Protection from every form of loss

from a strayed parcel to a burned block

THE wonderful thing about Hartford insurance service is its scope. It provides against losses you never think of until they happen to you. You will never know that you could have been saved from the consequences of them unless you talk to this agency today. Every loss of property can be measured in money. The loss may be caused by fire, accident, sickness, theft, storm, carelessness, circumstances. All these have been foreseen and provided for by some form of Hartford policy.

Fire comes first as causing the greatest losses, but is first for that reason alone. Some other form of fatality might be far worse for you than a fire. Do not learn these things after they happen. The two Hartfords can protect you on all sides. The policies will surround you with an interlocking coat of mail, leaving no unprotected point.

This agency will be pleased to explain the complete protection offered by the

INSURANCE Service OF THE TWO HARTFORDS

For over one hundred years the Hartford Fire Insurance Company has paid losses with unflinching promptness. The same responsibility is behind the Hartford Accident & Indemnity Co.

Round-Up Cowboys To Honor Fallen Comrade.

Pendleton, Ore., Aug 14—For ten years or more the names of Dell and Bertha Blancett have been linked together in cowboy-land and together they won prizes and championships wherever there were contests to test the skill of cowboy and cowgirl. But at the annual Pendleton Round-Up next month Bertha Blancett, champion woman bronk rider of the world, will enter the contest without her husband, Dell Blancett, ever since the inception of the round-up one of the most consistent of winners, now occupies a hero's grave somewhere in France.

Blancett, who was one of the leading spirits in organizing the rough-riding Troop D at Pendleton only to be discharged, because of a touch of rheumatism, "beat it" straight for Canada after the Round-Up last fall. "I'll be at you boys over the pond yet," he told the boys of his old troop. He enlisted in the Canadian cavalry, was sent to England at once and, when the cavalry was transferred to artillery, was one of the seven selected because of superior horsemanship to fill the gaps in the famous Lord Strathmore Horse. In the midst of the German offensive last spring, his troop charged a wood and Blancett was laid low by a German sniper. "Those German bullets sure hit hard," were his last words to his comrades, according to a letter received here recently from his commander who paid a high tribute to the famous cowboy's fighting qualities.

At the Round-Up of 1918, which is to be held on Sept. 19, 20 and 21 under the auspices of the Red Cross, Blancett's companions of the wild west will pay a fitting tribute to the first of the famous Round-Up stars to make the supreme sacrifice.

U. S. Relations with Mexico.

A distinct improvement in our relations with Mexico is noticeable. There is less friction over oil concessions and the Mexican government's taxes thereon. A pro-ally, Luis Manuel Rojas, has just been placed at the head of the government's newspaper organ, El Universal. German influence in Mexico city appears to be on the wane. The change has been more discernable, perhaps, since the president's speech to the Mexican editors in Washington, which was followed by the lifting of the American embargo on a number of important articles of export for Mexico's special benefit. The better understanding with our neighbor is the more pleasing because it began to develop before General Poch's defeat of the German offensive in France and the discomfiture of the crown princes army in the Marne salient—a war development sure to affect the attitude of all the neutral countries in dealing with Berlin.—Springfield Republican.

Government will Buy All the Old Gold You Have.

Persons who have old gold or silver which they wish to convert into cash for war or other purposes are offered the opportunity by the government. Old gold and silver in quantities approximating $100 in value may be sent to the United States assay office in New York, or to any one of the government assay offices in Philadelphia, Denver, or San Francisco. The sender will receive in return a check on the United States treasury for the value of the material less the charges for fitting it for coinage. These charges are normal. No institution under the government in Washington receives this material, as none has facilities for depositing or treating it. To societies raising funds for war relief the suggestion is made that individual collections of old gold and silver be gathered together in some central depository and when the necessary amount has been obtained that it be sent to the assay office in the nearest one of the four cities named.

Notice.

To whom it may concern, I have sold my interest in the Tillamook Feed Co. to Geo. Williams, who will pay all bills against the company and collect all accounts.

Horses Learned French.

Hundreds of American horses were bought back from the French when the first forces from the United States landed on the other side, and the drivers had much trouble with them. At first they couldn't understand the reason. As one of them said, "When I hollered get-up they just sort of looked round as if they thought I was foolish, and stood still and then I remembered I heard a French driver yell 'allez' at his horse, so I yelled 'allez' and away my team went." The American horses had learned French.

Tell of Tower of Babel.

The tower of Babel was only 140 feet high but as it was built upon an elevated foundation it was the loftiest object in Babylon, a city of low buildings, spread over a flat plain. This description of the most famous structure of ancient times has been obtained from recent translations of old Assyrian records, some inscribed on tablets of burnt clay. The tower was a temple and the architectural pride of Babylon. The lowest of its seven stories was 272 feet square, and it was constructed of the only available material, sundried brick, the walls being faced with burnt brick.
