the fire was discovered, and the house being so full of smoke it was impossible to enter. It was only a few minutes before the house was one mass of flames. Neighbors hurried to the scene and the Tillamook Hose Company rushed there as quickly as possible and preventing the fire from extending to the barn. The house was partly insured, but the fire is a bad loss to Mr. and Mrs. Naegeli. They wish us to thank the neighbors and the Hose company for the valuable assistance.

our Grand Chancellor's first official the most lasting, therefore let us give him a good impression of our large

D. T. Edmunds vs. F. R. Beals is a suit filed in the circuit court to enjoin and restrain the defendant or representative from obstructing streets in Pacific City, and claiming $400.00 damages. The complaint alleges that Beals, on the 1st of December, 1917, without any lawful right or authority fenced up, built and maintained various structures, and otherwise obstructed each and all of the said streets, pretending to claim the exclusive right to use same and forbade and now forbids the plaintiff, the members of his family, and the plain-tiff's guests and campers to use any and all of the streets going from the plaintiff's hotel, camping grounds or store to the river or beaches. That the defendant, with the help and assistance of various agents and employees, continues to maintain the obstruction of such and all of the streets and unless he and they are enjoined and restrained from maintaining the obstructions the business of plaintiff will be destroyed, and his holdings and premises will so depreciate in value that the plaintiff will become bankrupt and his property and business worthless.

Fruit Cannery Assured for City.

Roy Graves, of Sheridan, has decided to install a fruit canning factory in this city. For several weeks he has been in communication with the Tillamook Commercial Club, and on Friday his brother C. S. Graves, of Dallas, came to Tillamook and took up the matter personally with some of the members of the club, with the result that this city is to have a fruit canning factory erected as soon as possible. The factory will be located in part of A. K. Case's building.
It is the purpose of Mr. Graves to put up as many evergreen blackberries as possible the coming fall, as well as loganberries. We understand that 4c. per pound will be paid for the berries. Over 100 tons of blackberries were shipped out of Tillamook county last year, and Mr. Graves would like to obtain more than double that amount this year. Should the logan berry growers in the vicinity of Beaver decide to take their berries to the cannery, this will mean at least 50 tons. It is also proposed to can vegetables as well.
Last fall the Commercial Club tried to induce a number of persons to plant a few acres of loganberries, but very few consented to do so, notwithstanding that County Agricultur-ist Jones, H. H. Rosenberg and the president of the Club made several trips to sections of the county where land could be put to profitable use by planting loganberries. The club could have procured a good contract for the growers had the people of the county taken the matter up, but now that a fruit cannery is to be operated in this city, this will, no doubt, stimulate the loganberry industry in Tillamook county. It is not generally known, but the cannerymen prefer Tillamook loganberries on account of their superior quality.

