LIVESTOCK PAVILION WILL COST $500,000.

Portland Will Have Largest Building of Kind.

Construction of the first unit of the largest stadium and livestock pavilion in the United States ultimately to cost half a million dollars will be started within the month by the Pacific-International Livestock exposition. It was announced by officers of the organization. Lewis Irvine Thompson, the architect, has just completed the plans. Announcement of the site will be made in a few days.

The building will be 364 by 928 ft. will house more than 10,000 head of stock and its stadium will seat approximately 8000 persons. The pavilion will be of brick and mill work construction. The first unit will be 400 by 928 feet.

No other building of the kind in this country will come near it in size, and so far as is known, no other nation in the world has one as large. The building will be used exclusively for livestock events and it is expected to place Portland second only with Chicago as a livestock center.

There will be no posts in the big arena, which will be 200 by 300 feet solid truss construction being used. The structure will have the largest wood span trusses of their type in the world.

The cattle barns will be lighted by a sawtooth roof, this type of construction insuring an even light at all points and under all conditions.

Provisions have been made to house 10,150 animals in the pavilion. The number is divided as follows. Eight hundred beef cattle, 100 dairy cattle, 4000 swine, 4,000 sheep and 350 horses.

The Pacific International Livestock exposition is an entirely new organization, its membership being composed exclusively of stock breeders. It has no connection with any similar organization, say its officers.

B. Appenbender has been elected a director and appointed chairman for Tillamook County.

The exposition will wage a campaign of Oregon outside of Portland the week of February 24 to March 1 to raise $125,000. A campaign will be conducted in Portland the week of March 19 to 15 to match the first subscription dollar for dollar. A list of the county chairman and quotas follow:

When contemplating Monumental work, do not overlook White Bronze. This material cannot rust or corrode. There is nothing to support vegetable life. It is hard and dense and will not chip or crack. In beauty of design, artistic and general effect no stone can compare with White Bronze.
