Presbyterian Church.
Sunday School, 10 a.m. Begin the New Year right, by attending Sunday School.
Morning worship, 11 a.m. Subject "The Divine Christ and his Church." Every member and friend is urged to be present at the Communion Service which will be held at the close of the sermon. All christian people are invited to join with us in this sacred Memorial of our Lord's death.
Evening worship, 7:30 p.m. Subject. "Life's Unrealized Opportunities."
A good New Year's resolution: To show my appreciation of Christ by attending his church. If you are not already a member of some other church, you are more than welcome to share our standard: no whims, no forms, no creeds, but Christ and his kingdom.
Allan A. McRea, Minister.

Methodist Watch Meetings.
Methodist Watch Meeting.
ed by the discipline of the Methodist Episcopal Church, was held in the Tillamook church building on New Year's eve, and was the occasion of much enjoyment and profit to the more than sixty members of the church and school who were present.
The gathering took place at eight o'clock, and the first part of the evening was taken up with games and guessing contests. These were followed by a program as follows:
Recitation Ruth Beals.
Recitation Charles Hopkins.
Duet Vivian Oliver Reberta Campbell.
Recitation Elizabeth McGrath.
Recitation Beatrice Oliver.
Reading Mrs. A. G. Beals.
Reading Mr. Oliver.
Reading Will Hopkins.
Duet ... Mrs. Dawson, Mrs. Edwards.
Numbers, by the orchestra.
Address A. G. Beals.
Then came the refreshments and exchange of greetings among the members, which lasted until about half past eleven, at which time those present joined in the singing of hymns and in prayer, led by the pastor.
At midnight the old church bell changed in the coming of the new year and the gathering after exchanging their new year's greetings and good wishes, was dismissed.

Enormous Importations of Cotton Goods from England.

To those who think that the present is not the time to agitate the tariff we commend the reading of the following item which appeared in the "Foreign Trade News" department of the New York Daily News-Record of October 16th:
"Despite her labor troubles and industrial problems, Great Britain is now shipping enormous stocks of cottons, including voiles, linings, organdies and shirtings, to this country. In giving out information of this character, customs officials are always extremely conservative so that the use of the word 'enormous' as used recently by the customs officials in describing the present importations of foreign made cottons at New York may be taken as an indication that shipments to this country are unusually heavy. Commencing shortly after the signing of the armistice, almost a year ago, cotton goods imports have steadily increased until at the present time they are coming into the country in quantities far exceeding all records.
"Cotton voiles head the list, the shipments of these fabrics from Manchester continuing in increasing volume. Cotton linings are being received here from Bradford, organdies from Manchester and shirtings from Glasgow and Manchester.
"It is reported here that heavy orders have also been placed for Japanese cottons, printed in the piece, and Japanese printed cotton covers. These classes of goods are being received here in large quantities with the outlook for greatly increased importations within the next few months."

It appears as if the present is the time for more than one kind of agitation. Naturally the domestic manufacturers of the classes of goods now being imported in "enormous" quantities will experience some agitation over the loss of that much trade which ought to come to them. It is unquestionably true that increased importations of other lines, of competitive goods will be made, and all to the loss of that much of domestic production, the consequent loss of profit to the manufacturer and the loss in wages to his workmen. It is an endless chain, for the loss of manufacturer's profits and workmen's wages, diminishes the purchasing ability of employer and employes and hence causes loss to the tradesmen.
Hence there is reason for all good Americans to be agitated and ample excuse for them to agitate for an adequate Protective Tariff, which shall give the American market to the American producers.

GERMANS TO SIGN TREATY JANUARY 6.

Versailles Ratifications Will Be Exchanged.

Exchange of ratifications of the treaty at Versailles will take place January 6 at the Quai d'Orsay. Baron von Lesner, head of the German delegation and Paul Dutasta, secretary of the peace conference, settled all points in connection with the signature, except that relating to naval material, which it is expected will be solved shortly.
The Germans will sign the protocol, and at the same time the allies will hand a letter to them agreeing to reduce their demands to 400,000 tons if the total available tonnage has been over-estimated, or Germany is gravely menaced economically. In any case, after the signature the allies will get 242,000 tons of material and the balance based on the report of experts who are now checking up at Danzing, Hamburg and Bremen.

Premier Lloyd George will be present at the ceremony, which will be carried out without any display. Diplomatic relations with Germany will be resumed the following day, when the French charge d'affaires will go to Berlin and French consuls will resume their posts.

Allied troops will proceed on January 12 to the territories which must be evacuated by the Germans or where plebiscites are to be held. It is estimated that 100 trains will be needed for the purpose.

Ellis Loring Dresen, an American member of the peace conference as expert on German affairs, it is understood, will go to Berlin as soon as ratifications are exchanged. He will be accompanied by a staff. This is presumed here to be a temporary expedient until diplomatic relations with the United States are resumed.

The Newspaper Guy.

I see a man pushing his way through the lines
Of cops where the work of the "fire-friends shines.
"The chief"? I inquire—but fireman replies:
"Gee, no, Why, that's one of those newspaper guys."

I see a man walk through the door of a show
Where great throngs are blocked by the signs "S. R. O."
"Is this man the star, that no ticket he buys?"
"Star nothin'". He's, one. of those newspaper guys."

I see a man start on the trail of a crook
And he scorns the police, but brings him to book.
"Sherlock Holmes?" I inquire—some one scornfully cries:
"Sherlock H—, No; he's one of those newspaper guys."

I see a man sit in the seat of the great
And they ask his advice upon matters of state.
"A diplomat, surely." But to my surprise
"They tell me he's one of those newspaper guys."

And some day I'll stand by the gates of gold.
And see a man pass through unquestioned and bold;
"A saint?" I'll ask, and St Peter'll reply:
"No, he's only a plain, honest newspaper guy."
