The Red Cross appeals to you for support.

Wouldn't it be a good idea to keep the sidewalk to the cemetery in good shape and property owners to prevent the weeds from covering it up?

We have been cramped for time this week, owing to the Red Cross drive, and if we have overlooked a good many local events and the paper is shy on local news, we must ask our subscribers to overlook this.

Just one word more to the Republicans of Tillamook County. To show that you resent Os West's interference, and that you do not approve of a Democratic boss attempting to boss the Republican party, vote for Bob Stanfield for United States Senator.

This is not written in any spirit of complaint, but, really the city council should do something to have the pavement on Second Avenue East put in condition, for the chuck holes are getting numerous and there are a good many bump the bump places. Anyway the street should be fixed as soon as possible.

The campaign set in toward Stanfield strongly when the attention of the voters was drawn to the fact that Oregon now has five lawyers at Washington and that Stanfield is a business man. The call of the Government for business men to help win the war and the necessity for practical heads to solve the big problems in the reconstruction period following the war have all tended to bring Stanfield's qualifications to the front.

It is gratifying to know that people in all parts of the county are volunteering their services for the Red Cross drive. This is very encouraging to the Executive Board of the Red Cross and makes their work much more pleasant. We do not know of anything where the people have shown such willingness to help, and we want to congratulate the people, feeling assured that everybody is going to add their mite to help the Red Cross drive, and they are going to do it willingly and gladly.

News reports say that the Aircraft Board squandered one billion dollars in eleven months and failed to furnish the army with the necessary airplanes. That is enough to make one's blood boil. There are some niggers in the wood pile who ought to be burned at the stake, but it is probable that the whole affair will be whitewashed over. In view of the repeated advice to people to save and conserve food, if some of the officials at Washington would do so with the people's money the taxpayers would feel better, for it is at Washington, D. C., where there is wilful waste.

Just one more word of advice to Republicans of Tillamook County: Vote for Bob Stanfield and you will be voting right. We feel confident that Stanfield is going to be nominated for United States Senator, and Republicans of the county will never regret it if they cast their ballot for him tomorrow at the primary election. It may not be known to many persons but he was one of those who took an active part in Tillamook county getting such favorable consideration in the state road measure, five miles of which will be built this year. Let us show our appreciation of his effort and vote for him.

The Red Cross is doing more good than any other organization in the world. There is one thing very noticeable, however, and that is all classes have volunteered their services. There is no distinction, for rich and poor have joined hands and working together. Neither does religious prejudices have any weight, for persons of all denominations are amongst the most active workers in the good cause and it is pleasing to note it is bringing church people together, for after all the Red Cross is doing the mission of the church in helping suffering humanity wherever it is to be found, regardless of nationality, creed or color.

Complete exoneration of the charges of profiteering and hoarding of wool, made against R. N. Stanfield by the Telegram and Journal, has been given by the Oregonian, after a thorough and detailed investigation into the wool situation. The Oregonian went to the records of the Columbia Basin Wool Warehouse Company and obtained the facts. Based on this investigation, the Oregonian printed the following editorial comment: "The Oregonian is able to say on information and knowledge that he (Robert N. Stanfield) is neither a profiteer nor a hoarder. It says it now because it ought to be said now. It would not have him, nor any man, penalized through politics, or partnership, or newspaper unfairness, for having performed to the state of Oregon and to the Northwest an invaluable service in creating here a great wool depot, and in helping lay the foundation for an important industry in the manufacture of wool products of all kinds. What encouragement can Portland offer to others to invest their capital here contributing a share to the development of desirable enterprise if they are to be assailed and libelled merely because they happen to be candidates for office?"

L. L. VanNortwick charged on a similar complaint, also pleaded guilty, the judge fined him $500 and one year in jail. The judge remitted the fine to $100.00 and suspended the jail sentence on good behavior. There were several complaints filed against the defendant.

An unpleasant and regrettable occurrence took place during this term of court, in which Attorney Johnson threw an ink well at Attorney Winslow, which struck him in the head, inflicting a wound. Judge Bagley has not decided yet what action he will take in the matter, but it is reported that he may make an order for contempt of court.

The Oregon Regiment in France.

Somewhere in France—In a barracks, once a monastery—till the time of the French revolution, when religion went out of fashion—the men of the 65th artillery are quartered. The original building was built over 900 year ago, and since has been in continuous service either as a religious habitation or a station for troops. Here Napoleon quartered one of his famous regiments and here the Little Corporal came from time to time.

