The G. A. R. had such a good time a few years ago when its encampment was held in Tillamook a few years ago, they have not forgotten to talk about it, and, of course, have a desire to visit the good people of this county again for their 1921 encampment. By all means send them an invitation and promise them another good time in Tillamook. It was very gratifying the way the people of this city opened their homes and entertained the members of the G. A. R. and W. R. C., and we are confident that they would gladly do so again should the encampment come to Tillamook in 1921, and all arrangements will be just as complete as it was five years ago.

Governor Olcott has left the state to attend a meeting of western governors. It seems only a few days ago, when asked to call a special session of the legislature to ratify the woman's suffrage amendment he was willing to do so if the state legislators would forego their constitutional salary and mileage. We wonder if the governor is doing the same thing himself now that he is out of the state. Oh, no, Olcott is not built that way. The governor has since decided not to call an extra session of the legislature and the woman suffragists are up in arms. So here is a chance for state senator Vinton to make a political play and call the state legislature together. He would have the admiration of every woman suffragist in the state, go to it, Vinton.

Let's all get busy and put our shoulder to the wheel to reduce the high cost of living. It is not only in food stuffs where the cost of living comes high, but in a good many other things. For illustration, the excessive telephone rates. If the people of the county would order their phones removed from their homes right away, it would have the effect of making the telephone companies take a tumble to themselves, but it would be the means of bringing about a consolidation of the two companies. After reading this go immediately to your phone and instruct central to remove your phone from your home right away. We hear that 20 persons at Bay City did this and we hope all parts of the county will follow suit and when we've reduced the cost of telephoning let's start in on something else.

There's something wrong somewhere. This is what appeared in the daily newspapers Tuesday: "Secretary Baker defended today before the senate subcommittee on military affairs his recommendation for an army of 576,000 men by saying that in view of the disturbed conditions of the world he did not wish the responsibility of asking for a small force."

Lloyd George, premier of England, is reported as saying: "If the nations increased their armaments, the league of nations would be a mere scrap of paper and sham."

The logic of this is the United States is increasing its army when it is not necessary, unless it is to prepare to fight Japan, for there is something very significant in the government sending a large fleet to the Pacific Coast when there is a demand, not only to demobilize the army, but to allow the boys who joined the navy to return to their homes. According to Lloyd George, by the United States increasing its army, it is helping to turn the league of nations into a scrap of paper.

Quite an agitation, with considerable complaint is heard everywhere about profiteering for it seems to be the general rule to fleece the people for everything they buy. As to who is to blame for the profiteering is now causing lively discussions, one class of profiteers blaming the other class of profiteers. We blame the president, had he remained at home instead of going to France and looked after the interests of the people of the United States, conditions would have been quite different today. Instead of the cost of living becoming lower when the armistice was signed, the cost continued to go higher and the democratic administration took no steps to curb profiteering, which went on month after month. It is now general discontent and agitation that is forcing the administration to do something, but having been in the profiteering game itself, when it guaranteed $2.26 per bushel for wheat and made the people live on substitutes which reached outrageously high prices for the filthy stuff that was put on the market by the profiteers and under control of the government's food administration. This is how one congressman expressed himself: "The administration itself is responsible for the conditions which beset the country today. It is responsible for extravagance, inflation, excessive profits, high prices, for refusal to sell supplies to the public. It is responsible for not enforcing the law against trusts and profiteers. Yet the administration is now coming to Congress for relief."

Bride is Accused of Husband's Murder in "Out of The Shadow." Appearing as a young Australian bride who is wrongfully accused of the murder of her brutal husband, Pauline Frederjek, the talented Paramount star, will be seen in a powerful characterization in her latest photoplay, "Out of The Shadow," at the Gem Theatre next Monday, Aug. 25. The role is one that taxes Miss Frederjek's powers as an actress to their utmost, but it is said that her portrayal is one of the finest of her screen career.

The story of the photoplay, which is a picturization of E. W. Hornung's celebrated novel, "The Shadow of the Rope," is unusually dramatic and there are numerous tense situations all of which hold the interest to the final scene. How Ruth Minchin, the young wife, induces the real criminal to confess his crime and how she later finds happiness in the love of a strong resourceful man, are admirably shown.

