

TOO FEW USE THEIR BRAINS

Result Truthfully May Be Said to Be the Greatest Waste in the World.

The recent invention which renders wireless transmission independent of atmospheric conditions and the discovery by which seven messages can be sent simultaneously over a telephone wire are striking instances of latent possibilities long unsuspected.

For thousands of years we did not even suspect the existence of electricity, and, being ignorant, derived no advantage from it.

If we had never heard music, we would say it was merely the dream of a simpleton to expect the most beautiful harmony of sounds from a combination of wood, intestines of a dead cat and hairs from the tail of a horse. But the violin, plus the man who knows how, accomplishes the wonderful result.

Active talent is the source of both quantity and quality of production, and that does not lie in capital but in men, and it usually is latent.

Every man has power and courage, but not all of them know it.

David had it, and knew it, and licked Goliath.

Foeh was not plucked from the "four hundred."

And Lincoln came from a log cabin.

Not only once in a while, but very often, nature takes a particularly "raw" bit of material and shows up what is in it. It is a suggestion for use to do likewise with ourselves.

The greatest waste in the world is the unused brains.

TAKING HIM DOWN A PEG

Visitor's Comment on the Intelligence of His Host Verged on the Caustic.

Two old men, one a bachelor and the other a widower of many years' standing, have lived on small adjoining farms in the southern part of Washington county for many years. Not long ago one of them inherited a small amount of money and he immediately put it to use by building a new shack on his land.

When the house was completed he asked his old friend and neighbor to come over to spend the night. After supper they sat by the fire and smoked and talked, and finally, when conversation began to lull, the visitor turned to his host and said:

"You say this home is all done and paid for?"

"Yes," was the short reply.

"And you planned it all yourself and hired the carpenters and everything?" the guest insisted.

"Why, yes, of course, I did. What's the matter with you?"

"Oh, nuthin' much," yawned the visitor. "Only if I was smart enough to buy a house and build it and then'd ast folks to come to see it, I'll be dum'd if I wouldn't know when it was time to say something about going to bed."—Indianapolis News.

Shark Salad Wins Favor.

Shark meat is delicate in flavor and texture, and sharks are plentiful in certain parts of Florida, but the fishermen do not catch them because they are not salable. The home demonstration agent of Monroe county, Florida, decided last winter on an effort to establish in favor of this fish now under the ban. At her request a fisherman caught one, but warned her that no one would eat it. Undismayed, she invited a large company of women to a home economics luncheon at which was served a fish salad. When all had tasted the salad she asked for a vote as to how many liked it and wanted the recipe. Without exception the women voted their hearty approval, and thus proved to themselves that their prejudice was without foundation.

Increasing Use of Castor Beans.

The use of castor beans for making oil increased very rapidly in 1918. Great Britain imported from India from 3,500 to 4,000 tons per month. They were used in making a motor lubricating oil. An effort was made last year to plant large areas of the beans in the southern part of the United States and in the West Indies and Brazil. So far most of the beans have been raised in India from which some 1,723,000 gallons of oil were exported in 1918-17. This bean is a form of our common garden castor bean used as an ornamental.

Recent Spanish Inventions.

Recent inventions reported by Carl Bailey Hurst, American consul general at Barcelona, include a straw compound as a substitute for coal for locomotives and agricultural tractors, as it develops sufficient heat in thirty minutes, and the ashes make an excellent fertilizer. This is invented by Jonquin Estevean, the engineer. Another patent is by Thomas Roca of Las Palmas, on a process for the use of banana fibre for textiles, yarns and cords as a substitute for hemp.

Becomes His Mother's Uncle.

His own mother's uncle, his grandfather's brother and a great-uncle to his half-brother is the peculiar status of five-year-old Irving Tucker, who was adopted by his great-grandmother, Mrs. Johanna Freitag of Mount Vernon.

The boy's mother, Mrs. Mabel Hauser, agreed to the legal adoption. He has lived with his adopted mother since the death of his father, more than four years ago.—Brooklyn Eagle.

Announcement.

Mary Pickford in "Johanna Enlists."

A Story of unusual appeal, concerning a little country girl, who has never known anything but the drudgery of life on the farm. One day, while she is spending a few idle moments, a regiment of soldiers are sighted, coming her way. They make camp on the farm. Here is where her romance starts, as she sells cakes, pies and other sweets to the young soldiers. For lack of space we won't tell you any more about it, but would advise you to see this picture.

SERIOUS AUTO ACCIDENT

Machine Driven by J. M. Wilson Crowded off Grade Near Miami Saturday.

For crowding a machine driven by J. M. Wilson off the Miami road last Saturday night, R. T. Sprague of Forest Grove was fined $100 and costs by the court Tuesday morning.

Mr. Sprague was leaving a trail behind him as he came down the road, according to the evidence before the court. It was reported that he had successfully held down the center of the road from Rockaway south. Other machines were fortunate enough to have a place to slide track to, but Mr. Wilson who was driving along the road to Wheeler, with four passengers in his car, bound for the Oddfellows ceremonies being carried out that night was crowded to the edge of the road, and when he saw that he would be bumped off if he didn't drive over, he let the machine go and it turned two summersaults on the way to the ground below the grade.

Mr. Wilson was under the rear wheel when it came down, and it fell on his back. The other passengers were not seriously hurt at all, or even badly bruised. Roy Henkle, B. Egge, Allen Page and John Aschum were the passengers in the car with Mr. Wilson.

Mr. Page jumped out before the machine went over the grade as he saw it inevitably must, and Mr. Aschum remained inside and got all tangled up in the tonneau, and didn't extricate himself, until after Mr. Wilson had been dragged out from under the machine by the others. Mr. Sprague drove right on with his car, not even seeing the accident he had caused, and claimed to be totally without knowledge of the trouble.

"The Eternal City" Well filled With Stirring Action.

Hall Caine's intense drama of modern Roman life, filmed by Paramount in England and Italy with Pauline Frederick as the star will be shown at the Gem Theatre Friday, August 8. "The Eternal City," adhering as closely as possible to the story of the novel is brimful of thrilling scenes photographed against a background of surpassing beauty.

It is this last feature which adds the finishing touch to the production. St. Peter's and the Vatican, the narrow steep streets and the ancient palace of the capital by the Tiber appear frequently, while the ruins of the Coliseum are used for one of the most effective passages of the play. Taken on the very ground described in the novel, the photoplay at once has conferred on it an air of reality, impossible to achieve by any mere evasion or makeshift of the cleverest director. The London scenes are no less convincing. There is Charing Cross Station, Trafalgar Square and an unmistakable bit of Soho right in front of the spectator.

Pauline Frederick plays the part of Donna Roma in a thoroughly convincing manner and the camera absorbs a pleasing portion of her good looks.
