There will be a vacant chair in the editor's sanctum the next few weeks. If the Headlight is a little more or a little less interesting that is the reason.

We hope the dear sisters who are running for the office of county treasurer won't say all manner of things about one another, the same as the men folk do who get into politics and run for office.

Beer had a decided bad, pro-German flavor last week, when it became known that the big brewery concerns of the United States had put up large sums of money to finance pro-German daily newspapers. That's another nail in John Barleycorn's coffin.

We will gamble that the walking delegate that formed a union of the men working in the ship yard, did not leave much money in the treasury after he had left. Well, these walking delegates have to be paid, anyway, and have to live like other mortals.

There is more honor attached to the office of local food administrator than most of us are aware of now that the government is doing the prohibition stunt with sugar. The ladies say that Attorney Geo. P. Winslow, the food administrator, is the sweetest man in the city. Say, George, is that how you are getting on the best side of the ladies?

If it comes to a show down and the government force men of draft age to get into essential employment, it is going to close up quite a number of businesses, and maybe the print shops and newspaper offices will get a touch of this non-essential propaganda that is very important just now. We'll have to stand it and look pleasant when the government needs men from print shops.

The wanton destruction of sphagnum moss in a Red Cross warehouse over in the state of Washington is the act of a pro-German. If authorities happen to catch the vandal and send him to Tillamook we will gamble that the huskies who picked moss from the bogs in this county wouldn't leave a grease spot of the fellow after they laid hands on him.

Last week's Tillamook Headlight contained 30 columns of advertising for the Fourth Liberty Loan contributed by public business houses of that city. It should hit the subscribers of the Headlight such a jolt that the county will probably go over the top far in advance of the zero hour.—Hillsboro Independent.

Sure it will Bro. when the business men assisted by the Headlight, get behind any patriotic movement, its all over but the shouting. Come to Tillamook next week and hear us yell when we are over the top.

John Bull is sticking to it with bull dog tenacity, which is characteristic of Englishmen, and from the looks of things the Kaiser, as well as the Sultan, must have come to the conclusion long before this that that little insignificant English army does amount to something, for the bull dog Englishmen have done some wonderful fighting in different parts of the world in the past few weeks, and the United States army, which was likewise ridiculed and belittled by the war lords and junkers of Germany, is going to help give the Kaiser and the German nation the biggest drubbing they have ever had.

It is highly amusing to know that Austria found one nation that favored its peace move. It was Germany. And Bulgaria chimed in and said she wanted peace too. What Turkey and other nations of the central powers think about peace after what happened in Palestine, we do not know. It is plain however, that the central powers are wanting peace, and wanting it badly but being in a devil of a plight, they are only sparing for time to head off the inevitable which is unconditional surrender and acceptance of terms of peace dictated by the allies.

The boys in khaki are certainly slaves to the cigarette habit. Wonder what the per cent would be? Just notice the number of boys who are using cigarettes and it will set you thinking whether something shall be done to prevent it. We do not belong to the Puritanical class that would prohibit men from smoking, more especially in the vicinity of the fighting front, but we are free to admit that it looks to us, from our observation of soldiers on the street, that they are indulging too freely in the cigarette habit.

It is not going to be a soft snap in future to be county treasurer, of the taxpayers comply with what the snap shot man has been contending for, viz., the county treasurer to do the recording, thus saving one person's salary in the court house. Whoever is elected to that office it is going to keep them busy, and they will earn their salary. The aspirants for the office should know this right now, and whoever is elected will have to be a person who knows how to punch a typewriter with a good deal of dexterity to keep up with the work. If they don't, then, they are not competent to fill the job.

The county court is calling for bids to complete the Wheeler-Brighton road. We do hope that contract will be let and the road completed as quickly as possible. There is a big wad of money already tied up in that road, and when it is completed the people will be getting some benefit out of it. We do not know of any locality in Tillamook county that is so deserving of a road and a way out as Brighton. The Brighton Mills Co. has wonderfully assisted the government in the production of spruce, and when it comes to subscribing for Liberty Loans and for Red Cross and Y. M. C. A. drives, we can all take our hats off to Brighton, for they are all 100 per cent Americans who live in that vicinity. Apart from that, it is material to help prosecute the war that is being produced at Brighton on a large scale, and the County Court has shown that it is ready at all times to help industry that is engaged in war work by improving the roads, showing a splendid spirit of co-operation, which has the hearty approval of the patriotic citizens of Tillamook county.

It is in the interest of the Portland and Seattle tax sharks that C. J. Jackson is invoking the initiative law to do away with the publication of the delinquent tax list. This is the opinion of a Portland attorney who was in Tillamook last week. This gentleman is in favor of the continuation of the publication of the tax list, for the reason, he said, he represents a large number of persons who had loaned money on land and taken mortgages. A person who loaned the money had no way of knowing that the taxes had or had not been paid, unless they took time to go to the court house or write to the officials, whereas if the delinquent tax list is published everybody had an opportunity to know who had not paid their taxes. The Attorney was convinced that it would be the Portland and Seattle tax sharks who are making a business of buying delinquent tax certificates who did not want the list published. So Jackson's bill is in the interest of the tax shark.

