PAID FOR HIS FUN

Prank of Baby Elephant Brought Retribution.

Her Patience Exhausted, Mother Administered a Spanking That Brought Tears in Bucketfuls From Her Offspring.

In a recent exchange it is stated that elephants are amazingly like human beings in the way they discipline their young. The following amusing incident was seen by a traveler in an extensive lumber yard in Burma.

While the adult elephants were faithfully at work the youngsters played about the yard. The elephant that attracted the traveler's particular attention was hauling, in her chain harness, a huge tree trunk from the bank of the river.

She had a heavy load, a fact that her offspring did not realize. Bent on playing a prank, he wound his little trunk about one of the chain traces and pulled back with all his strength.

Conscious of the suddenly increased weight, the mother looked around. She saw the youngster and shook her head solemnly, but paying no further heed to his teasing, bent again to her work.
Meanwhile the little rascal, with his mischievous trunk had loosened the ring that fastened the traces to the load.

While the mother was straining to get her burden in motion again, her rascally son pulled so sturdily that she was quite unaware that she had been disconnected from her load. Then suddenly the youngster let go. Naturally enough, the mother was thrown to her knees and her driver hurled in a wide circle from her back.

The culprit sought a huge woodpile that seemed to offer him at least a temporary protection. His mother, however, was soon in pursuit, and he had to flee. Round and round the woodpile he dodged, but his mother, with her iron harness clanking noisily behind her, kept close at his heels.

Although the little one's greater agility gained some space for him at the corners, his mother eventually overtook him. The first blow of her trunk drew from him a bawl of pain. At the second he sank, quite humbled to his knees; and then he endured without a murmur, although with many tears, a sound thrashing. Finally the mother let him up. With tears still streaming and with drooping trunk he took his disconsolate way out of the yard.

The little fellow had won the complete sympathy of the observer. Consequently he was overjoyed to witness during the noon hour a touching reconciliation. The mother did all she could to comfort the penitent little sinner; she caressed him with her trunk, cuddled him up against her, and looked at him as if to say: "You still have a mother who loves you."

He Was Starting Young.
"You fill the pails with sand, and let me turn them out," suggested six-year-old Jack to little Doris as they played on the beach.

His playmate obediently complied.
"Now we'll build a castle, and you shall fetch the water to go round it," exclaimed Jack.

Dutifully the little maid struggled up and down the beach, carrying buckets of water.

"Can't you fetch the water now, Jack," she suggested, "and let me pour it round?"

"Girls can't do that properly," answered the boy. "Let's paddle. But, I say, Doris, do you want to marry me when you grow up?"

"Yes—oh, yes!" Doris was delighted at the prospect.

The boy, however, assumed a bored air, and lazily extended his feet toward her.

"Very well then," he said nonchalantly. "If you're going to be my wife, take off my shoes and stockings!"—

Early "Domestic Problem." The one hundred and twenty-fifth anniversary of the Massachusetts Charitable Fire society, recently observed in Boston, looks back to a time in that city when it was considered desirable that "servants be obliged to go to bed before the householder, and not be permitted to carry a lighted candle to a bedroom in the garret." The recommendation was made at one of the society's earliest meetings, but seems not to have been carried into effect; one may imagine that even so far back there was a "domestic service problem" and servant's objection to this proposed early and dark retirement operative in defeating it.

His Conclusive Way.
"Really, Mr. Gloom, you must be mistaken," maddly interrupted the other man in the argument.

"Mistaken!" thundered J. Fuller Gloom. "Those are not my views, merely, but the mature deductions of Ellsworth Ethelbert Hornbostle, A. M., Ph. D."

"Then, very likely I am wrong.
Thank you for correcting me."
"Pardon us," said we, after the departure of the discomfited critic, "but who is Ellsworth Ethelbert Hornbostle, A. M., Ph. D.?"

"How the devil do I know?" was the snarling reply. "I invented the name on the spur of the moment. Am I supposed to concoct an entire life history for the myth, too?"—Kansas City Star.