Merril Smith is looking after Mr.
Graves' interest here and getting the matter in shape. We understand that the cannery plant at Newberg will be shipped to Tillamook at once, which, lacked a boiler, but one has been purchased in this county. Mr. Graves will be here in a day or so, when work installing the cannery will commence.
The blackberry and loganberry industry will give remunerative employment to a large number of women and children, and if they are as interested and as active the coming fall as they were last year, it will give the cannery a good supply of berries.
Last year the season was three weeks late, and should it be earlier this year a large amount of berries can be picked by school children before school commences.
Business Men to Organize for Development Work.
The Liberty Loan Committee, of the Tillamook District, of which D.
L. Shrode is chairman, has organized the business men of Tillamook into an association for speeding up and assisting in all ways practical the industries of Tillamook County which are, or may be, connected with the war purposes of the country.
Last Friday a meeting called at the city hall for that purpose was addressed by a number of gentlemen upon subjects peculiarly within their knowledge. The most interesting talks were by James Feeney, of Feeney-Bremer Co., shipbuilders, and by Captain Morgan, the Inspector at the Tillamook Shipyard, upon the subject of shipbuilding in Tillamook County; by H. T. Botts, City Attorney, upon the subject of good roads and their relation to getting out spruce; and upon A. G. Beals, upon the subject of spruce production.
A startling feature of the address of Mr. Beals was his statement that he owns the finest stand of spruce in this county, if not in the world, was being withheld by the Whitney Lumber Co. from the market.
This timber, said Mr. Beals, was located close to Tillamook City and within six miles of the terminus of the Southern Pacific Railroad in that city. He told of the inaction of the Whitney Company in regard to getting the timber out, and of the refusal of the Whitney Company to consider any proposition from him and his associates in regard to this timber.
Mr. Beals states that if this timber could be made available for use for airplane stock the output of the mills cutting spruce in Tillamook County could be doubled within three months —it would take about that time to extend a railroad to the timber—and that after that time the output of Spruce from Tillamook County could easily be 8,000,000 feet per month, instead of 4,000,000 per month which is the present output of such mills. It seems to him unbelievable that this company would be permitted to continue to hoard this great stand of spruce, 130,000,000 feet, in a compact body, if the facts concerning it were brought to the attention of those in authority of the Spruce Production Division at Washington.
He told of his efforts to interest the authorities in charge of the "Spruce Production Division, with headquarters in the Northwest in the matter and of his failure to get any assistance from them in the matter.
The meeting appointed a committee to investigate this matter and to aid Mr. Beals in such ways as might seem practicable.
Thad Robison, of the Tillamook County Bank and W. J. Reichers, of the First National Bank, also made addresses, advocating promotion work by the business men.
A committee composed of C. J.
Edwards, A. G. Beals, H. H. Rosenberg, Thad Robison and W. J. Reich-ers, was appointed to devise plans for promotion work. The committee met on Wednesday and it was generally agreed that $5,000 should be raised for that purpose. The committee meets again on Friday evening, when it is expected that a plan will be worked out, and which will be submitted to the business men later.

"The Son of His Father" at Gem

"The Son of His Father" is the story of a millionaire railroad man's son, the latter a dissipated weakling called to account by his father. The son retorts that he could make a hundred thousand dollars in six months from a capital of five thousand if he laid aside good principles and followed his father's methods. The father gives him five thousand and tells him to prove it. The son does not apply principles of any kind. He trusts to luck as to where he shall start, seizes a map with his penknife, and finally gets a hunch to go to the Youkon. On the way, while on a train which is passing through Montana, he trusts to luck again, gambles with a sharper and loses most of his roll, proving his lack of ability. He is thrown off the train because of a row with the gambler, and by mere chance a man gets off who picked up the money lying loose during the struggle on the train.

The son shows no ability whatever.
The man who picked up his money hands it back and invites the millionaire's son to his house, where there is a pretty young daughter. There is a land boom depending on where the new railroad station is located, and the "son of his father" has the land boom and the girl soon in hand. He rescues the girl from the clutches of a villain who also wants the land boom, captures his father later on, who comes most fortuitously to that very spot in Montana, and through having a father who controls the railroads, whose private code he happens to know, he is lucky enough to put through the land boom, make a hundred thousand and win the girl. Chas.
Ray does well with his limited opportunity, but it is very limited in characterization.

See the Round Up at the Gem.
In "The Round-Up at Pendleton, Oregon" the special Pathe three reel picture to be shown at the Gem Theatre tomorrow, Friday, April 26, are shown such thrillers as broncho busting, wild horse racing, bull-dog-ging steers, horse breaking by some of the famous cow girls of the West, squa races, roping cattle, and riding them. The observer soon becomes conscious of the great danger to life and limb that these contests impose.
There are several instances where men and girls are thrown so violently to the ground before the camera that they lie senseless and are taken away to the hospital.
In the bucking horse contests there is keen competition since the championship of the world is involved.
One notes that there are many different kinds of bucking. Some horses at once rare, prance, around on their hind legs and fall backward. Some jump around the arena stiff legged.
Others pitch violently with a rocking chair motion. Still others run at full speed and then suddenly come to a stop, frequently flinging their riders over their heads. And as there are many bucking horses and other riders in view at the same time the action is continuous and rapid and there is a thrill every moment.
There is much that is exciting and dangerous about a wild horse race and there is considerably comedy as well as shown in Pathe's three reel special "The Round-Up at Pendleton Oregon," to be shown at the Gem Theatre Friday night April 26.
