

TEMPERATURE AND TEMPER.

Here is a good old story that somebody has taken the trouble to dress up in khaki—or hospital blue:

Sister Anne was going the round of the ward in the big hospital for wounded soldiers, examining the medical charts over each bed and taking temperatures.

Reaching the side of one hero, in whose mouth she had left the thermometer a minute ago, she was horrified to find, withdrawing it, that it registered 120, although only an hour ago the patient was normal. Swiftly she summoned the house doctor, but he, on arriving, was seriously perturbed, as there was nothing in the patient's condition to account for the sudden rise.

"Look here," he said to the soldier, "have you dropped this thermometer or been fooling with it?"

"No, sir. Only been stirring my tea with it!"

Upset Her Balance.

Like a rose petal on a zephyr she blew into the hostler's.

"I'm looking for something nice for a young man," she said shyly to the gallant behind the counter.

"Why don't you look in the mirror?" asked the hostler, and she was so flustered that he managed to get an order for four dozen raincoats that she didn't want, before she knew what she was doing.

IN LUCK.

First Manager—Then you had a satisfactory season?

Second Manager—Very! Two of our most antagonistic critics died.

Gassed.

The perfume of the wildflower Expands across the scene, And then is wholly smothered by The scent of gasoline.

A Sleepy Humorist.

Mrs. Timmid—John, wake up! There's a man downstairs; I'm sure I heard a noise that sounded like a yawn.

Husband—Oh, go to sleep. What you heard was probably the rubber plant stretching itself."

His Real Worth.

"Did you see the widow of our late friend?"

"Yes, but when I told her I had called to extend my condolences, she asked my congratulations instead. She had just received his insurance money."

Sad but True.

Mrs. Hickson—Some men are so peculiar.

Mr. Huson—How so?

Mrs. Hickson—They would rather lose $30 playing poker than give their wives $10 for a new-hat.

Their Way.

"Average juries remind me of a self-cocking revolver."

"In what way?"

"They go off as soon as they're charged, but nobody knows what they're going to hit."

COMPELLED TO WORRY.

"More trouble."

"Why, I thought you were a member of a 'don't worry' club"

"Yes, but they fixed it so that I can't avoid worry. They made me secretary and treasurer."

That Unregulated Product.

Mary had a little bale With cotton white as snow, And everywhere it wanted to The price was sure to go.

A Louder Noise.

Williams—Do those dogs up your way still howl all night?

Johnson—No, they have given up in disgust since the twins arrived.

Its Class.

"Divorce is a sort of telephonic disconnection."

"How so?"

"Isn't it a ring off?"

CAN'T TRUST ONE'S IMPULSE

Cases Known Where Men Who Have Forsworn Whisky and Tobacco Have Changed Their Minds.

I was much interested in Chauncey Depew's story of the way he broke away from tobacco at the ripe age of sixty years, "G. M. F." writes in the Seattle Post-Intelligencer.

"I bought a Partaga and walked up the hill to the capitol. I was feeling very bad. At the State street corner I looked at my cigar and said: 'Old friend, you have sacrificed yourself for me, and I've pretty nearly sacrificed myself for you. Here's where you and I part company.' I tossed the cigar away, it hit the side of a passing horse car and landed in the street. The car conductor jumped off, picked it up and went on, smoking happily."

If the car conductor had not grabbed the cigar Chauncey might have changed his mind and reclaimed it. Grandma used to say that one should never act upon impulse. I remember quitting the use of tobacco once, while fishing, and I afterward changed my mind and walked back a quarter of a mile to retrieve my snipe. The fellow who forswears booze and breaks his bottle impulsively generally manages to get another pint somewhere. Renunciation is not likely to possess a durable quality if it is handuffed. I like to imagine a man giving up smoking, with a vest pocket full of cigars, or whisky, with a barrel of it in the cellar. I say I like to imagine it, but do they ever do that? Most smokers never quit until their draft is shut off.

MOTH'S MISSION ON EARTH

Would Seem Somewhat Hard to Explain, Unless It Be to Cause Housewife Much Worry.

Here is a life history of that frail, yellow quarter-inch moth. Those that we see fluttering about the house are probably looking for a good place to start a colony. Each female moth lays about 50 eggs. She glues each one carefully to the fiber of cloth or fur, and she is especially pleased with fuzzy fabrics, fringes, and frayed edges where she can bury her eggs deep in the ambush of tangled threads. After she has fastened all her eggs her life-work is over and she dies.

