Answered the Purpose.

The assignment in the English composition class at Scipio was the supplying of the feminine equivalent term when the teacher gave out the masculine term. All was going lovely, duke with the answer duchess, margu and marchioness, but "lord" brought no answer until Johnnie stumbled on to his answer out of his everyday vocabulary—"lordy."

New Use for Photography.

The gas meters in New York are to be read by photograph. Meter readers employed by the gas company will be equipped with small cameras which fit over the indicator on the meter. By pressing a button light is thrown on the dial and exposure made, showing the amount of gas consumed since the last photograph.

Reopening Irish Copper Mines.

The old copper mines of Ardmore, in County Waterford, Ireland, are to start working again. Engineers state that the cliff still possesses rich lodes of copper ore, and the Drumm hills have workable deposits of coal. It is proposed to start work at once with 300 men.

Easy for Papa.

Little Joe's father had died and after the funeral Joe called his mother and asked: "Mamma, where is daddy?" "In heaven, dear," his mamma replied. Joe exclaimed: "Oh, gee, ain't that nice; he can see all the ball games free."—Chicago American.

HOME TOWN HELPS

FATAL LACK OF ENTERPRISE

Some Communities Seem to Forget How Vital Are Business Enterprises to City's Growth.

Contrast the intelligent employment or present opportunities in certain communities with the lack-of-plan situation in most cities.

Contrast it, if you will, with the attitude of an Indiana city which found not long ago, that one chief industry of the community, a glass factory, would likely move because the supply of natural gas, which had attracted the factory in the first place, was about to fail.

In the gas-boom days the community had sunk gas wells and had invited this factory to come. But the old spirit soon died, and no effort was made to get additional gas or the additional factories which would have resulted.

And when the glass manufacturer found the supply failing, two or three years ago, he appeared to be about the only person in the community who was particularly concerned. There was some vagrant talk of the possibility of finding some additional natural gas. But nothing was done about it until the manufacturer himself decided that rather than move his home, he would take a chance on a new well. He found gas and is still there, though not through the enterprise of the city, which would apparently have allowed him to move rather than bestir itself.

And even now there is no movement for sinking additional wells, though this experience indicates that such wells might reasonably be expected to pay.—From The Nation's Business.

WALKS OF MUCH IMPORTANCE

No Greater Mistake Than Neglecting Attention to the Needed Pathways Between Buildings.

Walks between buildings add a good deal to the ease and comfort with which the chores can be done, and reduce the amount of dirt that is carried into the house. Concrete is one of the best materials for making walks, and when they are properly made the construction is permanent, says the state college of agriculture at Ithaca, N. Y.

In making the walks it is wise to excavate from 8 to 10 inches and fill in with from 4 to 6 inches of cinders or similar material, well tamped to make a good base. On top of this place 3 1/2 inches of concrete tamped in place and a top coat of 1/2 inch of cement mixed in the proportions of one part of cement to two of sand. The gravel for concrete should be well graded in sizes from 1/4 inch to 1 inch, and for this material the proportions may well be one part cement, three of sand and six of gravel. Poorer materials should have a richer mixture. The top coat should be troweled to drive it into the concrete base but not necessarily to make it smooth.

A rough-surface walk may be advisable, in which case a little finer gravel may be used in the concrete and the full four inches made of this material.

Diseased Trees.

Owners of elm and maple trees who find some reddish or light-colored bunches on the leaves will have to rest as easily as possible for a while, says C. L. Fluke, entomologist at the Wisconsin experiment station, for no local measures for this particular trouble have yet been found. The bunches are galls caused by small insects which look like tiny spiders. They live within the galls and thus cannot be reached by sprays. Undoubtedly there is some point in the life history of the insect where control measures can be used, says Mr. Fluke, but so far there has not been much study of these insects and this point has not been found. The injury to the elms is in the form of small, light-colored globular bunches. The galls on the maple leaf are red or black, and there are sometimes as many as a hundred on one leaf. Maples are also subject to blister galls, caused by the larvae of the flies called gall midges. These galls are in the form of spots having a green center surrounded by rings of yellow and deep red.

Looking to Business Future.

A manufacturer who finds that there is a market for a certain product does not abandon that and turn to something which his facilities are not capable of making. He multiplies the product for the manufacture of which he has equipped himself. By the same token, the business man who is interested in community development needs to look about him, analyze what he sees, and while undertaking the improvement and further promotion and enlargement of present factories, seek new ones in the same or in a similar line, if it appears that there is room for them—and there usually is.—Exchange.

She Was Optimistic.

"My dear," moaned the patient, as he tossed restlessly on his bed, "it's the doctor I'm thinking of. His bill will be terrible."

"Never mind, Joseph," said his wife, consolingly. "You know there's the insurance man."
