Owing to the railroad having trouble with one of the fills, passenger trains have been delayed for four or five hours daily, and as a result the express company has not been able to do business. The storm last week also put out of commission the telephone and telegraph lines for several days.
Ben Plasker was fined $20.00 by Justice of the Peace Stanley on a charge of assault upon Glen Leach. It seems that the latter went into the latter's store when a German piece was being played on the phonograph. Leach protested and Plasker threw him out of the store. The matter was taken up by the military police and they have reported Plasker to the federal authorities in Portland.
E. T. Haltom vs. Tillamook Building Co. and A. F. Coats Lumber Co. is a suit filed in the Circuit Court in which the plaintiff claims $894.47 damages to stock owing to a defective heating system, doing damage to the above amount. Part of the upper floor is rented to the Lumber Company where soldiers have quarters, and it was from that part of the building where the building company failed to keep the heating system in proper condition.
Of the $191,000 subscribed for Thrift Stamps and War Savings stamps in Tillamook County, County Chairman G. B. Lamb received word that $122,952.92 had been paid in, leaving quite a sum to make up the amount subscribed. There are two months yet before the drive closes, and between now and the first of the year, no doubt, the balance of the promises will be taken up. It is the intention to send cards to those who have not kept their promises, which they should do as soon as possible.
Bill Illingsworth was down from the Wilson river on Tuesday after going over most of the timber that was burned there last month. He estimates that 16,000 acres of timber were burned over, most of which it is expected is a total loss. It was thought that some of the timber might continue to grow, but he is doubtful about that, as the fire not only burned the under brush and leaves but went to the tree tops. About half the loss falls on the Blodgett Company.
The military police had several persons under investigation who were thought to be pro-Germans but in some cases it was spite work on the part of others in reporting them as disloyal citizens. No one should report anyone as being disloyal until they have some tangible proof. Common gossip and hearsay may often be believed as truth, but on investigation it often transpires there is not one particle of truth in common gossip, started by persons who have a grudge.
Joseph Martin Blazier, a Swiss, has been bound over to the grand jury for violating the sugar regulations, having bought 100 pounds of sugar for canning purposes and an additional 10 lbs. at the Dawson store. Blazier is unmarried and not a naturalized citizen. The military police which is making a number of investigations in this county ascertained that Blazier had bought no liberty bonds, had invested in W. S. S. to the amount of $4.18 and had given 50c to the Red Cross, but had sent $28.00 to Switzerland for military purposes.
As there is a question raised in regard to the school boards paying teachers' wages owing to the schools being closed because of Spanish influenza, District Attorney T. H. Goynes has written the Attorney General for an opinion. Mr. Goynes is inclined to believe that it will be illegal for school boards to pay teachers' salaries. There is another phase to this question. Should they do so they could be made to refund the district. But no doubt the Attorney General's opinion will be available in a few days, as other counties are also asking him for advice.
Frank M. Fessender vs. Laura Fessender is a divorce suit filed in the circuit court. These parties were married at Los Angeles, Cal., on July 1907, but no children have been born to the union. The plaintiff alleges that in 1914 his wife was extremely abusive and made his life miserable and unbearable by her constant nagging and scolding, the defendant's temper being such he had to leave home. The plaintiff drove away from the home with plaintiff's son, by a former marriage, who was only 13 years of age. Seeking a pretext for a quarrel.

Dr. Turner, eye specialist, of Portland, will be in Tillamook again Friday and Saturday, Nov. 8 and 9, at Jenkins' Jewelry Store. Consult him. Dr. Turner will be in Wheeler from Wednesday noon until Thursday at 3 p.m., November 6 and 7 at hotel.
Chaplain Paul DuBois U. S. A., S. P. D. Clatsop District, and Arthur M. Cannon, ex-secretary W. C. C. S., Clatsop district which includes Tillamook county, were in the city on Monday in the interest of the War Camp Community Service, which is for the purpose of forming clubs and for communities to show hospitality to the soldiers who may be located in this district. Mr. Cannon says he has made application for $3,450 to be expended here for that work.
Mrs. A. C. Everson went to the north part of the county the first of the week in the interest of the United War Work campaign, distributing the literary matter to the different communities. She left today for the South part of the county for the same purpose. Mrs. Everson is the official secretary of the Red Cross in this county and has devoted a great deal of time the past year to Red Cross work, and is now taking hold of the United War Work campaign. Very few persons realize the amount of time Mrs. Everson has devoted to patriotic work, while others have done little or nothing in this respect. She is now a candidate for county treasurer and no doubt will receive a large amount of support on account of her activities in patriotic work in Tillamook county.
