Reasons for Increased Telephone Rates.

1. A dollar in the hands of the telephone company has no greater purchasing power in the labor and material market than has a dollar in the hands of the individual.
2. Increase in wages and prices of materials cannot be paid without money and the telephone company is no more capable of paying out money it hasn't got than is the individual.
3. The telephone company must be provided with means to meet the demands made upon it for increased wages and increased cost of materials. As these increased costs are obviously reflected in the cost of rendering telephone service, the telephone company must ask the telephone user public to pay for the service it receives.
4. Higher wages can be paid, increased costs of material met, and satisfactory and improved service can be furnished, only when the rates are sufficient to meet the costs of rendering the service with a sufficient margin for a reasonable return upon the investment.
5. A large territory served by a utility with many patrons may produce large gross receipts, but not necessarily huge profits. The State of Oregon is a large territory and the telephone company serves a large number of patrons and has large gross receipts, but small profits. Under present rates and conditions it will earn less than 3 percent on the value of its property in the state. The idea that a large corporation doing a large business must necessarily be accumulating great wealth is a prevalent fallacy which the public must get away from. Telephone rates in the State of Oregon have remained practically the same for the last fifteen years or more. There have been a few adjustments in various classes of service to meet demands of the service, with a corresponding adjustment in rates. Increases in rates are now made because of absolute necessity which made it imperative. Make your own comparison of your telephone rate with the increased cost of shoes, clothing, food products and all other necessities. Is not the increased telephone rate reasonable and consistent in comparison?

Tall Palmyra Palm Growing on Top of Bengal Fig Presents Curious Appearance—Naturalists Explain Apparent Phenomenon.

Every one has heard of small trees getting sown on larger ones, and appearing like little babies on the branches of their hosts. But in India it is, in some parts, fairly common to see the tall Palmyra palm growing as if from the top of the tree called Bengal fig. The appearance this presents is most curious and it has engaged the attention of nearly all travelers in the Thana district of Bombay, where the palm is especially abundant.

After collecting a few of these, they usually fly off to the top of a tall palm to enjoy them in peace. Some of the seeds fall and become lodged in the joints where the leaves spring from the stem. Here, in process of time, they germinate, throwing out roots below and branches and leaves above. But the roots of these fig trees are not content to draw their moisture and food from the little pocket of sand and dust into which they happen to fall. They soon multiply and spread far beyond their original home, into a thick network that covers and envelops the whole of the lower part of the Palmyra stem. Branches at the same time multiply above, forming a large bush, which, with the roots, monopolizes the situation and makes the palm look like a mere adjunct. But the palm does not mind. All the air it wants is for the leaves above.

The encircling sheath of fig roots, moreover, cause it no inconvenience, because it would not, in any case, increase in girth after it had once risen from the ground. It is, in fact, a case of symbiosis or mutual accommodation between the two species. The palm gives the necessary assistance to the baby fig, and afterward support to its maturing branches, while the foliage which these bear provides welcome shade to the roots of its patron.—Journal of Natural History Society of Bombay.

Film Stars Muan't Osculate.

The police of Japan do not like to see kissing in public and therefore film stars are not permitted to osculate on the screen. In six months up to March 1 the police censors removed 2,350 kisses from films. Only one kiss was allowed to remain. It was a kiss granted to Columbus by Queen Isabella and was shown in Tokyo only, as the censors deleted it before permitting the photoplay "Columbus" to discover the provinces.

Three hundred and fifty-three embraces were omitted from films, states the Far East. The titles of 2,144 photoplays were altered by the censors and 127 murder scenes were killed. Reels entirely prohibited numbered 57. Most films shown in Japan are from America and a large proportion of them originally contain a little kiss or so, showing the difference in standards between east and west.

BAY CITY NEWS.

Henry Butler, chairman of School Dist. No. 31, has called for bids for the erection of a modern school house costing in the neighborhood of $20,000, to be erected in the district's five acre tract. Notice to Contractors.

Sealed bids will be received by the board of directors of School District No. 31, Bay City, Oregon, at 7 p.m., October 6, 1919, for the erection and completion of a public school building, according to plans and specifications prepared by Charles H. Burggard, architect, Albany, Oregon. All bids must be accompanied by a certified check payable to "School District No. 31 Bay City, Oregon," for the sum of $200.00 as a guarantee that the contractor will furnish an approved surety bond equal to 50 per cent of the contract within ten days after the awarding of the contract.

All bids must be made out on blank proposals for the same. Blanks furnished upon application by the clerk or architect. Plans and specifications may be seen at H. Butler's office, Bay City, Oregon, Record Abstract office, Portland, or at the Architect's office.

The successful bidder will be required to give references and an approved bond equal to 50 per cent of the amount of the contract.

The board reserves the right to reject any and all bids.

Contract to be completed within four months.

By order of School Board No. 31.
