Captain Billy Star and wife and Mr. and Mrs. P. Langhardt, who were residents of Tillamook a number of years ago, motored in from Portland and spent the week end with W. H. Hoskins and family. Did you ever stop to think that about 25 per cent of feed that is fed without cutting is wasted? And that feed put up in a silo is worth about 30 per cent more than if put up dry? Mr. Rancher do some figuring. On Monday a heavy downpour of rain visited Tillamook county with copious showers during the night. This is to be accounted for in some measure to the fact that a large number of young men enlisted in the navy. Attorney Geo. Winslow, the food administrator for Tillamook county, says that people can buy 25 lbs. of sugar for canning purposes as often as required, without having to have a permit, but it is not to be used for other purposes. Wanted a representative for Tillamook County, either lady or gentleman for war time necessity. Endorsed by government officials. A big opportunity and a good income assured to a real worker.—Address, with reference, F. E. Russell 129 1/2 12th street, Portland, Oregon. Two boys, about 15 years of age, named Paul Ingle and Archie Miller, broke into the cheese factory at the Sour Grass road and stole $100.00 worth of cheese. They were followed to Willamina, where they were arrested by a Yamhill deputy sheriff and admitted their guilt and surrendered the cheese. They will be sent to the industrial school from Yamhill county. Mr. and Mrs. Frank Heyd and a party of friends left on Friday by auto for Portland, to meet Jacob Heyd, of Kirksville, Mo., who came to spend the summer with his son and wife. While in Portland J. A. Anderson joined the party, which was a pleasant surprise and reunion. Mr. Anderson, who lived two years in Tillamook, is now located in Salem, Oregon. Maggie Illingsworth vs. William R. Illingsworth is a divorce suit filed in the circuit court. These parties were married in this county on the 25th of November, 1902. The plaintiff alleges that covering a period of more than 15 years the defendant abused her and on many occasions inflicted physical violence upon her, thereby causing her great physical and mental pain and distress, the plaintiff being cruel and inhuman. Six children were born to the union. The plaintiff prays that the marriage contract be dissolved and the court to make proper provision concerning the custody and support of the children. Complete Neskowin-Otis Survey Salem, Or. July 23—John H. Scott, location engineer for the state highway commission, has completed a survey for a section of highway between Neskowin, in Tillamook county, and Otis, Lincoln County, where there is no road at present. Because of the roughness of the country considerable expense will be attached to the project which will be borne by the two counties. The length of the road will be about seven miles. It will be a link of the coast highway and ultimately may be part of a coast military highway. Coming. The man of many thrills and laughter, George Walsh, the William Fox athletic thunderbolt will be here next Thursday in a photoplay called "Brave and Bold". The Management of the Ge mTheatre promises Mr. Walsh will surpass anything he has ever done. No doubt he will fulfill this promise because Walsh never does anything by halves. That is the reason he is so big a favorite everywhere. Walsh has a story that gives him plenty of chance to exhibit his athletic ability. As Robert Booth associated with the Wilson Co., he is trying to close a deal with a European prince. This will net him a firm a billion dollars or so. The house of Firkins & Firkins is the Wilson Co.'s rival and at the head of this house is Chester Firkins. Now Robert Booth has an appointment with the prince at four-forty sharp on Friday afternoon at the Fort Penn Hotel, Pittsburgh. The complications that arise are both thrilling and humorous. Even the girl in the case gets in a bad tangle from which the hero rescues her. He also saves the prince from being blown up and wins the contract despite Firkins and his "devilish ways." This is Chautauqua Week. The annual Tillamook Chautauqua commenced on Monday in this city, and the prospects look good for a good attendance for the entire week. The disposal of season tickets have been somewhat slow, which goes to make up an amount of money guaranteed by those who signed the contract, but it is expected that sufficient tickets will be sold to cover this, the time being extended for that purpose. The opening day was devoted to organizing Mother Goose Chautauqua, for the young folks and reading and impersonations by Josephine Bealsey, the musical feature being the Apollo Concert Co., who are splendid music entertainers. On Tuesday, the musical features were by Moana Vierra's Royal Hawaiian Quartet which greatly pleased the large audience. The lectures were by Dr. Arthur D. Carpenter, in the afternoon, whose subject was "World in the Making," which proved a most interesting lecture on astronomy. In the evening, Mrs. C. A. Zehner, a Southern lady, delighted her hearers with "American Ideas," and she was loudly applauded when referring to the world war and the part the United States is taking in it. Wednesday, the Metropolitan Artists gave the musical features, and Dr. Elliott A. Boyd the lecture entitled "The Advantage of a Handicap." A splendid set of war pictures pleased the crowd in the evening. A bunch of flowers, given by Mrs. McGhee, was auctioned off by Mr. Lance, which added $81.00 to the Red Cross. This (Thursday) afternoon and evening the New York Marine Band will be one of the best entertainments of the Chautauqua. In the afternoon Elsie Mae Gordon gave character studies and readings. To-morrow (Friday) there will be two very highly interesting speakers. In the afternoon Dr. M. T. Yamamoto, a Japanese author and lecturer, will speak on Japanese American relations, and he severely scores the Hearst newspapers for endeavoring to create bad feeling between this country and Japan. In the evening Sergeant-Major Smith, of New York, who served three years in the British army, and was wounded, will give his experience in the trenches. The Elkhorn Directors will have the musical features. Saturday the closing day, Schubert Serenaders will prove attractive, also a lecture "Physical Training," by Beatrice E. Haskett, and in the evening the prelude will be "Mother Goose Festival." Notice to W. R. C. We want all members of the W. R. C. to be present, as we are going to dedicate our service flag in honor of the mothers who have given the nation a soldier. Be loyal and be present if possible. Don't forget the date, Saturday, August 3rd. Further announcement in next week's paper. All are cordially invited. By order of committee. Notice To The Public. Please take notice that we have discontinued our contract with the Coats Lumber Co. for hauling wood from the mill. In future we will devote our equipment and energies to general and special work in our line, and feel that we can give better and quicker service than heretofore. We thank you for past business and solicit a continuance of the same. City Transfer Co. Chautauqua Lecturer Spy. One of the lecturers who started out on the Ellison-White Chautauqua circuit and who was originally booked for the second day of the session in this city, has been taken in custody by federal authorities as a German spy. He is a man who represents himself as Captain J. M. Beauford, a Belgian officer and no-nieman and a secret service agent of the Belgian government, who saw service in Germany. He is now being held for further investigation. Women of Tillamook County. Why not protect yourself in old age, and those dear to you, the same as men do? Oregon Life insures women same as men. We issue a most attractive Savings policy for women. Medical examination free of cost. It will cost you nothing to get our figures. Write or phone, H. R. Blauvelt, Executive Special, Ramsey Hotel, Tillamook, Oregon.

DEATH OF W. S. HAYS. Another Tillamook Pioneer Dairyman Passes Away. William Smith Hays, a pioneer farmer and dairyman of Tillamook County, passed away at his home in this city on Friday morning. He had been quite sick for several months, and his death was not unexpected. The deceased had, in former years with his son R. R. Hays taken an active part in the development of the county and played an important part in the political activities of the county. Mr. Hays is survived by the following grand children: R. B. Hays, of Tillamook; Mrs. David Burns, of Portland; Mrs. R. I. Thompson, of Heppner, and R. R. Hays, who is in the officers' training camp at Camp Fremont, California; also Robert and Elizabeth Burns and Robert Blaine and Elizabeth Hays, great grandchildren. The funeral took place on Sunday under the direction of the Masonic lodge, and the interment was in the Oddfellows Cemetery. Occupying an assured position among the veteran dairymen of Tillamook county William Smith Hays, had been quite successful as a general farmer and dairyman. He was a typical representative of a self made man of the county, having acquired a competency chiefly through his own exertions, his sturdy industry, wise perseverance and judicious management bringing him a due reward. He was a native of Glade Mills, Washington County, Pa., and born December, 29, 1831, being the oldest son, and third child, of Robert Hays. A native of Pennsylvania, Robert Hays removed to Ohio in 1838, settling first in Butler county, and afterwards in Logan county, near Bellefontaine, where he lived a number of years. Migrating to Dewitt county, Ill., in 1854, he engaged in farming, during the harvesting season running a threshing machine in connection with his other labor. He continued his residence on the farm that he there improved until his death, in 1872, at the age of sixty-six years. He married Maria Smith, who was born in Pennsylvania, and died, about three weeks before he did, in Dewitt county, Ill. Of the eight children born to the union, two died in infancy, and three sons and three daughters grew to years of maturity. Reared and educated in the suburbs of Bellefontaine, Ohio, William Smith Hays was there trained to agricultural pursuits under the judicious instruction of his father. At the age of 22 years he embarked in farming with his father, and met with excellent success. In 1875 he left the Prairie state, coming to Oregon. Locating at Clackamas county, he lived for eight or nine months in Milwaukie, and then went to Collinsville, Cal., where he spent about five years a large part of the time running a threshing machine in that vicinity. Returning to Oregon in 1888, he had a billiard hall and tobacco stand in East Portland, for four years, being located on Fourth street. Becoming a resident of Tillamook City in 1885, Mr. Hays engaged in farming and dairying, in which he met with success. He also purchased land within the city limits, buying a tract of thirty acres, which he and his son, Robert R. Hays, layed out as the Hays Addition to the city. Politically Mr. Hays was a steadfast Republican but persistently refused all official honors. Fraternally he was a prominent member of the Masonic Order, belonging to Tillamook Lodge No. 57. Mr. Hays married while living in Illinois, Angeline Ross, who was born in Ohio. Their only child, Robert Ross Hays, was born June 3, 1856. He learned the surveyor's trade when young, and worked at it for some time. He was a very bright, active young man, and his death, which occurred at his home in Tillamook, in 1897, was deeply lamented. True to the political faith in which he was reared, Robert R. Hays was a staunch Republican, and served one term as county clerk, and for two terms was clerk of the House of Representatives. He was a delegate to the National Republican Convention, which met in Minneapolis, Minn., in 1892 and was the only member of the Oregon delegation who voted for Harrison for President. He was a member and master of Tillamook Lodge, No. 57. A. F. & A. M., and member and presiding officer of Johnson Chapter, R. A. M., Council and K. T. of Portland. Death of Willard Newcomb. We are sorry to announce the death of Willard T. Newcomb, who died at his home in this city on Saturday, July 20th, after several months of sickness. The remains were buried on Monday, the Masons and Oddfellows having charge of the funeral, the interment being in the Oddfellow's cemetery. The deceased was an industrious and highly respected citizen, having a large number of friends who deplore his death. He was a member of the Masonic and Oddfellow lodges in this city.

