SUCCESSFUL TEACHERS' INSTITUTE IN TILLAMOOK CITY.

Resolutions Adopted—County Teachers' Association Organized.

The Teachers' Annual Institute of Tillamook County was held in the High School building of this city, December 3, 4, and 5.

Instructors—Blanche R. Blumaur, Portland Chapter, Junior Red Cross; J. A. Churchill, State Supt. of Public Instruction, Salem; Ralph Coleman, Dept. of Physical Education, O. A. C.; C. A. Gregory, Bureau of Educational Research, U. of O.; J. T. Mathews, Dept. of Mathematics, Willamette University; Edwin T. Reed, College Editor, O. A. C., Corvallis; Ida Mae Smith, Primary Critic, Oregon State Normal, Monmouth; Helen Cowgill, Assistant State Club Leader, Corvallis.

Committees—Committee on Resolutions, P. H. Wynman, Bay City; L. W. Turnbull, Tillamook; Ethel R. Glines Garibaldi.

Membership Oregon State Teachers Association—W. E. Buell, Cloverdale, Miss Lyle Stewart, Tillamook; Mrs. Martha A. Knight, Mohler.

Institute Secretary—Mrs. Harriett Ford, Brighton.

Institute Reporter—H. S. Brimhall, Nehalem.

Musical Director—Miss Naomi Sheidler, Tillamook.

County Supt. Geo. G. Lamb called the association to order, and after a few introductory remarks introduced Miss Naomi Sheidler, of the city schools who had charge of the music. Special musical numbers were rendered by the pupils of the first, second and third grades of the city schools.

Mrs. Blumaur was next introduced and gave a very interesting talk on "The relation of the state in regard to the health of the child." She showed the urgent necessity of good health and that the health of the child was of prime importance. She referred to the large number of young men who were rejected from the army on account of defective health. There is a crying need that the youth of our land should be instructed in regard to their health, when of the 25 million of school children in our country, fully three fourths are found defective. The teacher has a great opportunity in presenting the "Health Crusade", and when the parents cooperate with the teacher many good results follow. The subject was ably discussed by Mrs. C. J. Edwards, of Tillamook.

A short intermission was then announced and all teachers were requested to register.

H. C. Seymour being absent, Miss Helen Cowgill, of O. A. C. occupied his hour and discussed the subject of "Club Work." She announced to the teachers that literature on the various projects could be obtained from the college. Her explanation of the Prof. C. A. Gregory, of the U. of O. next addressed the teachers on the subject of "The Philosophy of Life." As a definition, the speaker gave the following: "Philosophy is an attempt to combine the common experiences of life and the results of scientific investigation into a complete and harmonious world theory." Stoicism says "Keep out all fear and anxiety from your life." Plato said, "Lift up your soul above the drudgery and dust of life." Aristotle said "Organize your life in such a way as to contribute towards the goal for which you are living." The Christian way—"Organize your life in such a way as to look after the interests of others."

Miss Lane gave an interesting talk on the "Hot School Lunch."

In the afternoon, Prof. Reed, of O. A. C., discussed the course of study at it relates to English, in the High School section.

Prof. Mathews, of Willamette University, next talked on "The Art of Questioning," naming five important points, as follows:

1st.—Attention of the class.
2nd.—Method of asking the question.
3rd.—Calling on the student.
4th.—Manner of the teacher.
5th.—How to deal with the answer.

The subject of "Personality" was ably discussed by Prof. Mathews, and Prof. Reed gave an address on "Young America."

This closed the first day of the institute.

Reception.

The teachers of the city schools gave a reception to the out of town teachers in the High School building on Wednesday night. It was a get acquainted meeting and highly enjoyed by all.

Second Day.

The second day of the institute opened with music rendered by the pupils of the 4th and 5th grades under the direction of Miss Sheidler.

Ralph D. Coleman, of O. A. C., then took up the subject of "Physical Training," explaining the work as outlined in the new course of study. Mr. Coleman saw service in the late world war, and could well testify to the value of physical training in youth. He outlined a daily program of exercises sufficient to cover the 20 minutes of time each day allotted to physical training in the course of study.

