Star Has Excellent Cast in "Rustling

Lila Lee, diminutive Paramount star, has an entirely different role rom that of her proceeding pictures n her latest picture "Rustling a Bride" which will be played at the Gem Theatre next Monday.

Although the public has only seen four of her pictures, she is already one of the most popular stars in the profession. In this, her latest production, Miss Lee portrays the role of a little girl of the West-a typical outdoor girl who is as much at home in a saddle as the modern society bell in

Miss Lee is an expert horsewoman and pronounces this picture one of the most enjoyable she has yet made. An excellent story and the most realistic atmosphere and settings have been provided to make this picture one of the best the star has appeared in. Monte Blue is her leading

GOT MESSAGE FROM LIGHT

Famous Man of Letters Tells of Peculiar Effect Simple Happening Had on Schoolboy.

A friend of mine-an old painter, who went to school in the north of Scotland-described to me his experience. The dominie had one morning been particularly drastic in his methods, and this led to great concentration of thought among the pupils, while at the same time it did not in the least alter the usual current of their ideas. My friend, for instance, busied himself as usual, observing form and color, only with a keener zest and, as I have said, a more concentrated purpose. It was a spring morning, and, for the first time that ject: "Christmas is a Mockery Uuless year, a ray of sunshine came into the room, making a square of yellow light on the dusty floor at his feet. #### More Than a Sign Post.

There was once a detective story written whose point lay in the manner in which a very familiar figure may escape observation. In the tale several persons swore no one had entered a certain building during a certain space of time. Afterward it was proved that the postman had visited the place at his accustomed time, but long habit had rendered him psychologically invisible to the witnesses.

So it is with the familiar figures upon our streets. How many times a day we may pass by the traffic cop, without perhaps realizing that he is something more than an animated sign post, until some act of courtesy awakens us to the fact that a "cop" is simply a man, and a gentleman at that. For, in spite of the many aggravations that must come during a day of directing traffic, most of these officers retain their good temper, and even go out of their way to assist or direct some passer-by.-Omaha World Her-

Water for House Plants.

Water is essential to the life of plants, whether they be in the open ground or in pots, for only in the form of solutions in water can the roots suck up the juices of the earth, and it is the water circulating through the channels of the trunk and branches that permits the exchanges between the leaves and the rest of the vegetable.

Plants in a house should not be watered at regular stated intervals; do the plants out-of-doors receive rain on Tuesdays and Saturdays? They should be watered whenever they need it. This is the only safe rule. And we can tell when they need it by feeling the earth in which they are growing; so long as this feels moist the plants do not need water.
