Meade, which was tried before Judge Bagley in the circuit court and a verdict given in behalf of the plaintiff, was taken to the supreme court, and on Tuesday the verdict was reversed, the supreme court ruling that the demurrer to the complaint ought to have been sustained. The decree of the circuit court is, therefore reversed and the cause remanded for further proceedings. The opinion was written by Judge J. Barnett and covers twelve pages, and was concurred in by Justices McBride, Benson and Harris.

Ben Kuppenbender is hobbling around pretending that he belongs to the cripple brigade. This is what happened. Ben had conscientious scruples about working on Sundays, but he allowed someone to interfere with the conscientious end of his scruples and he found himself at work on the day of rest loading a tractor on Hadley's truck, which began to balk and finally took a tumble. Ben was on top as it went over and jumped, and he now claims that he sprained his ankle and requires a cane to help him navigate. Ben has learned his lesson. No one in future is going to get him to violate his conscientious scruples and induce him to work on Sundays.

Judge G. R. Bagley came in on Friday for the purpose of passing sentence upon Antonia Sovori and Joe Busch, the two Austrians who robbed another Austrian of a large amount of money at the logging camp of the Brighton Mill Co. and then took to the woods. As they attempted to make their escape they were arrested by the Clatsop county officials but not before a little gun play had taken place. They were brought back to Tillamook by Sheriff Campbell, and having pleaded guilty the judge sentenced them to an indeterminate sentence of from one day to two years in the state penitentiary. When the sheriff went to get them from the county jail to be taken to Salem on Sunday, the men at first acted ugly, refusing to come out of the cells. They evidently did so when they saw that they had to, when they were handcuffed and the sheriff accompanied by F. B. McKinley, took them to Salem in his auto. The reason that the judge came in at this time was to save cost of keeping these men in the county jail until next October, and as the Democratic party failed to keep its promise to reduce the high cost of living, this is how the county officials prevented these criminals chewing at the taxpayers' expense in this county.

Receipts for Cheese for May

Carl Haberlach reports that $302,641.33 was realized for May cheese and whey cream.

886,451 lbs. cheese produced. Most of the cheese sold for 34c. for trip-lets and 35c. for Y. A's and Long-horns.

45 farmers received over $1,000.00 checks for May milk. The highest was $2,195.28 for Beals and Berns and the second was $2,178.00 for M. Abplanalp.

18 farmers received between $900 and $1000 checks. 23 received between $800 and $900 checks. 24 received between $700 and $800. 35 received between $600 and $700, and 50 received between $500 and $600.

Most of the June cheese has been sold and it is expected that the balance will move off at 34c.

The production of cheese is very heavy all over this country. Coos-Curry advise that they have had no cheese sold the last week, so they are consigning cheese to several markets. Brokers and government reports show their sales to be as low as 31 1/2c. Seattle and San Francisco. That means several cents per lb. under Tillamook prices and will be bound to bring our price down if continued. A number of Tillamook farmers have always been opposed to co-operating with Coos-Curry in marketing, but closer relations would be bound to help all concerned as they are in the cheese business and will continue to stay in. Their cheese will always find a market on this Coast.

"Bill" Smith Indicted for Causing Forest Fire Last Year.

William B. Smith was indicted by the grand jury on a charge of negligently allowing fire to escape from his land, which was the cause of the destructive forest fire that caused millions of dollars worth of damage to timber last September in Tillamook county.

The indictment alleges that on the 26th of September, 1918, Smith unlawfully and negligently allowed fire to escape from his own lands to lands of other persons, by then and there recklessly and carelessly and negligently setting fire to stumps, logs and chunks upon his own land and allowing the said fire to continue to burn while a strong east wind was blowing and while the weather was exceedingly dry and at a time when there was great danger of such fire spreading to the lands of other persons adjoining such lands and by then and there failing and neglecting to take or use any precaution whatever to prevent the fire from spreading from his lands to the lands of other persons adjoining such lands of his own, and said fire was not set as a back fire to prevent the progress of a fire then burning, nor a campfire carefully set.

Smith gave bonds and the trial will not take place until the October term of the Circuit Court.
