POETRY THAT ISN'T.

No Joke.
Some fellows stay right in the rut,
While others head the throng;
All men may be equal, but
They don't stay that way long.

Please Pass The Pie.
News item: The New York prohibition officer, has ruled that alcohol can be used in mince pies and wine sauce on puddings.
It may give us digestion.
It may irritate the dries;
We still can stick
A little kick
In puddings and mince pies.

Mary's Cold.
Mary had a little cold.
That started in her head.
And everywhere that Mary went
That cold was sure to spread.
It followed her to school one day
(There wasn't any rule);
It made the children cough and sneeze.
To have that cold at school.
The teacher tried to drive it out;
She tried hard, but kerchoo!
It didn't do a bit of good.
For teacher caught it too.

Innocent Desuetude.
(Carvet's)
The frost is on the Kaiserland his nerves have had a shock—
No medals on his bosom and no crown
upon his block.
A quiet nook in Holland not a trifle
like Berlin—
A tickling sensation underneath his ugly skin—
His wakeful hours are idle and his dreams devoid of hope—
Nightmares turn his submarines to coils of endless rope.
No booming sound of cannon now
doth greet his anxious ear;
His eye is dull and fishy, while his heart is filled with fear.
No longer gradually wading through
seas of human blood,
He thinks I hear him murmuring,
"Alas, my name is mud."
Full oft' he pounds the table, with
many a husky slam,
And snorts, "I stood no nonsense
from dot old Uncle Sam."
In clammy, death-like silence; they see him come and go!
In his reflective moments he can hear
his mustache grow.
So the frost is on the Kaiser and unhappy is his lot.
Looks as if he had dissolved his partnership mit Gott.

Potatoes are High.
Twinkle, twinkle, little spud,
As among the clouds you scud;
You are doubtless feeling gay,
Chasing 'round the Milky Way.
You have reached to such a height,
You are surely "out of sight."
Like a diamond now you seem
in your price, and that's no dream!
Twinkle on another twink,
But you'll drive us all to drink
As we chase the needful chink!
You are sailing rather high,
As you wink your shriveled eye
Up there somewhere in the sky.
Little tuber, on my word,
As a flyer, you're a bird.
Spud so mighty, though so small,
You'll make diggers of us all.
Farmers dig you with hoe,
While we have to dig for "doug."
If you keep on I'll be bound,
You'll bring bullion, pound for pound.
You'll fulfill the adage old,
That you're worth your weight in gold.

Tuber, since the coop you flew,
We have vainly longed for you.
That our firesides you forsook
Breaks our heart and pocket book!
Ne'er felt we how we could love,
'Till you left and went above;
Ne'er felt we how dear you were
'Till we paid five dollars per.
Small potato, please come back,
In our lives there's such a lack!
For your presence we so pine
That our stomach hits our spine!
We are tired of eating greens,
Prunes, alfalfa, kraut and beans.
'Tis alone for you to yearn:
Darling tuber, please return.

Professional Sugar Economists.
(In Economist.)
"Birds of a feather flock together" is an adage all have heard.
This rule applies to mortal man, as well as to the birds.
Woodrow a professor was, ere the White House he did reach,
'Twas natural his advisers he would choose from those who present
Professional economy, and all such kindred themes,
For Woodrow revels in Ideals, and 'highfalutin' dreams.
His advisers were to tell when to expend or retrench,
He chose them regardless of their lack of business sense.
We have a case in mind, as these few lines we scratch,
It will suffice that we allude to one among the batch,
And we are sure all will agree it would be hard to beat,
Professor Taussig's "bum" advice
'bout sugar that we eat.
The Prof. he told the President, that it would be unsound,
To buy up Cuban sugar at so-and-so per pound.
Woodrow lent a willing ear and let the chance go by,
And now when buying sugar, we raise a "hue and cry."
Five hundred million is the sum we're paying for advice (?)
Of a Professional Economist. "Gee Wiz" but ain't that nice?
