TILLAMOOK HAS STRIKE.

Men at the Coats Lumber Co.'s Saw Mill Are Out.

When the Loyal Legion of Loggers and Lumbermen was formed in this city after the United States declared war on Germany, it was predicted that at the close of hostilities an effort would be made to unionize all the logging camps and sawmills on the Pacific Coast. This seems to have proved true, for an effort was made to unionize the saw mill of the A. F. Coats Lumber Co. in this city last week.

The mill company had recently started work after being closed down since last November, with the object of providing work for those out of employment, at a time when the lumber market did not justify the company starting up, but to set business in motion decided to take chances of losing money on account of the unsettled condition of the lumber market.

W. D. Smith, who is a member of the Electrical Workers Union of Oregon City, was in the city to reorganize the Loyal Legion of Loggers and Lumbermen, and he gave the impression that the Four L's was a kind of co-operative association in which the employees and employers were members. He succeeded in getting most of the employees of the saw mill together and organized with Carl Peterson, chairman and first member of the conference and grievance committee; Dick Buttz and Fred Fessenden the other members of the committee. J. H. Moore was elected secretary.

On Monday morning the men were on hand when the whistle blew to go to work, but they did not do so, and realizing the situation the officers of the company decided to close down and since then quite a number of the men have gone to the company and signified their intention of withdrawing from the Four L's.

W. D. Smith came in on Wednesday and met the men at the city hall that evening.

There will be a new crew in the city next Monday and the mill will start up again on Tuesday.

Statement by O. A. Schultz.

"There was an organizer that came here, a man by the name of Smith, representing the Four L's and I asked him to show his credentials, which he did, and I asked him what the button pinned on his vest stood for, and he said he was a member of the Electrical Worker's Union of Oregon City. This man, to my knowledge, never worked in a saw mill or logging camp. He also told me that he was a Democrat. I told him that we don't care to be members of the Four L's and requested him to be kind enough not to organize our crew, as it took two parties to form an agreement. He disregarded my instructions to him and the very same night called a meeting for the purpose of organizing the Four L's, and on Saturday, the 8th, they had fourteen men signed up in the Four L organization. I went to Mr. Joe Moore, who was the secretary of the Four L's. I might state that this man is a Russian by birth and has been in this country less than eight years and is not a citizen of the United States. This man was put in secretary of the organization, for what reason I do not know. Possibly he is a union man belonging to the Cook's and Waiter's Union. I immediately told the secretary that I wanted him to cease soliciting members for the Four L's, which he agreed, Saturday, at 5 o'clock he would do. Immediately he turned around and worked tooth and nail Saturday night, all day Sunday, and Monday morning, inducing the men to join the Four L's, which I think is contrary to the laws of Oregon. I asked Mr. Smith the organizers of the Four L's, what his reason was for organizing the Four L's. He stated it was for the sole purpose of maintaining the eight hour day that is now in effect. I asked Mr. Smith if there was any question about wages. He said there was slightly. He said the common help was not getting enough and we should reduce the wages of the skilled help and raise the wages of the common help.

"I told Mr. Smith that wasn't it a fact that if he wanted to do something to help the laboring people of the Pacific Coast, that if President Wilson would send the delegates that are now going around organizing the different crews, if they were sent down South in the yellow pine district, organizing the crews down there, so as to put the mills and logging camps from an eleven hour basis to an eight hour day, at the same pay that we are paying, that we could well afford to pay more money than we are today. The trouble with us fellows out here today, we cannot break even operating our plants, for the sole reason the yellow pine mills will operate ten and eleven hours and the root of the evil rests in the south. Furthermore, the southern pine mills have from 28c. to a 33c. freight rate in the states of Missouri, Kansas, part of Nebraska,

Iowa and Minnesota, while we have in the same territory a freight rate of 55c. to 60c. This handicap in freight rates is a hard problem, but it wouldn't be so bad if the yellow pine mills were running eight hours and paying the same wages as we are today. This is the sole reason why we are having difficulty in operating our plants and this is also the reason why there are so many logging camps and sawmills closed down in Oregon. It is not a question of an eight or ten hour day. The mills have an overproduction of lumber and the eight hour day is one way of decreasing the cut.

"We are not members of the Four L's and we are not going to be dictated to by any committees of that organization. I might suggest that this mill will start up again and when it does there will be no dictation of any committees of labor from this plant. This plant will be run by the officers of the Coats Lumber Co., and any men that were unfortunate enough to be misled will perhaps find a hard time getting back on the job. Might suggest that a great many of the men are coming back to us, stating that they were misled and they positively refuse to have anything to do with the Four L organization. In some territories where the Four L's have been organized, the radicals have got a hold of the Four L's and made a union of it. Take, for instance, the city of Marshfield. The Four L's were organized and the I. W. W. stepped in and took over the organization. We don't want a repetition of this in our county of Tillamook, or in our city. We don't want to be dragged into anything that will reflect on our city or county. I might state that the company is going to pay all the wages it can afford to pay, but will not operate their plant at a loss and the plant will be run strictly by the officers of the corporation and not run by any organization."