Willard T. Newcomb was born in the Willamette Valley on the fourth day of September, 1867, being at time of his death 50 years, 10 months and 16 days. His parents were early settlers, coming to this county when he was three years of age. He was married to Bertha Penwell, Feb. 19th, 1905. He is survived by his wife, mother, two brothers and three sisters, who have the sympathy of the people of the county in their bereavement. Need of More Moss Workers. The problem of supplying the hospitals of the armies of the allied powers in France with suitable absorbent pads rests with special emphasis upon the women of the coast counties of Washington and Oregon, because the moss which is used for this purpose grows almost exclusively in the cranberry bogs along this coast. It cannot be shipped long distances before being made into pads, because it deteriorates in shipping. Tillamook county has an unlimited supply of this moss, and it is with great thankfulness that we offer it for this service to our country. It is being shipped in large quantities to Portland and other branches of the Portland Red Cross Chapter to be sorted and made into pads. Portland women are now sorting an average of twenty sacks per day. The auxiliaries at Cloverdale, Beaver, Sandlake, Yellow Fir, Fairview, Bay City, Garibaldi, Rockaway, Brighton, Wheeler and Mohler, as well as Tillamook, are busy sorting moss, but the output is still not as large as it should be. Many women are allowing unessential activities to detain them from the work and want to bring the thought of every woman in reach of the moss that our boys are giving their whole time, and risking their lives, that we, at home, may live in freedom. If Tommy Coates, Clifton Martin, or Walter Stark or any other of our splendid men, became injured, and the supply of these pads is insufficient, then these women who do not give their utmost support to this work should feel that the blame rests on them. Some allow an hour a week to excuse them for further service. Others are saying that the other places are not doing their part. These are blacker excuses, and should be condemned immediately. Such work will never win the war. When our boys come home crippled, or when we meet those on the other shore who will never come back here, let us be able to look them squarely in the face and say we did our best. 2,500 Student Nurses Wanted. So many trained nurses are needed in the army that the U. S. Government is asking for twenty-five student nurses now, to take the places of the trained nurses in the hospitals that they may be released for the work in France. Enrollment means that the candidate will hold herself ready until April 1st, 1919, to take training whenever she is offered an assignment in a training school, unless she has in the meantime entered other government war service. Oregon's quota of these student nurses is three hundred and ten, and Tillamook County's share is five. Will all young ladies who can consider this opportunity to serve their country please consult the recruiting officer in charge who is nearest to them. Below is a list of recruiting officers. Cloverdale—Mrs. Frank Taylor. Beaver—Mrs. Minnie Gilbert. Tillamook—Mrs. W. J. Riechers. Bay City—Mrs. Finlayson. Wheeler—Mrs. John Kidd. Nehalem—Mrs. Henry Tohl. The Shooting of Dan McGrew. Robert W. Service's greatest poem has been made into a magnificent screen drama, with Edmund Brees, as the star, and will be shown at the Gem Theatre, Saturday, July 27. The story, one of the most thrilling and dramatic ever produced, revolves around Jim Maxwell, his wife Lou, their child, and "Dan McGrew." McGrew convinces Lou that her husband is unfaithful, and persuades her to elope with him to Alaska. She discovers his despicable character, and become a woman of the dance-halls. Maxwell becomes a wanderer, at last in the Malamute saloon, he comes face to face with Dan McGrew. What happens when these two meet is familiar to readers of Service's famous classic, and it is doubly powerful on the screen. The snow fields of the region of the Youkon furnish a beautiful background for the stirring drama. Cause of Despondency. Despondency is often caused by indigestion and constipation, and quickly disappears when Chamberlain's Tablets are taken. These tablets strengthen the digestion and move the bowels.