Gladys Brockwell Coming at Gem. Gladys Brockwell, who has become famous for the emotional characters she has put on the screen, will be seen next Thursday, August 28, at the Gem Theatre in the new William Fox production, "The Forbidden Room." No role has been enacted so severe a test upon Miss Brockwell's ability as does the character she assumes in this play, if one may judge by an outline of the story. Her part is that of an innocent young stenographer who is put in a trying predicament by men who hate her employer, the District Attorney. To save her own reputation and that of the District Attorney, she devises and executes a scheme whereby the corrupt "framers" are framed and are forced to confess their guilt.

Building being remodeled by Dr. Reedy, who Also Plans New Garage. Dr. J. E. Reedy is rapidly renovating the old horse barn near the depot that he bought, and is establishing a cattle exchange there. The building will be thoroughly white-washed, and cleaned out, and fifty stalls built. The building will be used both for showing off the animals, and also for auctioning them off. It is hoped that the building will cause more animals to be brought to Tillamook, and make this an even more important livestock center.

SOCIETY. Masons Picnic Main Event of the Week - Parties at the Beach - And Picnics are frequent.

A happy party was given at Bay-ocean Sunday when a group of Tillamook and Bay City young people went to the popular resort with Captain Walter Oliver, in the "Meta M." Those who made up the party were as follows: Miss Theresa Haas, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Campbell, of Bay City, Mrs. Reedy, of Portland, George Carroll and Louis Thompson of Bay City.

Edward S. Bettcher, of Denver, Colo., and Miss Henrietta H. Gillam, of Tillamook were married August 19th by Rev. H. E. Tucker at the parsonage. The young couple will make Tillamook their home and are living in a residence recently purchased on 5th Street. Mr. Bettcher has organized the E. S. Bettcher Milling Company which will establish a flour and feed mill in Tillamook. Plans are under way, and soon this new industry will be offering the people of Tillamook, and Tillamook County a highly satisfactory and nationally advertised brand of flour. Mr. Bettcher recently graduated from Cornell University and is a member of Sigma Nu fraternity. His wife has been attending

A very pleasant and appropriate party was given Grandma Norton and husband last Friday afternoon in the city park at Amity. The afternoon was spent in playing some of the games of girlhood days, among them was "Drop the Handkerchief", which all the girls enjoyed. Refreshments of cake, ice cream and punch were served. A short program was given, Mr. and Mrs. Norton both sang a song and Mrs. J. E. Miller gave a splendid talk, after which grandma Norton was presented with a beautiful silk dress. Mrs. Miller's speech was as follows:

"Friends: I think you all are fully aware of our reasons for this gathering together today—and each of you present are tacitly saying to Mr. and especially, Mrs. Norton, that they have proven worthy and creditable citizens in our midst—and to be truly worthy in God's sight, and in the sight of right thinking, clean-hearted people is better than inheriting and possessing wealth no matter how vast the amount. So Mrs. Norton we especially turn our thought—simply that we are fully aware of her "goings out and comings in," whilst in our midst.

Grandma Norton Royally Entertained.

"We occasionally meet a woman whose old age is as beautiful as the bloom of youth and we wonder—with all the struggles of life—how it has come about. What her secret is—we will just venture a few reasons and think we shall have guessed right: She has known how to forget disagreeable things. She has kept her nerves well in hand and inflicted them on few. She has—to a degree—mastered the art of saying pleasant things and meaning much of it. She has learned not to expect too much even of her friends. She tries to make her labor congenial and retains a healthy lot of illusions i. e. does not believe the world generally wicked and unkind. She has, and is, helpful, sympathetic and kind. She is trying to do as she wishes to be done by, and now that there is a halo of white hair about her head—and her steps growing uncertain with her many years, she is loved and considered. The woman old in years, but young in spirit is said to be "the sweetest and blessing mankind knowing" and "Grandma" Norton is proving it. Shall we whose sun is slowly setting in the West find in her an example and a source of benefit and encouragement? We trust so—and as a token of our regard and appreciation we join in presenting her something which we think she will enjoy while life lasts."

Those at the occasion were: Mesdames, O. E. Taylor, George Alderman, Geo. Massey, Clara Broadwell, Edith Jones, John Breeding, J. E. Miller, F. Grabel, John Briedwell, W. Jones, S. Robinson, W. Ingalls, G. O. Oliver, Gosnel M. Holmes, Zoe Abraham, P. Burns and Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Day, Mr. and Mrs. Grant Day, and Rev and Mrs. A. F. Lacy.