The reason most of us are suspicious as to the patriotism of some persons is easily explained. There are a number of persons in this neck of the woods who were decidedly friendly to Germany before the United States entered the war. They freely admitted that they hoped Germany would win the war, and even gloated over the ruthless submarine methods with the argument that citizens of the United States had no right on the seas. They abused England, and persisted in saying that that country started the war for commercial reasons. They even contended that the United States had no right to allow arms and munitions to be manufactured in this country and sold to England and France. They rejoiced every time that Germany gained a victory on land, or sunk a vessel, leaving the crews and passengers to perish. These are some of the reasons why we are all more or less suspicious of those who were so pro-German in their ideas before the United States entered the war. There is certainly a sudden change of heart in that class of persons, and now that they have climbed onto the patrol band wagon, one cannot wonder at the sudden somersault and wonder whether they are really sincere or are sheep in wolves clothing.

As we indicated last week, the government is determined to take men from non-essential employment, which means that men working in stores will be rounded up and women will have to take their places. This is the situation today. Drastic instructions which are expected to force every man of draft age from non-essential industries into war industries have been sent to all community boards from Washington. The expected result from the order will be that men failing or refusing to get out of such positions will be looked upon as slackers. The order is intended to force the hand of both employer and employee. Lists in this order will probably include clerks and office help, ticket sellers of all kinds, attendants and similar occupations. The order is in line with General Crowder's work or fight order with instructions already issued for the placing of women in non-essential industries and employment. We readily see the importance of the government's action. It is going to bring about considerable inconveniences in quite a number of business even closing up some, but no one should complain. We admit that it is hard to have to sacrifice non-essential businesses on account of the war, but it will have to be done, and it is just as well to adopt ourselves to it and not complain. True it hardly looks right when the war has boosted other lines of business.

Here is a little contract in picking over Sphagnum moss. Over in Lane county the local Red Cross is very exacting in its methods, probably because a Red Cross nurse is in full charge of the work rooms. So when it is necessary to pick over moss, or perform other Red Cross work, the ladies are all dressed with large white aprons and white caps. We would suggest that the same method be used by the Tillamook branch and the auxiliaries in all parts of the county. White is the prevailing color of dresses of Red Cross nurses and workers, but, somehow, in this county Red Cross workers have not adopted the system of wearing the prevailing costumes as in other Red Cross work rooms. Of course, this is not a very important matter, nor would it add to the efficiency of Red Cross work in this county, but as the editor watched nearly 200 women, the other evening, mostly young women employed in stores and office in the day, picking over moss at long tables, all dressed alike with large white aprons and white head gear, it made a pretty picture, and we could not help expressing the wish that all Red Cross workers in Tillamook county would adopt the same system of dress in Red Cross work.

There appears to be quite a strong sentiment amongst the men in the allied fleets against the crews of submarines. This is not to be wondered at in the least, and it will grow stronger and even after the war German sailors will be looked upon and sneered at as a bunch of cowardly curs who not only sacrificed the lives of innocent women and children, but allied seamen to drown like so many rats. Of course there is a strong sentiment against crews of German submarines, and it exists not only in the navies of the allied countries, but amongst the population as well, and even in the United States, where the sentiment was not so pronounced, it is now becoming decidedly antagonistic against U-boat crews. Now that we are beginning to show our resentment of German crews who have ruthlessly torpedoed vessels and left their crews to perish we should show the same resentment and more so, to the I. W. W. and the pro-Germans who started in to raise hell in the United States by blowing up munition factories, doing other damage and causing labor troubles. Most every part of the United States had more or less trouble in this respect, but thanks to the government's activity in rounding up the anarchists and pro-Germans, conditions have wonderfully improved in that respect, but there is labor agitators who are still causing trouble, and in our opinion there are nearly as bad as crews of the german U-Boat.

Tablets.

"I have been selling Chamberlain's Tablets for about two years and heard such good reports from my customers, that I concluded to give them a trial myself, and can say that I do not believe that there is another preparation of the kind equal to them." writes G. A. McBride, Headford, Ont. If you are troubled with indigestion or constipation give them a trial. They will do you good.—For Sale by Lamar's Drug Store.—Pd Ad.

Great Faith in Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy. "Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy was used by my father about a year ago when he had diarrhoea. It relieved him immediately and by taking three doses he was absolutely cured. He has great faith in the remedy," writes Mrs. W. H. Williams, Stanley, N. W. For sale by Lamar's Drug Store.—Paid Adv.
