C. O. & C. M. Dawson Make Statement

The report has been circulated that Rosenberg Bros. are interested in our business, which report is absolutely false. Our business is owned by C. O. and C. M. Dawson Inc., an Oregon corporation, and the stock of that corporation is owned by Carl M. Dawson, Cloyd O. Dawson, and their wives with Homer Mason holding some preferred stock. This is a matter of record in our corporation books which may be examined by anyone who wish. Further than this there are no debts or obligations on the part of the stockholders or of the firm itself to anyone which would give them any voice or influence in the management of the firm whatever. State of Oregon County of Tillamook, ss. I, Cloyd O. Dawson, being first duly sworn depose and say that I know the above statement is true. Cloyd O. Dawson, Subscribed and sworn to before me this 1st day of October, 1919. T. H. Goynes, Notary Public for Oregon. My commission expires May 18, 1921. These Jokes are on the Army.

Minister: "Do you believe in hereafter?" Youth: "It will be an injustice if there isn't one; I haven't been able to find the top sergeant of my company since the regiment was demobilized." Two buddies ran across each other while on duty. The night was very dark. "What's that you have?" inquired Sam. "A searchlight," replied Pete. "What are you looking for?" "Morning," he said. "Stick around awhile and it'll dawn upon you," suggested Sam, and they parted.

Corporal: "What's the matter? You look more scared than when you were bucking the Hindenburg line." Private: "I'm getting ready to go inside and ask the boss for my old job back."

An officer in the A. E. F. relates the following: "We had a bunch of negro troops on board and it was a terrible experience to them, as most of them had never been away from home before. They were very religious and used to pray all over the ship. One big buck held a prayer right outside my window thus: 'O Lord, if Thou doesn't do another thing on this trip call this ocean to attention.'"

An American soldier brought in a German prisoner and found the fellow had a pocketful of French money. The American looked at the money, thought of the fine restaurants in Paris and then tapping the German on the shoulder said: "Kamerad, kanst du craps schutz zen?"

His better half (regarding him from the bedroom window): "Where you been this hour of the night?" "I've been at me union, considering this 'ere strike." "Well you can stay down there an' consider this 'ere lock-out."

Canon Charles, of Westminster Abbey, says he wouldn't give tuppence for the bones of St. George, the patron saint of England, said to have been found by Australian engineers under the floor of a church at Constantinople. An amount not to be entered at, however, being within two cents of the value of Henry Ford's reputation, as judicially determined in Michigan.

President Wilson ought to use his one to six power and immediately suppress Lord Robert Cecil who has publicly admitted that we shall be living in "a fool's paradise" if the world relies on the league of nations to preserve peace.