C. M. Thomas Interviewed.

The following interview with C. M. Thomas, one of the employees who remained in the employ of the Coats Lumber Company, is herewith submitted:

"I was first approached by Mr. Smith, the organizer, of Oregon City, about quitting time and informed that there was going to be a Four L meeting at the City Hall that evening. In reply to which, I said, 'I thought the government had dropped the Four L,' but Smith said the men were going to keep it up and I said, 'What in h— good has it ever done?' and Smith said it was in shape to do us some good now. I didn't go up to the meeting. They organized and asked me to join and I told them to wait a while. Joe Moore, my planer boss, came around with a card later on and said, 'Here's a card' and put it in my coat pocket and told me to fill it out and pay membership fee Saturday, but I didn't fill it out.

I understood the object of the organization was to form some kind of a Union to hold wages up. That was what they professed to me they would do. They told me that we would be working for $2.00 a day right now if it wasn't for the Four L's I told them I was getting $4 a day for feeding sizer and was satisfied.

Membership cards read that the employers are a party to the agreement.

I was afterwards told that if I didn't join I wouldn't be able to get a job, as the Four L's would carry the whole Coast and I would have to quit sawmilling on account of scabbing. I said maybe so, but I think if the Company should think it was all right and go into it I didn't think they would fire me anyway, even if I had scabbed, in reply to which they said that if I wasn't fired under those conditions they would all walk out."

James Walker Interviewed

James Walker, another employee of the Coats Lumber Co., was also interviewed and had the following to say in regard to the disturbance at the mill:

"I was approached by the secretary to be a member of the Four L's, which he said was to be revived upon the mutual agreement of the employers as well as the employee. It was represented to me, in order to induce me to join, that there would be no disturbance of the wage scale as long as the men were satisfied. After joining I found out that the mill company were not concurring in the movement and that they were trying to force upon the mill company an organization of the Four L's without the consent of the company. For this reason I withdrew and requested my membership fee returned. The secretary promised to return the fee, but up to this time I have not received same."

When asked how long Mr. Walker had been with the company he replied "five years next May." "Have your relations with the company been agreeable all this time?" He replied "They have."

"Monday morning when the whistle blew a number of the men refused to resume their work in the lower part of the mill and went out on a strike. I don't disapprove of a labor organization if it is conducted in the right way."

Fashionable Girl's School In Metro Play at the Gem.

An original and charming scene, a graduating day at a girl's school, will be one of the attractive features in "The Return of Mary" the Metro production in which beautiful May Allison is starred and which will be shown at the Gem Theatre Saturday night, February 15th.

Not only was the scene taken in an exclusive girls' school in San Bernardino, California, but a score or more of the young girls, daughters of families of wealth and prominence in the west, were allowed by the principal of the school which was appropriately decorated with several hundred yards of bunting, seventy-five U. S. shields, two hundred potted palms and plants besides bushels of freshly cut roses and other flowers from the gardens surrounding the school. It was such an unusual event in the even life of the school that a holiday was declared.

Knights of Pythias Attention.

The Supreme Chancellor Knights of Pythias, has issued a proclamation designating the third week in February as "Anniversary Week" to celebrate the fifty-fifth anniversary of the order, and requesting all subordinate lodges to see that this occasion is fittingly observed. In compliance with this proclamation, Marathon Lodge No. 89, have made arrangements to have anniversary services at the Presbyterian church, Sunday evening, February 16. Rev. Hickerson, of Bay City, assisted by Rev. Gibson, will conduct the service. It is the duty of every Knight to attend this service, and bring your friends. I earnestly request that all Knights, and those who have taken the first and second rank meet at the Castle Hall promptly at 7:30 Sunday evening, this is necessary so that we may reach the church at 8 o'clock and not delay the service. Bring your badge. Those who do not have a badge can secure one at the hall. Don't forget to bring your friends.

W. T. Oathout, Chancellor-Commander.

Fathers and Sons.

About 100 answered the announcement which was made from the pulpit of the Christian Church last Sunday, inviting the men and boys to a "Fathers and Sons" banquet to be given Wednesday evening in the dining room of the church. If you missed it, you missed it. The women of the church furnished the banquet and the "Boys and Men" knew how to show their appreciation by eating a plenty. Thanks to the good women. The following program was rendered:

Prayer, Erwin Harrison;
"Lincoln as a Father"—Prof White;
"The Kind of Father I Admire"—Ira G. Lance;
"My Kind of Boy"—C. O. Dawson.
"Lincoln"—Dr. R. T. Boals;
"The Kind of Boy I Admire"—B. J. Simpson, Bay City;
Music by Lee Doty and Mr. Carroll. Henry Crenshaw acted as chairman. The speeches were forceful and well received by all. We are glad that we have such splendid talent in our community. The boys say, "let these occasions come often." So note it be.