It takes the eggs just a week to hatch. Out of each one comes a wee translucent white caterpillar which starts immediately to do damage. As it eats, it builds a gallery to live in from a sort of silk of its own making, mingled with fibers torn from the fabric on which it lives. The caterpillar gnaws at your coat or your dress or your blankets for about ten weeks. Then it enlarges its feeding case to make a cocoon. Two weeks it sleeps in this cocoon, then the case bursts, the caterpillar comes out a pale, dusty yellow moth, mates, and starts another destructive cycle of life.

Fortunes in Bibles.

Eccentric people often conceal sums of money in the family Bible, where it is discovered, sometimes by chance, after their death.

Such an incident occurred in Paris. A French Polu returned home from the front to find that his father had just died. He had left him nothing in his will, only the family Bible. Closer inspection revealed between its pages securities to the value of $65,000!

A few years ago a young nobleman who was in financial difficulties had occasion to refer to the family Bible for a date there recorded. In so doing he came across a number of Bank of England notes, amounting collectively to a considerable sum, which more than met his liabilities. Then he recalled his mother's dying words that "Help might be found in the Bible when all other sources failed." But he had paid small heed to the injunction, and certainly never dreamed of so practical a fulfillment of her words.

Qualities of Leadership.

The real fulcrum of life problems is within the man himself. It's what folks call ability. It's not glibness, superficial slickness or any power of pull. It's just a definite consciousness of ability and that ability put to work. With some folks habit plays an important part. They learn to do things by rote. As long as requirements follow the routine they make a good showing. But when the unexpected turns up they are at sea. They represent a certain type of ability, but not the best. Men seeking help of the highest grade want men of brains, initiative and resources. They want men that are unabashed before calamities. They want men that do not have to wait for orders, but who know what to do in emergency and are not afraid to assume the responsibility for their action. Such men are conscious of being leaders and ask only for opportunity to show what they can do.

Very Little Escaped Taxation.

The names of more than 150 different taxes imposed on the Egyptians of the Roman period have been learned from papyrus. Besides the poll tax, they include taxes on exports and imports, on animals, on business transactions, such as sales and mortgages, imposts for the benefit of the government and its officials, from the emperor downward, who took his bakshish in the form of a national offering, at his accession. When one further considers the other burdens to which property was liable, the imposition of public duties and the discharge of costly municipal functions, the wonder is that there was anything left to tax.

Summons.

In the Circuit Court of the State of Oregon, for Tillamook County.

Mollie Shartel, Plaintiff, vs.

Mark T. Shartel, Defendant.

To Mark T. Shartel, the above named defendant;

In the name of the State of Oregon, you are hereby required to appear and answer the complaint filed against you herein, on or before the last day of the time prescribed in the order for the publication of this summons, to-wit: July 4th, 1918, and if you fail to so appear and answer for want thereof, the plaintiff will apply to the Court for the relief prayed for in the complaint, to-wit: for a decree dissolving and annulling the contract of marriage now existing between the plaintiff and the defendant and that the plaintiff have the custody of the minor children, Evelyn, Gordon, William and Paul Shartel, and for such other relief in equity which the Court may deem just.

STOMACH TORN UP

Indiana Lady Describes Condition, Which She Says Was Due To Constipation and Tells of Relief Obtained From Black-Draught.

Scottsburg, Ind.—Mrs. Annie Johnson, of this place, writes: "I well remember I suffered for a long time with constipation, which would get me down. I took doctors' medicines and any number of purgatives. They would leave me in a worse condition than I was before taking, and my stomach so upset... I know once I suffered... from constipation, I was so ill we had to have the doctor, just so nervous and feverish. The doctor said I would have to quit medicines, my stomach was so bad..."

My husband was reading and found something about Theford's Black-Draught and brought me a package to try. I used it regularly at first until I began to feel better, then I used just a dose occasionally. I was cured of this constipation and am sure the Black-Draught did it."

If your stomach is out of order, you will suffer from such disagreeable symptoms as headache, biliousness, indigestion, etc., and unless something is done, serious trouble may result.

Theford's Black-Draught has been found a valuable remedy for these troubles. It is purely vegetable, and acts in a prompt and natural way, helping to regulate the liver and to cleanse the bowels of impurities.

Try Black-Draught. EB-15
