THE impression has gone out that it costs ten (10) per cent to give credit service in our line of business. This is a gross error. The real facts are that it costs a very little over one per cent (1 per cent) if any. Is it not worth thirty to thirty-five cents a month to you for the convenience of credit service.

"Hotel De Bovine."

There are barns that are "just barns," dejected sagging shelters for "just plain cows." And then there are buildings known as "barns," but in reality are ultramodern delux residences, affording every luxury and comfort to haughty pedigreed animals.

On the property formerly called the Mark Harrison place, Mr. Fred H. Beals has erected one of the latter species, 38x109 feet square, hord type of gambrel-roof construction. The barn is three stories in height, and is equipped with cement floors, cement sidewalls, cement stalls, Babcock milk testers, and Louden stanchions. A commendable feature is the cork brick platform, which is much warmer than wood. On the first floor, Mr. Beals' forty head of pure bred Holsteins are housed in box stalls; on the second floor is found an office, machinery and granary; the third floor is utilized for hay storage. The entire building has been constructed with a view to sanitation, the King ventilating system being the course of installation. Mr. Beals is justified in spending approximately seven thousand dollars on this barn, in consideration of his money-making thoroughbred herd, which includes Hollywood Segis Lilith, bought at the Portland Exposition, who as a junior three year old gave 560 lbs. of milk in a week, from which was made 29.5 lbs. butter. Among Mr. Beals' recent numerous sales, was the shipping of Burton Hertog De Kol Ormsby, a young calf, to Frank Petersen, Elmo, Wash., for $275.

Ethel Clayton's New Photoplay,
"Men, Women and Money."

One need not spend much time studying the motif of a motion picture story when it has a comprehensive title. This is the case with "Men, Women and Money." Ethel Clayton's new Paramount starring vehicle, which will be displayed at the Gem Theatre next Monday, February 15. The story concerns a young and unsophisticated girl of the Middle West who becomes initiated into the ways of the smart set and from then on is a slave to that kind of life until she is finally awakened and finds that beneath the glitter and glamor of society lies a dark current which sooner or later penetrates to the outer surface and engulfs its victim. With all her money gone, the heroine performs honest labor to pay back her gambling debts and those contracted for gowns at Madame Ribout's. She awakens the love and admiration of Cleveland Buchanan, a wealthy idler, who also starts in to make his life more useful by helping unfortunate men and women.

Miss Clayton is afforded an excellent opportunity to display her emotional talents as the picture abounds with highly dramatic situations.

Mitchell Lewis in "The Last of His People."

Mitchell Lewis, star of so many thrilling dramas of the woods, hills and plains, will be seen in another thrilling story of the great Northwest when his latest Select picture, "The Last of His People" come to the Gem Theatre next Sunday.

In "The Last of His People" Mitchell Lewis is presented as Lone Wolf, an Indian, the last of his tribe, who, with his young sister Na-ta-le, is adopted and reared by a embittered white man who has cast himself to a life of isolation in the forests of the Northwest.

Here the Indian children are reared and taught the ways and manners of the whites and when a party of gay New Yorkers journey to their land on a hunting trip, there begins a drama so unusual and intricate that the result is left in doubt until the last moment.

The Women's Relief Corps.

The Woman's Relief Corps met in regular session on February 6th. Mrs. Minnie Johnson, of whom the members are justly proud as she is putting forth every effort to make the organization a success, called the meeting to order. There was a large attendance.

Mr. Spear gave a very interesting address. He advocated urging Senators Chamberlain and McNary to active work in behalf of the Fuller bill, which insures the pensioning of Civil War Veterans, their widows and dependents. This measure was unanimously endorsed.

Guernsey Breeders Meeting.

The regular monthly meeting of the Tillamook County Guernsey Club will be held Tuesday, Feb. 17th at 1 p.m., at the corner house. There is considerable business to be transacted and a full attendance of all interested in the breed is desired.

"The Winning Stroke."

