DISCREPANCIES ABOUND IN GOVERNMENT NEWS.

Administration Fails to Edit Its Propaganda Sheets in Efficient Manner.

Among the "economics" practiced by the present administration is a "Daily Digest of Reconstruction News," gotten out by the Reconstruction Research Division of the Council of National Defense, purporting to give official news of the various Executive Departments. But the dissimilarity of information given out by the various departments would lead an unbiased outsider to imagine either that there was a lack of cooperation and harmony in the Democratic administration or that it is trying to be "all things to all men."

A high school debating society could find authoritative data both to prove and to refute the H. C. L. question in a single issue of this remarkable "official" sheet. For instance, under date of Dec. 22 under "Labor Department," is this interesting statement:

"Bureau of Labor Statistics announces that despite efforts of the government to reduce the cost of living, retail costs of 22 staple food articles showed an average increase of 2 per cent in November as compared with October."

In the "daily digest," on December 23, under "Justice Department" is this item:

"Attorney General Palmer announced, Dec. 22, that the high cost of living has been halted and there is every reason to believe that with the new year definite reductions may be expected."

A telegraphic dispatch of the same date as the above, which corroborates the Bureau of Labor Statistics' statement, says: "New York showed an increase of four per cent in November over October. Average family expenditures for food showed an increase in November, as compared with October, in all but two of 50 cities canvassed. New Orleans and Louisville showing a decrease of five-tenths of one per cent." In the face of this showing there is no need for comment!

E. E. Brodie Withdraws From Secretary of State Race.

Oregon City, Ore., Jan. 10.—E. E. Brodie, publisher of the Morning Enterprise, announced Saturday that he would not be a candidate for the Republican nomination for Secretary of State at the primary election next May.

"My many friends among the news paper editors of the state," said Mr. Brodie to-day, "were the first to propose my name in connection with the office of Secretary of State, and I have already received, without my solicitation, the endorsement and promised support of more than 30 papers throughout the state."

"This, of course, is extremely gratifying and flattering, and I am deeply appreciative of the kind things that have been said about me. This is the first time I have ever been given a prospective candidate for public office, though I have been honored by election and appointment to non-salaried positions in the state, and have been for four years chairman of the Republican central committee for Clackamas county, which gave a plurality of 1015 to the Republican nominee for President four years ago, and a clear majority for Mr. Hughes of 227 over all other candidates for president."

"After long reflection, I cannot separate myself from a profession with which I have been connected since boyhood. The publishing of a newspaper, in my opinion, is of greater dignity and service than holding a public office. The true newspaper man may be tempted by visions of easier tasks and shorter hours, but if he is true to the calling of his own choosing, he will stick and resist the temptation to forsake a legitimate business wherein he should be a leader in influencing public opinion within the radius of his newspaper's circulation."

"The Enterprise was established 54 years ago, and has been published continuously in Oregon City since 1866. Only two newspapers in Oregon are older. My connection with the Enterprise over 15 years, the last 12 years as publisher. We have just purchased and remodeled a building and have the finest newspaper home in the state, outside of Portland. The Morning Enterprise is healthy, its growth and progress have been marked and I expect to continue as its publisher and do my part in making Oregon a better state to live in for many years to come."

"Going Up" or "Going Down," Take a Choice.

In a statement issued by Commissioner of Labor Statistics Meeker on December 23 he declares that the cost of living will not be materially reduced until currency inflation is curtailed. "Until the national debt is reduced," he says, "there will be no noticeable depreciation in prices. Any attempt at great reduction would bring a blow at the whole structure of business and possibly a panic would follow."

Yet Attorney General Palmer is daily assuring the country that "the cost of living is under control," and the Democrats, official and otherwise, are and have been boasting about the financial system they have inaugurated in the federal service which prevents, absolutely and entirely and forever, any such thing as stringency of money or panics in the country!

And, when you read the satisfying big total in the next Treasury Report just remember that enlightening little phrase of Commissioner Meeker—"currency inflation." Paper hasn't much value unless there is good hard gold behind it.

Revival meetings are still in progress, while a good spirit is being manifested, yet if attendance is to be the criterion by which you judge people, we would have to say that saints and sinners of Tillamook are not much interested in their own souls or the souls of others. If so, what an awful mistake people are making, there will be no movies, no pool rooms, billiard halls, dancing rooms, card tables, in hell. What will you give in exchange for your soul? You are invited to attend the meetings.

THE LIFE OF A MAN.

Unknown Philosopher Describes Ups and Downs of Average Journey.

Some unknown philosopher describes the ups and downs of the average man's journey through life, in this fashion:

A man comes into this world with out his consent and goes out of it against his will, and the trip between the two is full of contraries. When he is little the big girls kiss him and when he is grown the little girls kiss him. If he is poor he is a bad manager, if he is rich he is dishonest. If he needs credit he can't get it, if he is rich everyone wants to do him a favor.

If he is in politics he is a grafter, if he is out of politics he's no good to his country. If he gives to charity he wants to "show off," if he doesn't give he is a stingy cuss. If he is actively religious he is classed as a hypocrite, if he takes no interest in religion he is a hardened sinner.

If he gives affection he is a soft one, if he seems to care for nobody he is coldblooded. If he faces danger he is foolhardy, if he doesn't he is a coward. If he dies young there was a great future before him, if he lives to an old age he missed his calling. The road is full of bumps, but man loves to travel it, and he usually gets his money's worth.

A good piano is a lifetime investment, giving lasting satisfaction for your money, whereas a cheap piano goes to pieces in a hurry, in this climate.

You, as a prospective buyer cannot afford to experiment. The policy of this firm for over 45 years has been, "Your moneys worth or your money back." Drop in the Palm Confectionery and hear the new models. Sold on easy monthly payments.