The men have been fortunate in being able to see a large portion of both England and France: before finally resting in his camp, which bids fair to be their home for some little time. They traveled through much of the storied and historic portion of these countries which have contributed so much to the world's story, and have marveled at the beauty of the land, the architecture of buildings and the general character of cleanliness and industry.

The men have learned what intensive cultivation of land is, but at the same time they have seen that land can be so cultivated and still be fairer than the fields of home, for everywhere there is the painstaking care and application of the people, shown in the very manner in which they till the soil.

Oregon Artillery Men are Well

On the whole, the men are very well although men have been left from time to time at base hospitals. Few cases of serious nature have beset the men of the regiment and with the rest which they are getting at present they should throw off the dullness engendered by the long trip on water and on land. No mail has yet been received from the States and the men are wild for news of home.

A Y. M. C. A. has been established in the former writing hall of the old dragoons, where the men are welcome to read and write and have music. As yet no regular secretary has been secured, but a man is detailed by headquarters to care for the rooms and look after the welfare of the men.

The regiment from time to time has met detachments and details of the 162d infantry, the old 3d Oregon, and there is a sort of fraternity between the two regiments, for the majority of the 65th is composed of Oregon men, who have many friends among the "doughboys", as the infantry is termed by the supercilious artillerymen.

News From Front Lacking.

News of the front, with actions there is entirely lacking, and there is no way of securing the details. French papers are largely editorial generalities and the only news which may be secured comes through the official communiques, which are the opposite of the news matter, being stripped to the facts in a way that tells little to the man not intimately acquainted with the nature and position of the battle front.

The men are finding the French as universally polite and hospitable as their world wide reputation had led the Americans to expect. In all cases the French are ready to do what they can for the men and are particularly anxious to help the struggling linguist by liberal parleying of the hands.

There is an inspiration to the men in being actually in France and with their faces at last directly toward the battle line. Though a period of training might postpone the time when they will face the fight considerably, the men feel that they are but one step removed from their real purpose, and that they will be used immediately whenever there is need of them. There is also an urge to one's manhood in feeling that he is quartered in the very building in which the great commander of all time had some of his favorite troops.

Proper Food For Weak Stomachs.

The proper food for one man will be all wrong for another. Everyone should adopt a diet suited to his age and occupation. Those who have weak stomachs need to be especially careful and should eat slowly and masticate their food thoroughly. It is also important that they keep their bowels regular. When they become constipated or when they feel dull and stupid after eating, they should take Chamberlain's Tablets to strengthen the stomach and move the bowels. They are easy to take and pleasant in effect. For sale by Lamar's Drug Store.—Paid Adv.

Your Red Cross Fighting Dollars.

Your Army and Navy fights to make the "World safe for Democracy."

Your Red Cross fights to make it fit for Democracy.

Fights for your soldiers—yours and your allies—in trench, canteen and hospital.

Fights for the little children, to save them for the nation's upbuilding of tomorrow.

Fights for the swarms of homeless, dazed refugees and "repatriates" thrown out from the war's black whirlpool.

Fights the white plague, tuberculosis, that takes a greater toll than lead and steel.

Fights on every war stricken country to uphold a wrecked and suffering humanity in its struggle for a free existence.

One hundred million dollars to "carry on."

No power of taxation, no interest rate to urge those dollars.

Each one a volunteer, sent willingly and by the heart alone.

The noblest fund of all the billions of this war's vast budgets—because the freest given.

What share is yours? What sacrifice to mobilize those Fighting RedCross Dollars.

What Has Your Red Cross Money Done ?

In the first place, it has enabled the American people, through the Red Cross, to help care for its army and navy.

Secondly, it has enabled America to hearten her Allied fighting forces and to keep, among the civilian populations, the spirit to win the war. That, alone, has made the American Red Cross one of the largest factors since our entry into the war.

Canteens which provided food and hot drinks—more than a million meals to soldiers in December; warehouses, crammed with materials, situated all along the French line, all along the Italian lines, at seaports and at places where our soldiers are going to fight; institutions for the care of consumptives, institutions for the re-education of maimed men—these are a few of the concrete accomplishments abroad.

At home—the millions of woolen sweaters, mufflers, socks and other comforts for the men in camp, the work of sanitation around cantonments and the help and advice given dependents of soldiers and sailors—these are the things which will "make you, your children and your children's children, in whatever part of the world they may be, proud of being Americans."

Will you do your share to keep this Hand of Mercy at its work?