Coming to the Gem Theatre next Saturday is "The Winning Stroke," a photoplay with George Walsh, the William Fox star of dashing, dare-devil romances. This drama is said to mark a motion picture epoch, as it is the first big film dealing with the life of a great American university in which scenes were made "on the spot." George Walsh, as the stroke-car of the Yale Crew, is involved in a game of love and intrigue that demands the sort of acting for which Walsh is noted. The picture shows actual scenes of the Yale-Harvard rivalry race and many typical college life incidents were filmed on and about the Yale campus by special concession of the faculty.

NEHALEM NOTES.

Miss L. Stanton, of the Boys' and Girls' Aid Society, of Portland, was in the city Monday, in the interest of the society.

The family of Walter Cain has been on the sick list for the past week, but is now improving.

William Fisher and wife will leave this week for their home in Eastern Oregon. Mr. and Mrs. Fisher have made many friends during their stay in this vicinity.

The public school will celebrate Arbor day in fitting manner. Mrs. D. C. Perego entertained the Lutheran Ladies' Grace Society last Thursday, February 5th. A large crowd attended, all reporting a good time.

Mrs. Gage, primary teacher of the Nehalem public school, left for her home in McMinville last Friday, on account of sickness.

Mr. Otto Effenberger and Mr. H. J. Hickerson motored to Tillamook last Monday to transact business.

Mr. and Mrs. Sid Smith, accompanied by the Misses Alice Steel and Vivian Tohi motored to Rockaway last Sunday. They reported a good time.

Mrs. Martha Howe and son Gordon and Mrs. Emma Spongel left for their home in Port Orchard, Wash., where they have been spending the last few weeks in Nehalem.

Mrs. Hattie Smith is the substitute primary teacher of the public school during Mrs. Gage's absence.

Ode to the Tillamook Flyer
By Wanhoo Noze,
As sure as the tide swells and ebbs,
Sure as the Elmore's owned by Krebs
Sure as the income tax and death,
Sure as man can't live without
breath,
Sure as spring rain, and love and
fate,
Our daily train is two hours late.

Before—and After
(By M. L. D.)
During innocent bachelorhood,
I read in popular fiction
Of ladies had and ladies good,
And formed this pleasant conviction:
No matter what their morals were,
They all slept in boudoirs charming.
Midst bowls of roses, rugs of fur,
In gowns of sheerness alarming!
They rang (soft curts in disarray
'Bout daintily health flushed faces)
For scented bath and breakfast tray,
Robes flounced with gossamer
laces.

I'm married now—and I wonder
How scribes make a living on bluff;
I'd like to know who in thunder
Falls for that pink lingerie stuff.
Authors, will you please tell me this
Why do you neglect to mention,
Curl-papered head and blissless kiss
Domestic bones of contention,
The shiny nose with "Youth-Glow"
creamed,
(You know movie stars endorse it)
The headache pill, the dirty seamed
Knotty-laced, safety-pinned corset?

"The Flu."
"When your back is broke and your
eyes are blurred,
And your shin bones knock and
your tongue is furred;
And your tonsils squeak and your
hair gets dry,
And you're dog gone sure that
you're going to die;
But you're skored you won't and
afraid you will,
Just draw to bed and have your
chill,
And pray the Lord to see you thru,
For you've got the Flu, boy,
You've got the Flu.
When your toes curl up, and your
your belt goes flat,
And you're twice as mean as a
Thomas cat,
And life is a long and dismal curse,
And your food all tastes like a
hard boiled hearse,
When your lattice aches and your
head's a buzz,
And nothing is as it ever was,
Here are my sad regrets to you,
You've got the Flu, boy,
You've got the Flu.
What is it like, this Spanish Flu?
Ask me, brother, for I've been
thru,
It is by misery, out of despair;
It pulls your teeth and curts
your hair,
It thins your blood and brays your
bones,
And fills your craw with moans
and groans,
And sometimes, maybe you get well,
Some call it Flu—I call it H—!"