The Military Police went to Wheeler on Sunday and on searching Joe Decker's cabin a complete still outfit was found and one barrel of raisins under fermentation. Deputy Sheriff F. Reed took charge of the outfit, and as Decker was not in the city the sheriff and Military Police went to the transfer point at Timber and picked Decker up there, who had two suit cases. As there are more serious charges against Decker he was taken to Portland and turned over to the Federal authorities. The Military Police also searched the home of John Seaman at Wheeler. Seaman is a fisherman and was not home at the time, but a complete still was found with the exception of the coil. For two and a half hours the women in the house held out. When Seaman returned in the morning he was arrested. He owned up and made a complete confession and was brought to the city, the justice fining him $250.00 this morning.
E. E. Koch, the druggist and David Kurrall, of the Tillamook County Bank, had rather a strenuous experience early Sunday morning, which might have resulted disastrous for either of them, but as luck would have it they both got out of a tight place. They went duck hunting on the Hanenkrat place, and at the cut-off they got into a boat, which did not have any oars. They shot a duck and started across the slough to get it, and while doing so the boat was struck by a wave, collapsed, throwing the hunters into the water. Being loaded down with guns, boots and rain coats and ammunition they were in a precarious position. However they managed to get hold of the over turned boat and clung to it for dear life. After being in the water some time a fisherman passed them, and although they appealed to him for help, he refused to do so, claiming that his boat was loaded with fish. After being in the water for three quarters of an hour the men managed to catch hold of a sprig and succeeded in getting out. They were all in, for they had become chilled.
Death of Geo. W. Bodyfelt.
We have to announce the death of Geo. W. Bodyfelt, which took place at his home on Sunday last. He had been quite sick for a long time and returned from Portland last week. The deceased was a prominent citizen of this county, having served eight years as county commissioner. He was an early pioneer of Tillamook county, having taught school in the early days of the county. He crossed the plains when a boy of 13 years of age with his parents, and on Nov. 28, 1872, was married to Mary Butt in this county, and to the union were born six children viz: William D. Bodyfelt, of Portland, Ore.; Chas. A. Bodyfelt, deceased; Oscar Walter Bodyfelt, of Beaver; Mrs. Clara Kellow, of Hebo; James Walton Bodyfelt, of Beaver; and George Arthur Bodyfelt, in the service of his country at Camp Lewis, Washington. He also leaves to mourn his loss a sister Mrs. Jonas Olson, of Tillamook.
The funeral took place on Wednesday, Rev. Chas. Gibson, of the M. E. church conducting the religious service, which was attended by a large number of neighbors and friends.
Mr. Bodyfelt was thirteen years old when he crossed the plains with his parents in 1862, having been born in Adams county, Ind., February 9, 1849. His father, Daniel, was born in Somerset county, Pa., March 19, 1813, and died at his home in Tillamook county, in 1882, from a cold contracted in the mines of California and Idaho. He was of Pennsylvania-Dutch stock, while his wife, formerly Amy Jane Catterlin, was born in Butler county, Ohio, October 1, 1825, was of English extraction. Mrs. Bodyfelt afterward married Peter Brant. She was the mother of four sons and two daughters, of whom George W. is the oldest. The parents were married in Adams county, Ind., about 1846, and in September, 1857, located in Marion county, Iowa, where the father engaged in carpentering and millwrighting. In the meantime, in 1852, Daniel Bodyfelt crossed the plains in a train of goldseekers, and after fair success in the mines returned to his former home in Indiana by way of the Isthmus. Though for ten years he filled his life with honorable industry and home-making achievements, he was never again satisfied with the east, feeling always a yearning for the west. His course in 1862 was dictated by the incessant promptings of his heart, and after disposing of his saw and grist mill he bought the necessary outfit for conveying across the plains the family and possessions for beginning life anew under newer and more favorable conditions. With two wagons and six yoke of oxen he made the start May 21, arriving at his destination in Yamhill county November 15, 1862. He was for a time captain of the train, which experienced scarcely any of the discomforts which rendered terrifying and dangerous the path of the earlier emigrants. The first winter was spent in Yamhill county, and thereafter Mr. Bodyfelt lived in and near the town of Lafayette until October, 1865, in the meantime working at his trade, and getting quite a start in the new country. From Yamhill he came to Tillamook county over the Harlan trail, shipping his goods by boat, and taking up one hundred and twenty acres of land five miles east of Tillamook, where the balance of his life was spent. He saw much of the west during his sojourn here, and in 1863 took a trip to Idaho, but his experience in the mines was hardly satisfactory.