"The Larger Vision", was the subject of an able address by Prof. Reed. He said the teacher was the hope of America and the teacher was the larger vision is the one who is open minded, receptive of truth, and dispassionate in judgment. His address was greatly appreciated and loudly applauded.

Miss Smith next addressed the primary teachers on the subject of "Primary Reading," in an adjoining room, while Dr. Gregory took up the subject of "Elementary Arithmetic," in the general assembly room. The speaker emphasized the matter of teaching only that part of arithmetic that can be used outside of the school room. "Give pupils the tools with which to make a living in after years, and you will have performed a great service," said the speaker.

The subject of discipline was then taken up by Prof. Mathews, who discussed it at some length. "The way to get good order in the school room," said the speaker, "is to secure a teacher who can keep good order." 15 per cent of the women and 22 per cent of the men teachers fail in discipline. The community expects good order. The teacher must be courteous, sympathetic, understanding and human. The way the teacher behaves, so will the pupils behave. His address was greatly appreciated.

Supt. Churchill then addressed the high school teachers in another room as Miss Smith talked to the primary teachers in the primary room.

Mr. Coleman took the remaining teachers through some drills in physical training and explained more fully the course of study pertaining to this work.

Dr. Gregory next took up the subject of "Results of Educational Tests in Oregon." The speaker stated that too much opinion is being taught and not enough facts. Teach the specific things. Teach that knowledge that is most worth while.

Third Day.

Miss Sheidler again entertained the teachers with music by pupils of the city schools, which was greatly appreciated.

Supt. Churchill was then introduced by Co. Supt. Lamb, and talked at some length, explained the different literature published from his office. Mr. Churchill stated that his office desired to be of the greatest service possible to each teacher in the state. He further explained the Course of Study pertaining to the new school books, outlining in a definite manner how certain subjects should be presented. He urged the teachers to ask the school board in their districts for sets of supplementary readers for use in the schools, so that certain important features of the course of study might be more fully carried out. He gave an explanation for the shortage of school books, that the book publishers in the east were unable to get sufficient help to operate their printing plants on account of serious labor troubles.

In closing his address, Mr. Churchill urged the teachers to do more definite work and not shirk any of the responsibilities falling upon them.

Following the business session, which will be reported later, Mr. Churchill again addressed the teachers on the subject of a teachers' pension or retirement fund. His explanation was very clear and seemed to meet with the approval of the teachers.

Prof. Mathews now appeared for his last time at this institute, and encouraged the teachers to build castles, but built them on the ground. To not only hope, but to do. To be honest, to be pure, to have a sweet disposition toward others. To be a big duck in a big pond if you can, but a little duck in a little pond if you must. His address was greatly appreciated.

Supt. Churchill now met with the High School Teachers, taking up subjects relating to their work. Miss Smith again met with the primary teachers, and Mr. Coleman further explained the course of study pertaining to physical training.

Business Session.

The committee on resolutions now made the following report:

Resolutions:

First—Whereas the American Legion has taken a decisive stand in fostering the best ideals of American citizenship; therefore, be it resolved by the teachers of Tillamook county that they heartily concur in this movement and shall do everything possible to cooperate with the Legion in this effort. Be it further resolved that a copy of this resolution be sent to each post of the American Legion in Tillamook County.

Second—Whereas, there has been much delay in securing text books. Be it resolved that the legislature fix the date for the selection of text books at least one year before the books are placed in the schools.

Third—Whereas, according to Bradstreet, during the last four years the cost of living has increased 119 per cent, while teachers' salaries have increased less than 25 per cent, during the last two years, teachers' salaries have increased 12 per cent and laborers' wages between 60 and 149 per cent. Whereas we believe it to be absolutely essential for the best interests of the schools that teachers be paid an adequate wage. Therefore, be it resolved that we, the members of the Tillamook County Teachers' Association stand for $1000 as a minimum wage for the coming school year.

Fourth—Whereas the problem of housing has become a very serious one for the teachers of this county, and elsewhere; therefore, be it resolved that we sincerely and thor-