Educated in the public schools of Iowa and Oregon and at the Lafayette Academy, George W. Bodyfelt remained on the home place until his twenty-third year, and in 1872 married Mary Butt, who was born near Greencastle, Ind., January 10, 1850. Six children were born to Mr. and Mrs. Bodyfelt. In 1869 Mr. Bodyfelt went to the Smith river, Douglas county, and engaged in logging for eight months, and finally bought 80 acres of school land five miles northwest of town, where he lived for two years. He then took up his present homestead, which consisted at the time of one hundred and sixty acres, fifty acres of which have since been sold. Mr. Bodyfelt has taken an active interest in Republican politics, and has been a member of the school board for twenty years. He also served as constable of Tillamook, and in 1902 was elected county commissioner. He was a keen business man and practical farmer, and is regarded as one of the substantial, reliable and honorable upbuilders of a prosperous community.

Andy Nolan on Wrecked Ship.
Andy Nolan, who is well known in this city, and who attended the officers' nautical school conducted by the U. S. Shipping Board in Portland and given a third mate's papers, was on board the steamer Danaru, reported lost bound from Guam for Manila.
Guam reported that one lifeboat with the master, second mate and three members of the crew had been picked up by a transport. The whereabouts of two other boats is unknown. These boats are reported to have left the ship safely. The wreck, which occurred October 16, is reported to have been caused by lightning striking a deck cargo of gasoline.
The Danaru, owned by Sudden & Christensen, of San Francisco, and operated by the shipping board, was of 1752 tons. The vessel was launched April 17, last, by the Grant Smith Porter shipyard in Portland. She left San Francisco for Honolulu September 12, arrived there September 23 and sailed two days later for Manila. O. Barrison was her master.

To Subscribers.
This is to inform our subscribers who are in arrears that they must pay up at once. As this is imperative it must be complied with or the paper will be stopped. Do not delay, but attend to it today. Newspapers in other parts of the country have raised the price, which we will have to do before long, owing to the increase cost of production.
Home Guards Attention.
The Tillamook Home Guards will drill on Wednesday evening Nov. 6, in the play shed of the school house. The roll is open for new members and those in class 1 in the draft are especially invited to drill with the company.
Roy C. Jones, Captain.
Obituary.
Elsie M. Bissell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. J. White, of Meda, Ore., was born near Woodstone, Kan., Sept 25, 1893 and died at her home in Dunsmer, Cal., Oct. 20, 1918.
Deceased came to Oregon in 1905. On April 6, 1917, she was united in marriage to Ross E. Bissell. She was a member of the Rebekah Lodge at Dunsmer, Cal.
The funeral services were conducted at Newberg, Oregon, Oct. 25, by Rev. Randall. The remains were laid to rest beside her mother, in the Oak Grove Cemetery. Besides her husband and infant son, she leaves to mourn her loss a father, three brothers, four sisters and many other relatives and friends.
Pay For Patriotism.
"Whenever members of local or district boards feel that they can, with justice to their families and to themselves, decline compensation for their services, the Government will gratefully accept their patriotic tender."
Thus reads a portion of section 193 of the selective service regulations issued by the President of the United States.
"Walter M. Pierce is a farmer, a Democrat and stands behind the President."
So reads an advertisement of the Democrat candidate for Governor.
Mr. Pierce owns 12,000 acres of land in Union County. His holdings are assessed at $222,000. He harvested this year, it is estimated, 44,000 bushels of wheat worth $88,000.
Yet, wealthy Candidate Pierce "stands behind the President" by demanding and collecting $467 for service on a district board, after receiving what is in effect a request from the President that he perform such services gratuitously.—Oregonian.
How To Obtain Building Permits.
Before anyone can get a governmental approval and show the certificate entitling him to get building materials he must file with the county chairman of the State Council of Defense an application in writing. This application can be in the form of a letter or as a sworn statement of facts, must give the location of the building, the name of the owner, the kind of building; whether wood, brick or concrete, and the number of stories high; the probable cost of the building, and what the new building is to be used for. The person making the application must give his name and address, and his relationship to the building whether he is the owner, architect, contractor or lessee. The application should state briefly and concisely the necessity for the projected construction, and a statement from the applicant why he desires to build at this time. All applications must be in duplicate and sworn to. These two points are important, and the county chairman shall consider no application until all of the conditions above noted have been fulfilled.
Upon receiving the application, the county chairman will make such investigation as he may deem necessary to check the statements of the application and inform himself of the necessity of the project. When this investigation is completed the county chairman will forward the application together with the report of his investigation and recommendation of approval or rejection, to the State Council of Defense. The County chairman in his investigation should ascertain of the material to be used can be locally secured or will have to be transported by rail, and if he approves of the application he should state his own views why he deems the project a necessity at this time.
The State Council of Defense, after recommending approval or rejection, forwards the application to the Priorities Division of the War Industries Board at Washington D. C. who issue the permit or send refusal of permit.
The entire effort of the War Industries Board is to discourage non-war construction, whether it is in buildings, roads or other improvements so as to release labor, material and transportation of war essentials, to preserve the health and well being of the people.
Address your sworn statement applications to R. C. Jones, County Chairman, Tillamook, Oregon.
